Roof Collapse Fatal To 3, 90 Workers Buried In Mass

20 Injured, One Missing In Mishap

MONTREAL (UPI) — The almost completed roof of a factory extension collapsed Friday burying some 90 construction workers in a tangle of steel girders and wet cement. At least three men were killed, one was missing and 20 others were injured, some seriously, police said.

The collapse took place in a one story extension of the plant owned by the surgical equipment manufacturing firm of Johnson and Johnson. Construction work on the 150 foot long addition was originally scheduled to be completed Friday night.

The majority of the workers scrambled or were dragged to safety but others had to be freed from the tangled steel girders, concrete and wooden forms by rescue workers using acetylene torches.

STORM

The collapse occurred during a windstorm that had gusts up to 45 miles per hour.

Witnesses said the collapse of the structure sounded like a "thunderclod" while others said it sounded like a "hurricane."

The twisted mass of steel girders, supporting rods and other construction equipment was strewn over a half block area.

Rescue workers used axes, shovels, torches and their bare hands to rescue the men wallowing in several feet of wet concrete.

The exact cause of the collapse could not be immediately determined and a spokesman for the two construction firms involved in the project would not comment until a further check.

A company spokesman said an investigation would be launched immediately.

Every available policeman in the area rushed to the scene to

OREN HARRIS DECLARES

Laws Needed To Assure TV Shows' Honesty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) turning off a House investigation of quiz show rigging, said Friday Congress should pass new laws to assure program honesty and take a hard look at other channels of television activity.

"Millions of Americans have been tricked, deceived and duped by what was nothing more than a sordid commercial scheme," Harris said in closing his House Commerce subcommittee's hearings on the quizzes.

He has heard enough about this type of rigging, Harris said, but recently developed leads indicate other video practices require investigation.

"And we intend to give them such scrutiny," Harris said.

RECESS

The subcommittee recessed until next month after hearing Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, say there is always the danger of connivance in high-stake quiz shows.

Stanton said CBS is ready to help formulate new legislation aimed at deceit. But he repeatedly opposed any action resembling censorship.

"We believe that legislation is no cure-all for these ills and that the primary responsibility lies with the broadcasting industry itself," he said.

"CBS is moving forward in that conviction," Stanton said after announcing his network will issue general rules to assure that its TV programs are exactly what they appear to be.

Stanton defended his course of action at the time rumors of quiz show fixing first became current last year, although he conceded that "with benefit of hindsight, it is now clear that I should have gone further."

"I was completely unaware until Aug. 8, 1958," he said, "of any irregularity in the quiz shows of our network." On that date, Stanton continued, explicit charges of fixing on one independently produced program were brought to his attention.

"Sufficient supporting evidence was found within a week," he continued, "and the program was thrown off the air. Within six months, we had moved against three other quiz shows."

Harris did not say just what other areas his investigators would explore. While watching the quiz scandals unfold, they have also

France's Idea Ups Pressure In UN Meet

French Firm On Bomb Test In Sahara

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Pressure mounted in the U. N. Friday against plans of France to test an atomic bomb in the Sahara. The French gave no sign of yielding to it.

Of the three atomic powers, the United States and the Soviet Union have remained uncommitted on the French plans: Britain supports France's technical claim that its blast would have only a negligible effect on Africans living near the test site. The three atomic powers now are bound by a loosely agreed ban on weapons testing, but France is not included.

India, Tunisia and Yugoslavia joined those who spoke earlier in the General Assembly's 82-nation Political Committee and assailed France's efforts to join the so-called Big Three nuclear club.

SMALL

"No matter how small the bomb is, it is a step backwards," said Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon. "It was only a small bomb (at Hiroshima) that started all this trouble—this chain leading to bigger bombs."

Ambassador Taieb Slim of Tunisia stressed the concern already voiced by other countries in Africa—they are afraid the test will dump radioactive fallout on their territory.

Slim told the committee that France might better enhance its drive for international prestige by concentrating on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Other arguments that have been directed at the French:

1. The test will damage the chances for success of the U.S.-British-Soviet atomic test ban negotiations at Geneva. The French insist that these talks are based on an artificial monopoly of the

Castro Clan Sets Seizure Of Big Ranch

Move Plotted Under Agrarian Reform Plans

HAVANA (UPI) Fidel Castro's government plans to seize almost all of the rich 35,000-acre King Ranch in Camaguey under its agrarian reform program, a spokesman for the American - operated cattle spread said Friday.

The spokesman for the ranch, which is affiliated with the vast King Ranch in Texas, said officials of the operating company were ordered to appear Saturday before the National Institute of Agrarian Reform which already has seized some 65,000 acres of choice cattle land and livestock. The spokesman said the owners would be allowed to keep 1,600 acres.

VALUE

The King Ranch, reputedly the largest in Cuba, is valued at $3,500,000, including a 7,000 - head herd of King-bred Santa Gertrudis cattle valued at $1,500,000. Some of the ranch stock is held by Cubans.

The ranch probably would be permitted to retain its 7,000-head herd. However, ranch officials said they faced a forced sale of the prize Santa Gertrudis breeding herd. They said it was impossible to maintain 7,000 head of cattle on the 1,600 acres the Cuban government said it "could keep" out of the ranch's total 35,000 acres.

King Ranch management said the whole herd would have to be "dumped" in Cuba.

They protested the re-payment for the seized land in the form of agrarian reform bonds maturing in 20 years.

Gremillion Hits NAACP As 'Ghost'

VIDALIA, La. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion said Friday the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People operates a ghost organization to supersede state law.

Gremillion was asked for comment on a three-judge federal court's plans to hear arguments challenging the constitutionality of a Louisiana law requiring all organizations to register and file a list of members annually with the Secretary of State.

The federal court will hear argument in the case filed by the NAACP Nov. 13.

Gremillion said he will argue the state's case, assisted by first Asst. Atty. Gen. George Ponder and assistants M. E. Culivan and Bill Schuler.

LAW

The state law under question also provides that registering organizations must file affidavits that none of the members have been cited by the House Un-American Activities Committee or the Attorney General of the United States as Communists or members of Communist-front organizations.

"The NAACP holds itself greater than the law," Gremillion said. "It is not even chartered in this state and operates as a ghost organization.

"The NAACP pays no taxes, no fees and does not contribute one penny or any cooperative effort to the state government to finance the many benefits the people of

West Monroe's Drive Efforts Bring Praise

West Monroe was complimented Friday by James Moore, United Givers fund drive chairman, "for their efforts in the United Fund Drive."

Moore said he wanted to "compliment very highly the efforts and hard work being put forward by West Monroe campaign chairman A. T. "Buddy" Harrelson and his West Monroe workers, responsible for an increase today toward the goal. Some $3,500 was turned in by several West Monroe divisions."

The drive total was swelled to $184,727.37. Goal is $225,919.72.

The West Monroe Police Department was noted as being 100 per cent on the employee payroll deduction plan.

Moore said, "West Monroe has already exceeded the amount of money they raised last year and there are still many cards not yet turned in."

He pointed out that the Givers drive is still $40,000 away from the goal and said that it will "take concentrated effort on everybody's part," during the remainder of the drive to reach the hoped-for figure.

Moore said he is "not pessimistic but not optimistic." He added that an all-out effort is needed to end the drive next week.

Civil Service Group Calls For Probe

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The State Civil Service Commission Friday called for an investigation of the Orleans Parish Registrar of Voters' personnel practices after two former employees were accused of political activities.

The commission declined to penalize Mrs. Eledia C. Johnson and Joseph A. Monteverde and asked the director of personnel to report on their cases.

Mrs. Johnson and Monteverde were recorded as classified employes on leave of absence without pay from the registrar's office. They sought election as members of the Parish Democratic Executive Committee.

They were charged with violating the political activity restrictions of the civil service amendment. Both admitted under oath they were candidates but denied they were classified employes. They said they believed their employment was ended.

PARKER LYNCHING

Federal Jury May Hear Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robert Hauberg indicated Friday the government will speed the Mack Charles Parker lynch case to a federal grand jury.

Hauberg said he expected to begin a study of the FBI's report on the case at once and a decision may be made next week whether to reconvene the present grand jury, now in recess, or call another.

The government action came five hours after a state grand jury declined to act in the death of Parker, 23-year-old Lumberton Negro pulled from his Poplarville jail cell April 25 and shot to death by hooded night riders. He was being held for trial on charge of raping a white woman.

INVITED

Gov. J. P. Coleman, who invited the FBI into the investigation the day of the killing, declined comment on the Pearl River County Grand Jury decision, or on the federal re-entry into the case.

Gov.-elect Ross Barnett, who will take office Jan. 19, said he "understood federal agents had said no federal law had been violated" because the lynchers "never did cross the state line."

State officials have no power over the grand jury in Mississippi.

Hauberg told the Associated Press Friday he had never read the 378-page report of the FBI's month-long investigation into Parker's death.

Faubus Gives Answer To Board Member

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Friday piecemeal integration of Little Rock's public schools would wreck them just as much as sudden and total racial mixing.

It was his answer to a school board member, Russel Matson Jr., who said recently Little Rock could expect more classroom integration in meeting a federal court mandate.

Eight Negroes were integrated in once-white Central and Hall high schools this fall. Little Rock's four high schools were closed by Faubus last year to stop integration.

"Remember, I said you couldn't stop this integration once it started." Faubus said at a news conference. "We all know that if you could stop it with token integration the situation could be well handled."

Faubus said the integration problem was just beginning, adding that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People won't let it stop.

"After the schools are totally integrated comes everything else—housing, private business," he added.

Adoption Try Withdrawn By N.J. Lawyer

SOMERVILLE, N. J. (AP) — Somerset County Court Judge Samuel Chiaravalli said Friday the petition of an 83-year-old widow to adopt a 45-year-old man has been withdrawn by her attorney.

Chiaravalli received a letter from the lawyer, Harry P. Beldon, last Wednesday which stated both parties have concluded it would be wise at this time to withdraw the petition.

The petition for adoption was filed by Beldon for Hannie S. Moore of Basking Ridge and John P. Szenirpunos Jr., a roomer at her home.

The judge said he would have denied the adoption for several reasons, but did not specify them.

Mrs. Moore said previously she wanted to adopt Szenirpunos because she is alone in the world and wants company. She said he had been "a son in every sense of the word."

WIFE IN BOTH PORTS

Steward Charged On Bigamy Count

LONDON (AP)—Ship's steward Joe Harden had all the comforts of home on both ends of the South American run—a wife in London, a wife in Buenos Aires.

When his ship docked in a London mist, the English wife, Rose, had his slippers waiting by the fire. When he went ashore in Buenos Aires, Rita Catalina Montiveros—Senora Harden to the neighbors—cooked him exotic local dishes such as he never tasted in an English kitchen.

Supporting two households and two wives was naturally expensive. But for a 48-year-old steward it was an idyllic situation turned sour only when a letter from the Argentinian wife was intercepted by the English wife.

Within the forbidding walls of the Old Bailey Courthouse Friday, the story of Joe's colorful romance was unfolded.

His breezy manner a little subdued, Joe stood in the dock on a bigamy charge.

"Harden was married in England in 1932," said the prosecutor, Mervyn Griffith-Jones. "In 1953, he met a Miss Rita Catalina Montiveros in Buenos Aires, courted her and told her he was single.

"He was never intimate with her on account of her religion. But in July 1958, he went through a form of marriage with her. From then on, they lived as man and wife when he was in South America and he continued to live

MAROONED IN BATON ROUGE

Public Gives Help To Stricken Crew

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The courts, medical officials and volunteer food donors Friday helped ease the distress of the marooned Green crew of the freighter Pacific Conqueror.

The crew of the 35 became marooned Oct. 15 tied up in the Mississippi River here. The ship's owners apparently ran into financial difficulties and left the crew without pay and short of food and water.

A newspaper story told of the crew's plight and a spontaneous "operation helpmate" was set off.

U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright signed an order authorizing Capt. Miliadis Kypiadis to buy up to $1,000 worth of food and supplies for the hungry crewmen through Nov. 18.

Two physicians — Dr. Chaille Stovall and Chester Williams — went aboard the ship and treated three ill men and attended others needing it.

Scores of citizens and organizations volunteered gifts of money, goods, cigarettes and other items although there was no official appeal.

Judge Wright ordered that funds for the crew's care be taken from proceeds from sale of the vessel if she is sold.

Several creditors have liens against the owners of the ship and were trying to seize it. They claimed the owners, World Tramp Agencies, Inc., owed them money.

Drs. Stovall and Williams are president and vice president of

PARKER LYNCHING

Federal Jury May Hear Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robert Hauberg indicated Friday the government will speed the Mack Charles Parker lynch case to a federal grand jury.

Hauberg said he expected to begin a study of the FBI's report on the case at once and a decision may be made next week whether to reconvene the present grand jury, now in recess, or call another.

The government action came five hours after a state grand jury declined to act in the death of Parker, 23-year-old Lumberton Negro pulled from his Poplarville jail cell April 25 and shot to death by hooded night riders. He was being held for trial on charge of raping a white woman.

INVITED

Gov. J. P. Coleman, who invited the FBI into the investigation the day of the killing, declined comment on the Pearl River County Grand Jury decision, or on the federal re-entry into the case.

Gov.-elect Ross Barnett, who will take office Jan. 19, said he "understood federal agents had said no federal law had been violated" because the lynchers "never did cross the state line."

State officials have no power over the grand jury in Mississippi.

Hauberg told the Associated Press Friday he had never read the 378-page report of the FBI's month-long investigation into Parker's death.

Faubus Gives Answer To Board Member

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Friday piecemeal integration of Little Rock's public schools would wreck them just as much as sudden and total racial mixing.

It was his answer to a school board member, Russel Matson Jr. who said recently Little Rock could expect more classroom integration in meeting a federal court mandate.

Eight Negroes were integrated in once-white Central and Hall high schools this fall. Little Rock's four high schools were closed by Faubus last year to stop integration.

"Remember, I said you couldn't stop this integration once it started," Faubus said at a news conference. "We all know that if you could stop it with token integration the situation could be well handled."

PROBLEM

Faubus said the integration problem was just beginning, adding that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People won't let it stop.

"After the schools are totally integrated comes everything else—housing, private business," he added.

Faubus also referred to speeches

Adoption Try Withdrawn By N.J. Lawyer

SOMERVILLE, N. J. (AP) — Somerset County Court Judge Samuel Chiaravalli said Friday the petition of an 83-year-old widow to adopt a 45-year-old man has been withdrawn by her attorney.

Chiaravalli received a letter from the lawyer, Harry P. Beldon, last Wednesday which stated both parties have concluded it would be wise at this time to withdraw the petition.

The petition for adoption was filed by Beldon for Hannie S. Moore of Basking Ridge and John P. Szenirpunos Jr., a roomer at her home.

The judge said he would have denied the adoption for several reasons, but did not specify them.

Mrs. Moore said previously she wanted to adopt Szenirpunos because she is alone in the world and wants company. She said he had been "a son in every sense of the word."

WIFE IN BOTH PORTS

Steward Charged On Bigamy Count

LONDON (AP)—Ship's steward Joe Harden had all the comforts of home on both ends of the South American run—a wife in London, a wife in Buenos Aires.

When his ship docked in a London mist, the English wife, Rose, had his slippers waiting by the fire. When he went ashore in Buenos Aires, Rita Catalina Montiveros—Senora Harden to the neighbors—cooked him exotic local dishes such as he never tasted in an English kitchen.

Supporting two households and two wives was naturally expensive. But for a 48-year-old steward it was an idyllic situation turned sour only when a letter from the Argentinian wife was intercepted by the English wife.

Within the forbidding walls of the Old Bailey Courthouse Friday, the story of Joe's colorful romance was unfolded.

His breezy manner a little subdued, Joe stood in the dock on a bigamy charge.

"Harden was married in England in 1932," said the prosecutor, Mervyn Griffith-Jones. "In 1953, he met a Miss Rita Catalina Montiveros in Buenos Aires, courted her and told her he was single.

"He was never intimate with her on account of her religion. But in July 1958, he went through a form of marriage with her. From then on, they lived as man and wife when he was in South America and he continued to live

Snark Missile On Test Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Snark guided missile steering itself by the stars, was launched on an intercontinental range test flight today.

The 69-foot missile darted from its pad, successfully dropped its two booster rockets, and vanished in an overcast sky. It was aimed at a watery target off Ascension Island, 5,000 miles away.

The last Snark tested here, on Sept. 25, crashed in flames when one of the boosters failed. That ended a long string of Snark successes.

MAROONED IN BATON ROUGE

Public Gives Help To Stricken Crew

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The courts, medical officials and volunteer food donors Friday helped ease the distress of the marooned Green crew of the freighter Pacific Conqueror.

The crew of the 35 became marooned Oct. 15 tied up in the Mississippi River here. The ship's owners apparently ran into financial difficulties and left the crew without pay and short of food and water.

A newspaper story told of the crew's plight and a spontaneous "operation helpmate" was set off.

U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright signed an order authorizing Capt. Miliadis Kypiadis to buy up to $1,000 worth of food and supplies for the hungry crewmen through Nov. 18.

Two physicians — Dr. Chaille Stovall and Chester Williams — went aboard the ship and treated three ill men and attended others needing it.

Scores of citizens and organizations volunteered gifts of money, goods, cigarettes and other items although there was no official appeal.

Judge Wright ordered that funds for the crew's care be taken from proceeds from sale of the vessel if she is sold.

Several creditors have liens against the owners of the ship and were trying to seize it. They claimed the owners, World Tramp Agencies, Inc., owed them money.

Drs. Stovall and Williams are president and vice president of Washington ordered Hauberg into the case Thursday shortly after the Poplarville grand jury returned its final report, apparently with no indictments in the Parker case.

Hauberg said he was waiting for more detailed instructions from the Justice Department after receiving orders to pursue the case with the goal of bringing it before a federal grand jury.

He said U. S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize could either recall the present grand jury or empanel a special one to hear the lynch case.

"Judge Mize's docket is all set until December," Hauberg said. "But I get the impression he will know Wednesday or Thursday whether to recall the grand jury or empanel another. He will also have to decide whether to hold the grand jury in Jackson or in Biloxi."

Under federal law, the grand jury may be empaneled anywhere in the southern district of Mississippi, which is made up of the southern half of the state.

Parker was held in the Pearl River County jail at Poplarville on charges of raping the pregnant white mother. He was lynched two days before his scheduled appearance in court. His body was found later in Pearl River, the boundary between Mississippi and Louisiana.

The FBI said after its 60-man investigating force finished in the case that no federal kidnap laws were violated. The laws are effective only where state lines are crossed.

In the light of the Justice Department's earlier stand that no federal kidnap laws were violated, lawyers in Jackson and Washington speculated that the federal grand jury probably would look for a violation of civil rights laws.

Two sections were mentioned. One deals with depriving a person of his civil rights with the connivance of a law enforcement officer and the other deals with any conspiracy to "injure, oppress or intimidate" an individual in the exercise of federally-guaranteed civil rights.

Whether any federally-guaranteed rights were violated in the Parker case would be a matter for the court to decide.

The prosecutor explained this state of affairs might have gone on unchecked had not Joe arranged last September for Miss Montiveros to visit England.

"She wrote him a letter which was sent to his home address and was opened by his wife. Thus the matter came to light," said the lawyer.

Joe's predicament was put another way by his defense counsel.

The defense attorney said Miss Montiveros—now in England—was willing to stand by Joe.

Joe said very little except to plead guilty. He was convicted but allowed to go without penalty on condition that he mend his ways. One condition was that he avoid bigamous marriages in future.

The court was told he is now living with Rita in London—"although they occupy separate bedrooms." Joe's English wife has said she will seek a legal separation.

The U. S. Marshal's office in New Orleans said the ship has been under seizure since Oct. 14.

The Pacific Conqueror is one of nine World Tramp Agencies freighters stranded between New England and Texas.

Another vessel was stranded in Haifa, Israel, after running out of fuel last month.

The Seafarers International Union in New York said the ships were operated by the World Tramping Agencies.

The Pacific Conqueror came here to pick up a cargo of grain, but was unable to do so until the legal difficulties were straightened out.

After the plight of the crew was published, local citizens and groups flooded the switchboard at the offices of the two newspapers here.

The situation was reported to Myron Falk, director of the local United Givers Fund.

Falk turned the job of coordinating the gift operation over to J. C. Chevallier of the Volunteers of America.

Within hours, a launch loaded with $1,000 worth of foodstuffs from a marine supply house was delivered to the Pacific Conqueror.

The Baton Rouge Water Co. gave fresh water to fill the ships nearly-empty tanks and Chevallier arranged for its transportation.

The Red Cross contributed $100 as one of the first gifts.

In Albany, 40 miles away, a volunteer group of women solicited aid and planned to deliver it later in the day.

Louisiana receive, yet it seeks to dictate to the people how to live and how to run its business. If this is justice, then it must be a new concept."

Gremillion said the law requiring non-profit organizations to file membership lists "was put on the statute books to protect minority groups from discrimination, and it has been held constitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in previous cases as a reasonable regulation of a corporation by a state.

"I certainly hope this power is not disturbed under the guise of alleged civil rights," he said. "I don't know of anyone hurt by this statute—even patriotic organizations like the American Legion and others comply."

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Negro attorney in the latest Louisiana school integration case said Friday he hopes public anger will be aimed at segregationists in the Democratic race for governor.

A. P. Tureaud said in an interview state Sen. William Rainach is agitating to a point where everybody is angry.

Tureaud said he hopes it will backfire "at the Rainach forces, not at the Negroes, thereby creating some consensus of public sympathy for the Negro."

Tureaud said Rainach is trying to make a political issue of the suit to force school boards in East Baton Rouge and St. Helena Parishes to integrate.

But, he said, "I just don't think of him as a serious candidate."

Rainach is one of the 11 Democratic candidates for governor. He is top segregation leader as chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation.

Tureaud said the integration suit, filed in federal court at Baton Rouge recently with the Democratic primary set for Dec. 5, had nothing to do with politics.

All governor candidates are declared supporters of seperation of the races.

Tureaud also denied the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is involved in the integration suit. He is attorney for the NAACP.

Tureaud said he was merely clearing up his work and said he did not specifically pick this time to file the motion.

He predicted Rainach will turn the state into a segregation cauldron.

The motion will give Rainach something to pin one of his issues on, Tureaud said, but Rainach cannot stop the fight for integration.

He doesn't regret filing the motion, he said.

"Sen. Rainach," Tureaud said, "probably wouldn't hesitate to take any action that would give him the feeling that he was Sir Galahad of Louisiana."

"If Sen. Rainach were elected governor," he said, "I don't believe he could do any more to thwart the rights of Negro citizens than if he were a private citizen."

Tureaud said the suit was just another regular procedure in the long fight for equal rights.

If original demands had been met, he said, there probably wouldn't be any now for school integration.

Tureaud declined to say whether separate but equal facilities, denied twenty years ago, would be acceptable now.

The Negro's ultimate aim, he said, is "full equality, not a second class citizen and not being denied his civil rights."

One fresh charge of skullduggery emerged at the windup of the quiz show hearings. Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex) said the Federal Communications Commission had received complaints about "The Big Payoff," a daytime show, as far back as 1952.

Rogers had copies of an exchange of letters, in one of which the FCC mentioned a complaint by Waldron Leonard of suburban Alexandria, Va., that viewers were being misled "as to the manner of selecting participants for the program."

The U. S. Marshal's office in New Orleans said the ship has been under seizure since Oct. 14.

The Pacific Conqueror is one of nine World Tramp Agencies freighters stranded between New England and Texas.

Another vessel was stranded in Haifa, Israel, after running out of fuel last month.

The Seafarers International Union in New York said the ships were operated by the World Tramping Agencies.

The Pacific Conqueror came here to pick up a cargo of grain, but was unable to do so until the legal difficllties were straightened out.

After the plight of the crew was published, local citizens and groups flooded the switchboard at the offices of the two newspapers here.

The situation was reported to Myron Falk, director of the local United Givers Fund.

Falk turned the job of coordinating the gift operation over to J. C. Chevallier of the Volunteers of America.

Within hours, a launch loaded with $1,000 worth of foodstufs from a marine supply house was delivered to the Pacific Conqueror.

The Baton Rouge Water Co. gave fresh water to fill the ships nearly-empty tanks and Chevallier arranged for its transportation.

The Red Cross contributed $100 as one of the first gifts.

In Albany, 40 miles away, a volunteer group of women solicited aid and planned to deliver it later in the day.

Gremillion Hits NAACP As 'Ghost'

Louisiana receive, yet it seeks to dictate to the people how to live and how to run its business. If this is justice, then it must be a new concept."

Gremillion said the law requiring non-profit organizations to file membership lists "was put on the statute books to protect minority groups from discrimination, and it has been held constitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in previous cases as a reasonable regulation of a corporation by a state. . . .

"I certainly hope this power is not disturbed under the guise of alleged civil rights," he said. "I don't know of anyone hurt by this statute—even patriotic organizations like the American Legion and others comply."

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Negro attorney in the latest Louisiana school integration case said Friday he hopes public anger will be aimed at segregationists in the Democratic race for governor.

A. P. Tureaud said in an interview state Sen. William Rainach is agitating to a point where everybody is angry.

Tureaud said he hopes it will backfire "at the Rainach forces, not at the Negroes, thereby creating some consensus of public sympathy for the Negro."

Tureaud said Rainach is trying to make a political issue of the suit to force school boards in East Baton Rouge and St. Helena Parishes to integrate.

But, he said, "I just don't think of him as a serious candidate."

Rainach is one of the 11 Democratic candidates for governor. He is top segregation leader as chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation.

Tureaud said the integration suit, filed in federal court at Baton Rouge recently with the Democratic primary set for Dec. 5, had nothing to do with politics.

All governor candidates are declared supporters of seperation of the races.

Tureaud also denied the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is involved in the integration suit. He is attorney for the NAACP.

Tureaud said he was merely clearing up his work and said he did not specifically pick this time to file the motion.

He predicted Rainach will turn the state into a segregation cauldron.

The motion will give Rainach something to pin one of his issues on, Tureaud said, but Rainach cannot stop the fight for integration.

He doesn't regret filing the motion, he said.

"Sen. Rainach," Tureaud said, "probably wouldn't hesitate to take any action that would give him the feeling that he was Sir Galahad of Louisiana."

"If Sen. Rainach were elected governor," he said, "I don't believe he could do any more to thwart the rights of Negro citizens than if he were a private citizen."

Tureaud said the suit was just another regular procedure in the long fight for equal rights.

If original demands had been met, he said, there probably wouldn't be any now for school integration.

Tureaud declined to say whether separate but equal facilities, denied twenty years ago, would be acceptable now.

The Negro's ultimate aim, he said, is "full equality, not a second class citizen and not being denied his civil rights."

Investors Should Eye Principal

NEW YORK (AP) — Investors putting money into stocks and bonds for retirement years should look for security of principal and yield of income instead of growth, a Wall Street firm of analysts says.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute in some advice for this type of investor, cautioned that in planning for retirement he is more restricted in the selection of securities.

"The person buying stocks for the purpose of providing retirement income and security must be guided by rigid objectives," the institute says. "Special situations should, as a rule, be avoided. Speculations should only be made with risk capital.

"The retirement folio should consist of about 25 per cent of good grade investment stocks, common and preferred, and 75 per cent in good grade bonds.

"The past earnings of the company are important to consider. As a general rule, corporations should earn a minimum of at least twice the interest on all of its bonds. The more speculative the corporation or industry, the greater should be the number of times the interest earned.

"The minimum standard for a bond of investment quality to earn for public utilities is four times the interest; railroads, five times; industrials, seven times. That means the rate of earnings for all its bonds, junior and senior issues and any other outstanding notes.

"The retirement portfolio also should be diversified as to industries and should contain bonds in railroads, utilities, industrials, government and tax exempt issues."

"Tight money again is taking headlines away from the steel strike," says E. F. Hutton & Co. "Rising interest rates are putting a double squeeze on farmers because not only are their costs rising but their income is declining. Again the vulnerability of the farm equipment stocks is underscored."

Noting that the Dow Jones industrial average has been moving up almost daily in the last two weeks, Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. says, "the buying side of the market appears to be the most favored one and we see nothing in the current situation to warrant any change in this trend."

Amott, Baker & Co. says it feels that the stock market may be inconclusive for the rest of this year because of the steel strike and the pressure of tax loss selling. The analysts say, "We repeat our opinion that stock prices may set new highs sometime early in 1960 and that periods of interim market weakness should be used to accumulate good quality stocks with basic fundamental value."

POSES AS BOY — Barbara Malpass, 20, who has been masquerading as a homeless boy and was unmasked in Golden, Colo., is shown during high school days in Glenmont, Albany, N.Y., suburb. (AP Wirephoto)

Girl Glad Masquerade Is Finished

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Barbara Ann Malpass, who is 20 and has a wide, toothy smile, Friday (1) sampled some home-baked bread; (2) kept a scarf knotted around her crew-cut head; (3) refused to put on blue jeans and (4) said she's glad to be found out as a girl.

"I don't want to think about that boy part anymore," she said.

Through some 25 states and at least four jails since leaving home at Glenmont, N. Y., near Albany Barbara Ann masqueraded as a boy with a ducktail haircut.

As Charles Williams, aged 16, she spent 37 days in this foothills town west of Denver, then five weeks more in the home of a deputy sheriff and his wife before the suspicious officer got her to admit her identity.

The deputy, Sam Teague, before learning she was a girl, had a barber cut her hair short. Barbara says she won't be seen in public without the scarf or a hat until it grows out.

She said her secret nearly was discovered the day she was arrested here, Aug. 2.

"They were going to put a boy in my cell, but I started a fight right away and they separated us," she said.

A desire to see the West made her leave home last April after yelling to her mother, Mrs. Albert Malpass, "Mom, I'm going. I've just got to go."

"I decided to dress as a boy," Barbara said. "I felt it would solve lots of problems and keep me out of trouble because I didn't have much money and I knew I would be doing some hitchhiking."

She spent some time in jail at Fremont, Ohio; Anderson, Ind., and Omaha, Neb., she said, before being picked up here for hitchhiking and for questioning about a burglary. Sheriff Art Wemuth said she had been cleared of any connection with the burglary.

When she was told she might be given psychiatric help, the girl said she doesn't need it.

"I have no desire to be a boy," she said. "Now that it's behind me I want to get a job—a woman's job—and show all of these people that they have not misplaced their faith in believing in me."

Teague and his wife said Barbara seems to have talent as an artist.

Profits On Express

"Can the costly deficits of the Railway Express Agency be turned into profits?"

Modern Railroading magazine poses that question and then proceeds to express the view that there is a good chance of success in a new approach to the express agency's financial problem.

The agency will continue as a railroad-owned enterprise, but on a reorganized basis.

"The essence of the new approach," says Modern Railroading, "is to allow R.E.A. more autonomy; give it freedom to operate its small-package service as a business, and let the operation succeed or fail on its own merits.

"The new agreement that is a key part of the plan allows the agency (with some limitations) to route its traffic and choose its mode of transport with an eye to meeting competition and operating the service more efficiently—instead of following the historic traffic pattern."

Some needed rate revisions have been approved by the interstate commerce commission, which also approved the new agreement. The agency is studying its entire rate structure, in order to work out future revisions, up or down, based on elements of cost, service and competition.

This development is highly desirable. The nation needs its privately owned national express service and that service needs to be put on a profitable footing. It is to the credit of the management that it has gone ahead in spite of financial troubles and that some $60 million has been spent on new and improved plants and equipment since 1954.

Modern Railroading says: "We believe there is still a place for an efficient, privately-run package business — and we're confident that Mr. Johnson (R.E.A.'s president) and his able associates can operate the new R.E.A. successfully.

"The railroads are turning their express agency loose so that it can operate like a business. Now, if the government would only do the same for the railroads."

If the railroads had the power to turn the express agency loose, so it could operate like a business, it is a wonder it did not do so long ago. Heretofore the huge deficits incurred by the express agency have had to be absorbed by the railroads, which themselves were operating under deficits.

Announcement that the express agency will operate as a separate entity brings at least four points sharply into focus. They include:

1. There is a tremendous demand for a small-package business.

2. A competent private business institution should be able to make good profits on such an enterprise.

3. No private business would grow and prosper if it were operated in the way in which the express agency has been operated heretofore.

4. Capably operated, the express agency would provide lively and stimulating competition for the federal parcel post service and improved services by both these agencies should greatly benefit the public.

The Railway Express Agency and the parcel post service are the only generally recognized agencies dealing exclusively in the handling and transportation of small packages, although the number of such packages each year surely runs into many millions, if not billions. A large proportion of this is interstate transport and therefore interstate agencies are required.

Bus companies do a small amount of package transportation service but the amount they handle is practically nothing compared to what could be developed.

Now that the Railway Express Agency plans to operate on a business-like basis and if the bus companies would develop both interstate and intrastate package transportation services the new life that it is possible to inject into the small package transportation business would be something marvelous to see.

Teen-Age Starvation

While many corners of the land are hammering away at juvenile delinquency and the high crime rate, there seems to be little written which shows a genuine concern for the millions of teen-agers who happen to fall into the "good behavior" pattern.

This pitiful turn of events on the part of adults leads the most sensitive segment of the population to believe there is no attention for them unless they misbehave. Now a report has been issued which may put an end to America's most slighted class — the good teen-agers.

They don't eat right. Perhaps it is based on the "hunger strike" principle in that they are fasting until someone puts in a kind word for their age bracket. But a dietician from Washington State, Inez Eckblad, said a recent survey indicates teen-agers' diets are only slightly better than those in the world's starvation areas in terms of actual food value.

Miss Ec[illegible]lad is a member of the nation[illegible] H committee on improving nutr[illegible]on for U. S. youngsters. The committee analyzed research data collected across the nation. Conclusions were that the youngsters were filling up on foods which supplied very little in the way of calories and body builders in a land where every electric refrigerator holds a plentiful supply.

"Empty calorie foods — sweets, potato chips or soft drinks—do not have the essential food elements that growing teen-agers need," Miss Eckblad summarized.

The report pointed to diets lacking in calcium, iron, and vitamin C. Up to six out of ten girls in the age bracket do not get enough protein, calcium, iron, vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin and vitamin C, the report said.

Though the girls have no monopoly on the diet shortages, the traditional woman-worry — overweight—is at the bottom of much of the self-inflicted short rations. And the ever-popular candy, popcorn and pop routine enjoyed by both sexes just doesn't make a well balanced meal.

On the positive side, the report urged using the "big four" food groups as a daily guide—the milk, meat, vegetable-fruit and the breads-cereal categories.

As to amounts, the report suggested teen-agers drink four glasses of milk a day and have at least two servings of meat. Dark green or deep yellow vegetables should be included in meals at least every other day.

Though the report showed a genuine concern for the younger set, it did not put all the technicalities in terms the teen-agers could readily absorb; namely, there is nothing "square" about a square meal.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Nehru's Big Difficulties

Man Who Rules India Through Congress Party Brings Troubles By Attempting To Be All Things To Everybody

Nehru, who rules modern India through the Congress Party, is the father of his own difficulties. His country, after it was given its independence by Great Britain, sought a technique for being all things to all sides. To avoid war or being involved in diplomatic difficulties, Nehru adopted the remoteness of philosophy. He remained within the Commonwealth, although he abhorred the Empire. He accepted American aid but also sought and got Russian aid. He was opposed to all forms of imperialism but attempted to build an Indian Ocean hegemony. He denied the overlordship of any nation but established one in Kashmir. He worked out a co-existence with Red China in collaboration with Chou En-lai but was forced to give refuge to Red China's enemy, the Dalai Lama of Tibet. Everlastingly prattling about peace, he is now on the verge of war with Red China.

Nehru's problem is that he cannot control the course of history. It works its way through channels which he cannot master. for instance, the establishment of the Communist state in Kerala might have been averted if Nehru had found jobs for thousands of intellectuals who are out of work. Perhaps he might have achieved that by establishing a system of general compulsory education from the kindergarten to the university. That would have given B.A.'s and M.A.'s jobs.

In India, this would not only require a huge outlay of funds, as it does anywhere, but it would come in conflict with local customs and local languages and dialects and amazing varieties of religious practices. At any rate, he had to put down the Communists in Kerala and thus deny himself the glory of complete and perfect toleration of evil as well as good. His life has been a constant compromise with what he says he believes to be true.

Perhaps Nehru will learn that the Platonic life that he leads, far from the madding crowd and the realism of immediate problems, is a luxury which the upper middle class of India could enjoy when Great Britain manned the boundaries and kept other conquerors out.

India has had a long history of being conquered and of being held by aliens who ultimately became Indians of one sort or another. The British sealed the borders and for two centuries kept out other invaders, particularly the Russians and the Chinese. The great luxury of the upper and middle classes in India was protected by British arms and diplomacy.

The Russians had no claims on India but held that what Clive could do by sea, some Russian could do by land. Russia was like a snowball, blown in all directions by the winds of circumstance and growing ever larger as it rolled on. The Khyber Pass was an invitation to take India but Russia, under the Czars, did not seek a war with England. The Czars, like the present Communists, believed in the inevitability of Russia's conquest of the world, and when they looked at the map, there was ample reason for their conclusions.

Although China was a dismembered country much of this century, suffering from spheres of influence, territorial possessions by foreign countries, concessions, settlements, extraterritoriality, etc., etc., nevertheless in every Chinese memory were the great days of the Middle Kingdom when Peking was the center of the Universe and when nations from distart places sent tribute to the Manchu court.

Although the Chinese overthrew the Manchus and became a Republic, controlled by Warlords, they were very proud of Manchu operations, particularly of such a regime as that of the Emperor Chien Lung when China was most expanded.

This is a problem that faces Nehru, because Communist China is using nationalistic expansion as an off-set to the hard times which the Commune plans imposed on an otherwise gay people. The Chinese like war, despite what has been writtenabou t their pacifism. I once calculated that there has not been a century of peace in all of Chinese history, their greatest historical novel, the "San Kuo," really a vast collection of folk history, deals with wars and carnage. Confucius wrote so lovingly of peace because he lived in the midst of war. The Revolution of 1912 let loose the militarism of the nation and not the Constitutionalists took over but the Warlords.

It is this Chinese militarism that Nehru is now encountering and he does not know what to do about it.

Cash Waits Many

Thousands Unknowingly Entitled To Pensions In Deperate Needs

Right now there are hundreds of thousands of Americans in agonizing, desperate need in this country who could legally be getting incomes running to more than $250 a month — but who aren't getting those incomes because they simply aren't aware they are entitled to them.

This group includes disabled workers over 50 years of age who don't know that an amendment to the social security law last year greatly eased the "work" requirements for their eligibility.

It includes dependents of disabled workers who don't know that under the 1958 law they are eligible for benefits for the first time.

It includes dependent parents of deceased workers who don't know that they now can draw benefits even if the deceased worker's widow or child has been drawing benefits for years.

It includes disabled children of a retired or deceased worker who don't know that they can draw benefits at any age if their disability began before the age of 18.

It includes countless thousands whose applications for benefits were turned down before the law was last amended and who don't know that if they apply again, their claims may be allowed and they may collect a big chunk of benefits retroactive to November 1958.

"The number forfeiting benefits today could be tremendous, for we estimate 400,000 were made eligible under the 1958 amendments and we know that the number of applicants hasn't been anywhere near that," said a spokesman for the New York Social Security Office yesterday.

"It's so terribly important to let these needy people know the benefits to which they're entitled. And every month that they wait they lose money because as of September, payments are now retroactive for no more than 12 months. Every month's delay means a loss of another month in back payments."

Just as an indication of what this could mean, disability benefits are the same as benefits for retirement — can run to $119 a month for an individual, $254.10 a month for a family.

The reason I called at the Social Security Office was my own realization of how little I knew about the 1958 changes in the law. Here, then, are facts that well might be of vital meaning to you:

(1) There now is only one work requirement that must be met by a disabled worker to qualify for disability benefits at age 50: He must have worked on jobs covered by social security in at least five out of the last 10 years before his disability started.

The old requirement that a worker must also have worked during 1½ out of three years before the disability has been wiped out.

* * *

"The change may be of key importance not only to those who become disabled in the future, but also to those who may have been denied benefits in the past," said the official. "If your claim was denied before August 1958, reapply now."

(2) Dependents of disabled beneficiaries can now qualify for benefits for the first time. The amended law provides for payments to: a wife aged 62 or over or a husband 65 or over; a wife under 62 if she has in her care a child under 18 or an eligible disabled child 18 or over; children under 18; a disabled child of any age if the disability began before his or her birthday.

A family of a disabled beneficiary aged 50 to 65 can get the same protection as the family members of an old-age beneficiary.

Castro Vitriolics

U.S. Convinced Nothing Is Going To Stop Fidel's Attacks

This country is quite clearly ccnvinced that nothing it can do is going to stop the vitriolic attacks of Fidel Castro on the United States. The United States statement delivered to the Cuban government by Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal in lat[illegible] October spelled out plainly that this government thinks Castro intends to continue his efforts to create hostility and distrust of the United States.

* * *

But we intend to show our good faith by such acts as that taken this week of sending a force with planes and other equipment to Florida to prevent unauthorized flights from the United States to Cuba by persons who might stir up further trouble.

There have been predictions that Castro will not last two years. No one in this government is making any predictions of any sort. Certainly there is no present possibility of any one rising in Cuba who could achieve popular support to the extent necessary to re-establish stable government.

But suppose Castro, the bungling Marxist, stays in power for several years? What effect will his campaign of hate against the Yankees have in Latin America? Nothing is more important to this country than solidarity with Central and South America. We expressed that feeling by the Monroe Doctrine in 1823. It is even more important now when some twenty countries in Latin America though still under - populated have one hundred eighty three million people and vast undeveloped resources.

* * *

There is no doubt that Moscow is looking at Cuba and through it to all Latin America with just about as deep interest as Washington is. Until a few years ago there was little to encourage Russia in that area but things have been going better for the Soviet recently. Communist infiltration has been considerable, but not enough to cause us to lose faith in our neighbors to the south.

On the investment front there has been apprehension by some American circles over increasing sentiment for nationalization of private United States and other foreign enterprise in Latin America.

The Bridges - Johnston amendment to the mutual security act this year took note of that and provided that where the president is convinced of nationalization, expropriation, confiscation or other taking without adequate compensation of property owned by the United States or any national thereof, he shall suspend assistance to such country.

It is estimated that $500,000,000 of American investment is being put into Latin America this year. Within the last six months an estimated $150,000,000 of American capital has been invested in Argentina alone. Oil companies, meat packers, automobile manufacturers are among those willing to express their faith in the Frondizi government.

* * *

In the 25 years of its existence the Export - Import bank has made 40 per cent of all its loans to Latin America. The bank's total loans to Mexico, Central and South America have aggregated $3,800,000,000, being used principally for such development purposes as financing machinery and equipment, utilities and transportation facilities.

This country has learned a number of lessons in its dealings with Latin America and the Caribbean area in recent years. There was a time when we greeted with glee the fall of a dictator there. But the fall of the dictators have paid no dividends in friendship to us.

One of the Communist aims was to break the voting bloc which supported the United States position in the United Nations. Cuba, under Dictator Batista, was a vigorous supporter of American policy in the United Nations. Time after time Batista's Cuban representative helped block Soviet maneuvers. He backed the protest of the Soviet attack on the Hungarian patriots.

* * *

The q[illegible]tion is often asked if there are any circumstances under which the United States would intervene in Cuba. Under the Platt amendment (authored by Senator Orville H. Platt of Connecticut) Cuba in its constitution provided for intervention by the United States if public security and credit were threatened.

Cuban President Palma requested our intervention in 1906. We landed Marines in the race war, which followed the Negro uprising in Oriente Province in 1912. We sent General Enoch H. Crowder of the United States Army to draw up new Cuban election laws after the 1916 election violence, but that was at Cuba's insistence.

The Platt amendment was repealed in 1934 as part of the Roosevelt good neighbor policy. At the Special Inter-American Conference in Buenos Aires in December, 1936, a protocol was accepted, the first paragraph of which read: "The High Contracting Parties declare inadmissable the intervention of any one of them, directly or indirectly, for whatever reason, in the internal or external affairs of any other of the parties."

But the Monroe Doctrine is still unilateral United States policy. This country could not stand by and see any Latin American country go Communist.

Big Pain In Face

Trigeminal Neuralgia Can Bring Almost Unbearable Discomforts

IS THIS MARRIAGE?

In a recent column I wrote that occasionally "aloneness" is as important as "togetherness." However, sometimes "aloneness" can be overdone to the detriment of others. As in this letter from Mrs. X. of Washington, D. C. D. C.

"Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Your column 'Too Much Togetherness,' has caused a good deal of controversy and nervousness in our family.

"We have been married 15 years and have two girls (13 and 11) and a boy (14 months old). My husband is an officer in the navy, which means he is away a good deal. The girls adore their father and look forward to week ends when we can all be together for trips, picnics, etc. I look forward to a gala time when we can entertain, go dancing, play golf and bridge together.

* * *

"However, my husband's love is hunting, fishing, mountain climbing — out in the open roughing it.

"Half the week ends in the year he's off — every week end from October through January (hunting season) — and two week ends out of four since will be spent in the mountains or on the water with his closest friend, a widower with no children or responsibilities.

"As a result, the children and I sit alone. Saturdays and Sundays are the same as Tuesdays and Wednesdays for me. I wash, iron, and sew. This can be frustrating.

"My husband pointed out your last paragraph about "respecting the other fellow's wishes." He said I should be glad he has a hobby. Well, I am. But when a hobby becomes a disease, then something has to give.

"I married for companionship, not to be only a maid, cook and nurse. Is this marriage?"

* * *

COMMENT: Your husband has done some pointing, now you can do some of the same. Let him read this: I think he is overdoing "aloneness." He is reneging on his marriage contract. His outdoor hobby has turned into an obsession.

The years fly by. When the children (and you) have grown older he will long for (and never be able to recapture) the young years of being together with wife and the kids.

Wake up Admiral!

Daily Devotional

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches. — Revelation 2:7.

Many thoughts and ideas can be found in this Scripture. One is that we will be helped and blessed by a reading and study of the Bible. Another, which also seems appropriate, is the suggestion that those who would know the truth and "be free" will find church attendance both helpful and inspiring — with ministers and teachers representing the true Spirit, which is Christ. Surely, it is appropriate for the Christian to be "in the spirit" on the Lord's Day — and in His presence in a place of worship.

Gracious God, help us to an understanding of Thy Word through personal study and by hearing Thy teachers. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

Profits On Express

"Can the costly deficits of the Railway Express Agency be turned into profits?"

Modern Railroading magazine poses that question and then proceeds to express the view that there is a good chance of success in a new approach to the express agency's financial problem.

The agency will continue as a railroad-owned enterprise, but on a reorganized basis.

"The essence of the new approach," says Modern Railroading, "is to allow R.E.A. more autonomy; give it freedom to operate its small-package service as a business, and let the operation succeed or fail on its own merits.

"The new agreement that is a key part of the plan allows the agency (with some limitations) to route its traffic and choose its mode of transport with an eye to meeting competition and operating the service more efficiently—instead of following the historic traffic pattern."

Some needed rate revisions have been approved by the interstate commerce commission, which also approved the new agreement. The agency is studying its entire rate structure, in order to work out future revisions, up or down, based on elements of cost, service and competition.

This development is highly desirable. The nation needs its privately owned national express service and that service needs to be put on a profitable footing. It is to the credit of the management that it has gone ahead in spite of financial troubles and that some $60 million has been spent on new and improved plants and equipment since 1954.

Modern Railroading says: "We believe there is still a place for an efficient, privately-run package business — and we're confident that Mr. Johnson (R.E.A.'s president) and his able associates can operate the new R.E.A. successfully.

"The railroads are turning their express agency loose so that it can operate like a business. Now, if the government would only do the same for the railroads."

If the railroads had the power to turn the express agency loose, so it could operate like a business, it is a wonder it did not do so long ago. Heretofore the huge deficits incurred by the express agency have had to be absorbed by the railroads, which themselves were operating under deficits.

Announcement that the express agency will operate as a separate entity brings at least four points sharply into focus. They include:

1. There is a tremendous demand for a small-package business.

2. A competent private business institution should be able to make good profits on such an enterprise.

3. No private business would grow and prosper if it were operated in the way in which the express agency has been operated heretofore.

4. Capably operated, the express agency would provide lively and stimulating competition for the federal parcel post service and improved services by both these agencies should greatly benefit the public.

The Railway Express Agency and the parcel post service are the only generally recognized agencies dealing exclusively in the handling and transportation of small packages, although the number of such packages each year surely runs into many millions, if not billions. A large proportion of this is interstate transport and therefore interstate agencies are required.

Bus companies do a small amount of package transportation service but the amount they handle is practically nothing compared to what could be developed.

Now that the Railway Express Agency plans to operate on a business-like basis and if the bus companies would develop both interstate and intrastate package transportation services the new life that it is possible to inject into the small package transportation business would be something marvelous to see.

Teen-Age Starvation

While many corners of the land are hammering away at juvenile delinquency and the high crime rate, there seems to be little written which shows a genuine concern for the millions of teen-agers who happen to fall into the "good behavior" pattern.

This pitiful turn of events on the part of adults leads the most sensitive segment of the population to believe there is no attention for them unless they misbehave. Now a report has been issued which may put an end to America's most slighted class — the good teen-agers.

They don't eat right. Perhaps it is based on the "hunger strike" principle in that they are fasting until someone puts in a kind word for their age bracket. But a dietician from Washington State, Inez Eckblad, said a recent survey indicates teen-agers' diets are only slightly better than those in the world's starvation areas in terms of actual food value.

Miss Eckblad is a member of the national 4-H committee on improving nutrition for U. S. youngsters. The committee analyzed research data collected across the nation. Conclusions were that the youngsters were filling up on foods which supplied very little in the way of calories and body builders in a land where every electric refrigerator holds a plentiful supply.

"Empty calorie foods — sweets, potato chips or soft drinks—do not have the essential food elements that growing teen-agers need," Miss Eckblad summarized.

The report pointed to diets lacking in calcium, iron, and vitamin C. Up to six out of ten girls in the age bracket do not get enough protein, calcium, iron, vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin and vitamin C, the report said.

Though the girls have no monopoly on the diet shortages, the traditional woman-worry — overweight—is at the bottom of much of the self-inflicted short rations. And the ever-popular candy, popcorn and pop routine enjoyed by both sexes just doesn't make a well balanced meal.

On the positive side, the report urged using the "big four" food groups as a daily guide—the milk, meat, vegetable-fruit and the breads-cereal categories.

As to amounts, the report suggested teen-agers drink four glasses of milk a day and have at least two servings of meat. Dark green or deep yellow vegetables should be included in meals at least every other day.

Though the report showed a genuine concern for the younger set, it did not put all the technicalities in terms the teen-agers could readily absorb; namely, there is nothing "square" about a square meal.

Nehru's Big Difficulties

Man Who Rules India Through Congress Party Brings Troubles By Attempting To Be All Things To Everybody

Nehru, who rules modern India through the Congress Party, is the father of his own difficulties. His country, after it was given its independence by Great Britain, sought a technique for being all things to all sides. To avoid war or being involved in diplomatic difficulties, Nehru adopted the remoteness of philosophy. He remained within the Commonwealth, although he abhorred the Empire. He accepted American aid but also sought and got Russian aid. He was opposed to all forms of imperialism but attempted to build an Indian Ocean hegemony. He denied the overlordship of any nation but established one in Kashmir. He worked out a co-existence with Red China in collaboration with Chou En-lai but was forced to give refuge to Red China's enemy, the Dalai Lama of Tibet. Everlastingly prattling about peace, he is now on the verge of war with Red China.

Nehru's problem is that he cannot control the course of history. It works its way through channels which he cannot master. for instance, the establishment of the Communist state in Kerala might have been averted if Nehru had found jobs for thousands of intellectuals who are out of work. Perhaps he might have achieved that by establishing a system of general compulsory education from the kindergarten to the university. That would have given B.A.'s and M.A.'s jobs.

In India, this would not only require a huge outlay of funds, as it does anywhere, but it would come in conflict with local customs and local languages and dialects and amazing varieties of religious practices. At any rate, he had to put down the Communists in Kerala and thus deny himself the glory of complete and perfect toleration of evil as well as good. His life has been a constant compromise with what he says he believes to be true.

Perhaps Nehru will learn that the Platonic life that he leads, far from the madding crowd and the realism of immediate problems, is a luxury which the upper middle class of India could enjoy when Great Britain manned the boundaries and kept other conquerors out.

India has had a long history of being conquered and of being held by aliens who ultimately became Indians of one sort or another. The British sealed the borders and for two centuries kept out other invaders, particularly the Russians and the Chinese. The great luxury of the upper and middle classes in India was protected by British arms and diplomacy.

The Russians had no claims on India but held that what Clive could do by sea, some Russian could do by land. Russia was like a snowball, blown in all directions by the winds of circumstance and growing ever larger as it rolled on. The Khyber Pass was an invitation to take India but Russia, under the Czars, did not seek a war with England. The Czars, like the present Communists, believed in the inevitability of Russia's conquest of the world, and when they looked at the map, there was ample reason for their conclusions.

"Half the week ends in the year he's off — every week end from October through January (hunting season) — and two week ends out of four since will be spent in the mountains or on the water with his closest friend, a widower with no children or responsibilities.

"As a result, the children and I sit alone. Saturdays and Sundays are the same as Tuesdays and Wednesdays for me. I wash, iron, and sew. This can be frustrating.

"My husband pointed out your last paragraph about "respecting the other fellow's wishes." He said I should be glad he has a hobby. Well, I am. But when a hobby becomes a disease, then something has to give.

"I married for companionship, not to be only a maid, cook and nurse. Is this marriage?"

* * *

COMMENT: Your husband has done some pointing, now you can do some of the same. Let him read this: I think he is overdoing "aloneness." He is reneging on his marriage contract. His outdoor hobby has turned into an obsession.

The years fly by. When the children (and you) have grown older he will long for (and never be able to recapture) the young years of being together with wife and the kids.

Wake up Admiral!

Daily Devotional

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches. — Revelation 2:7.

Many thoughts and ideas can be found in this Scripture. One is that we will be helped and blessed by a reading and study of the Bible. Another, which also seems appropriate, is the suggestion that those who would know the truth and "be free" will find church attendance both helpful and inspiring — with ministers and teachers representing the true Spirit, which is Christ. Surely, it is appropriate for the Christian to be "in the spirit" on the Lord's Day — and in His presence in a place of worship.

Gracious God, help us to an understanding of Thy Word through personal study and by hearing Thy teachers. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

CLOTHES Make Your Man

By Harry Juster

DEAR MR. JUSTER: My 15-year-old daughter was invited to a dancing party at the home of a school friend. I bought her a new dress and she looked like a doll. Her date came to pick her up in jeans and a tee shirt. My husband barely resisted the impulse to throw him out by the seat of his jeans and refused to let her go with him. Why do parents allow boys to go out like that?..

Disgusted Mother

It's too bad parents don't act on the impulse your husband barely resisted. It might get across the idea that a boy dresses up for a date. A youngster's clothes consciousness starts with the parents. Wearing a suit or neatly pressed slacks and sport jacket should be automatic.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: Why do men resent criticism? When I make some comment to my husband about his clothes, he shuts up like a clam. All I'm trying to do is be helpful. I just can't understand his feeling that I'm trying to tear apart the way he's dressed.

Mrs. W.

Is it what you say or how you say it? Here are a few don'ts. Don't compare him with other men. Don't say, "You may not like this, but . . .", or "why don't you ever listen to me?" Mix in a little praise and flattery. Most men are open to suggestion, if put tactfully. Just be sure, whatever your comment, that you're right.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: Why is it that when some men get a new hat, it will look good for months and months. Two weeks after my husband buys one, it's so out of shape, you'd think he had resurrected it from the attic. Just how can he keep his hat looking new?

Mrs. L. R.

How does he put it on? That's the key. Grabbing a hat by the crown or at the sides of the brim and forcing it into place will ruin its shape in a hurry. Have him hold the brim at front and back while adjusting to the head and see if it doesn't stay looking new longer. Of course, care in "parking" it and occasional brushing help, too.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: The sales manager o' our company is a bug on appearance. In his opinion anyone who doesn't wear his breast pocket handkerchief neatly folded is violating a basic rule of proper dress. I happen to like mine with the points out. Am I out of step?

Art

Step out with your handkerchief folded, points out, or natural puff style, whichever you like, and don't worry about being out of step. There's no one right or wrong way of wearing it. It's strictly a matter of personal preference. I like it worn casually, looking ready to use and always fresh.

TIP FOR THE DAY

Is your coat collar allergic to you? If it's standoffish and refuses to associate with your neck, it can make your entire suit look ill - fitting. One, be sure your collar is fitted to hug your neck. Two, take a moment to adjust it into place when putting on your coat.

Should a 16-year-old be allowed to pick his own clothes? Read the answer next week.

Mr. Juster will be glad to answer your questions. He also has a booklet, "Guide to Better Dress" which includes a color chart, physical proportions chart, and many tips for improving appearance. The booklet is available free. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to Harry Juster in care of this paper.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

HEALTH IN THE GOLD RUSH DAYS

My hat is off to the brave men and women who participated in the conquest of the west during the gold rush years. Indians were a minor hazard; illness was more serious because physicians were few and far between and medical science was almost in its infancy.

The west is dotted with cemeteries like those in Central City, Black Hawk, and Nevadaville, in Colorado. Many of the graves are unmarked whereas others have marble headstones that are crumbling with age. Dr. Theodore E. Beyer of Denver has written about the tragedies associated with these desolate and decaying cemeteries. A mother and child rest in one grave and three children in another. The markers bear the same date, showing that all died on the same day, probably from diphtheria.

The early settlers suffered from the usual diseases of the day, including pneumonia, sore throat, and croup. Epidemics of typhoid, diphtheria, and tuberculosis were common. The hardrock miners had to contend with the deadly effects of quartz dust. Most of the mines were crude shafts with no filters or methods of control.

I often wonder how many men found gold, only to die a year or two later from miner's consumption. This may explain why so many prospectors sold rich veins for a pittance and returned east to live in a more comfortable environment. Legal control of conditions in the hard rock mining industry was not enacted in Colorado until 1899.

Dr. Beyer hopes a memorial will be erected to the thousands of unlettered men who gave their lives to insure the success of the west. Their sacrifices should be recognized in the form of a monument patterned after that of the Unknown Soldier in Washington or the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

BURPING BROTHER

H. L. writes: Since my brother had a stroke several years ago he has to belch quite a bit. His diet is simple — no fried, spicy or gas forming foods. Do you think his inactivity is responsible?

REPLY

Yes, but there are other more common causes such as indigestion, air swallowing, nervousness and medicines. There is no reason why a person who has had a stroke cannot suffer also from gall bladder disease or peptic ulcer. The family physician is in a better position to answer your specific question.

POOR POSTURE

M. V. writes: Can swayback cause enlargement of the abdomen?

REPLY

Something's got to give when the posture is poor and the abdomen usually protrudes when the spine bends in this way. The opposite also may occur, in that an enlarged abdomen may cause swayback in an attempt to redistribute the body's weight. This is observed frequently in pregnancy.

FAINTS AT HOSPITAL

T. C. writes: Whenever I visit anyone at the hospital, I faint. What would you advise?

REPLY

Stay away. Hospitals have all they can do with the patients at .. hand and should not be asked to treat people who are so emotional they are bowled over by an unpleasant smell or the sight of a sick person.

SPOTS BEFORE EYES

Mrs. E. writes: What is done for eye floaters?

REPLY

These are clumps of cells, or strands of fibrin floating in the fluid within the eyeball. They are noticeable when they pass through the line of vision. Send a stamped addressed envelope for leaflet on spots before the eyes.

BRING ON THE POPCORN —Six-year-old Gail Williams can afford that revealing laugh—she's goa a mouthful of grown-up teeth to flash. The British miss lost her baby teeth prematurely and it was estimated that it will be 18 months before new ones start to grow. Her dentist thought dentures would have a good psychological effect. In any event, Gail's choppers are the envy of her school chums near Doncaster, Yorkshire. (AP Wirephoto)

Father Won't Discuss Actions Of Daughter

GLENMONT, N.Y. (UPI) —The father of Barbara Ann Malpass, 20, refused Friday to talk about his daughter's escapades in three western states where she masqueraded for six months as a 16-year-old boy.

Albert Malpass, a carpet layer, hung up his telephone receiver quickly when questioned about plans for returning the girl to her home here.

"I absolutely am not answering questions," he said.

Goldfine Set For Chance To Answer Query

WASHINGTON (AP) — Boston Industrialist Bernard Goldfine will get a new chance Dec. 9 to answer the questions involved in his conviction for contempt of Congress.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee announced this today in recessing his subcommittee's inquiry into television quiz show scandals.

Goldfine was cited for contempt last year after refusing to answer 18 questions before the Harris subcommittee in its investigation of federal regulatory agencies.

Those hearings and disclosures of expensive gifts from Goldfine to his friend Sherman Adams led to Adams' resignation as chief aide to President Eisenhower. Adams denied he had applied any influence on behalf of Goldfine, but said his usefulness had been impaired.

Speeding Car Slams Bridge, Four Killed

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (UPI)— A speeding car slammed into a bridge near here early Friday, and four of the five occupants were killed.

The only survivor was two-year old Stanley Morris, Jr. He was reported in fair condition at Maury County Hospital. His parents, a brother and another occupant of the car died instantly.

"The car was going too fast, and the driver apparently was too tired to be driving," highway patrol Sgt. Laten Mullins said.

Mullins identified the dead as Stanley Morris, 36, of Tallassee, Ala., his wife, 32, and a son Dale 7. William Rhea 35, Tuskegee, Ala., also died.

Morris had a job as an iron foundry worker at Muncie Ind., and Sgt. Mullins said the group apparently was on its way to Muncie when the accident occurred before dawn.

Reclaim Effort Thrown Out Of Federal Court

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal referee today threw out of court a Dominican Republic effort to reclaim $750,000 allegedly paid former top officials of the Mutual Broadcasting System to air propaganda on the network.

Referee Asa Herzog, in his written decision, said "I am convinced that claimant conspired with Guterma and Roach to spread foreign propaganda in the United States without publicizing the nature and source thereof" in violation of the law.

The reference was to Alexander L. Guterma, former MBS president; and Hal Roach Jr., former network board chairman.

Both Guterma and Roach have been indicted in Washington and are awaiting trial.

Reclaim Effort Thrown Out Of Federal Court

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal referee today threw out of court a Dominican Republic effort to reclaim $750,000 allegedly paid former top officials of the Mutual Broadcasting System to air propaganda on the network.

Referee Asa Herzog, in his written decision, said "I am convinced that claimant conspired with Guterma and Roach to spread foreign propaganda in the United States without publicizing the nature and source thereof" in violation of the law.

The reference was to Alexander L. Guterma, former MBS president; and Hal Roach Jr., former network board chairman.

Both Guterma and Roach have been indicted in Washington and are awaiting trial.

Brigitte Bardot Alone; Husband Goes In Army

PARIS (UPI)—Sex kitten Brigitte Bardot sat alone in her Paris apartment Friday with her movie career in mothballs and her handsome husband miles away as a recruit in the army.

Her husband, actor Jacques Charrier, was spending his 23rd birthday at an army barracks at the start of a two-year tour of duty required of all healthy, male Frenchmen. His life was not made easier by the fact that his barracks mates had pin-up pictures of his wife tacked over their bunks.

Brigitte, also 23, apparently planned to live alone and quietly until their baby arrives in February.

Driver Pulls Sports Car

MIAMI (UPI)—It had to happen sooner or later.

A woman motorist drove off with a tiny foreign sports car locked in the rear bumper of her big American car.

Miss Coral De Angelus, 29, insisted she din't know she had a hitchhiker. After all, she explained, she couldn't even see the little Kharman-Ghia in her rear view mirror.

The policeman said she was drunk. She had to be, he said, if she din't notice the banging and screeching tires.

Later, Miss De Angelus changed her story. She knew the little car was there all right. She was just trying to shake it loose when stopped.

Miss De Angelus, who said the cars apparently became entangled as she drove away from a bar, was booked for drunken driving.

Miss. Man Killed When Car Stalls

EUPORA, Miss. (AP)—William E. Medders, 24-year-old native of Choctaw County, received fatal injuries last night when hit by a car while trying to start his stalled automobile.

Highway Patrolman L. W. Gammel of Europa said Medders' car had gone onto the wrong side of the road as he pushed it. Gammel said a car driven by William Sisson of Eupora, approaching from the other direction, dodged the Meders car, but hit Medders as he stepped from behind the car.

Gammel said Sissons was unable to avoid him.

Medders is survived by his widow.

GOT LYNCH REPORT —Mississippi Judge Sebe Dale, in whose court a county grand jury made its report on the lynching of Negro Mack Charles Parker, says he doesn't think the U. College Head Refuses To Heed Pleas

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Grayson Kirk took just six minutes Friday to give a "no" answer to Columbia University students urging reinstatement of TV quiz hoaxer Charles Van Doren to his teaching job.

Senior Lloyd Moglen, one of the leaders in getting up a petition of 650 students, mostly undergraduates, charged that Van Doren had been made the scapegoat of the quiz investigation because of his prominent literary name.

Moglen said he favored rehiring Van Doren despite the fact that he lied when he told a congressional committee by telegram and a grand jury in person that he had never received help in winning $129,000 on "21." Van Doren later confessed before the House committee.

"I'm a big enough boy to realize we all do a lot of lying," said Moglen. "It's too bad he (Van Doren) had to do it in front of 100 million people."

The university's Board of Trustees accepted Van Doren's resignation offer "immediately" last Monday shortly after he confessed the hoax to House investigators.

Two undergraduate students presented the petition to Kirk. They declined later to disclose what he had told them.

However, the university announced: "Dr. Kirk told the students that the matter of the resignation had received careful and deliberate consideration, that the case is now closed, and that there would be no further comment."

Van Doren had been an assistant professor of English since receiving his Ph.D. last spring.

Man Offering Money If Show Proved Fixed

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (UPI) — A former Buffalo, N.Y., taxicab driver who won $100,000 on two televised quiz shows offered $1,000 Friday to anyone who could prove he was on any "fixed" program.

The man, Tom Kane, won his money in 1957 and 1958 on "the $64,000 Question" and "The $64,000 Challenge."

Irish-born Kane, 52-year-old English language expert, said it bothered him that area residents who don't know him personally "believe I was part of this deceit."

He said it would be timely now if the television producers "who were in on the fixes came out with a list of the genuine winners, the people who didn't need the answers."

Senior Lloyd Moglen, one of the leaders in getting up a petition of 650 students, mostly undergraduates, charged that Van Doren had been made the scapegoat of the quiz investigation because of his prominent literary name.

Moglen said he favored rehiring Van Doren despite the fact that he lied when he told a congressional committee by telegram and a grand jury in person that he had never received help in winning $129,000 on "21." Van Doren later confessed before the House committee.

"I'm a big enough boy to realize we all do a lot of lying," said Moglen. "It's too bad he (Van Doren) had to do it in front of 100 million people."

The university's Board of Trustees accepted Van Doren's resignation offer "immediately" last Monday shortly after he confessed the hoax to House investigators.

Two undergraduate students presented the petition to Kirk. They declined later to disclose what he had told them.

However, the university announced: "Dr. Kirk told the students that the matter of the resignation had received careful and deliberate consideration, that the case is now closed, and that there would be no further comment."

Van Doren had been an assistant professor of English since receiving his Ph.D. last spring.

Man Offering Money If Show Proved Fixed

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (UPI) — A former Buffalo, N.Y., taxicab driver who won $100,000 on two televised quiz shows offered $1,000 Friday to anyone who could prove he was on any "fixed" program.

The man, Tom Kane, won his money in 1957 and 1958 on "the $64,000 Question" and "The $64,000 Challenge."

Irish-born Kane, 52-year-old English language expert, said it bothered him that area residents who don't know him personally "believe I was part of this deceit."

He said it would be timely now if the television producers "who were in on the fixes came out with a list of the genuine winners, the people who didn't need the answers."

'CATS POINT FOR LIONS

Rebs Eliminated By Bossier, 21-0

BOSSIER CITY, La. (Special) — Bossier High eliminated West Monroe from the district one triple-A title race, 21-0, here Friday night, and the result set up a district championship game between Bossier and Ouachita Parish High of Monroe next Friday night at Monroe.

Bossier's Bearcats have a 3-1 league record to shoot at Ouachita, unbeaten in four but tied by West Monroe. The loss last night was the second in league play for the Rebels.

A homecoming audience of some 2,000 fans braved near-freezing weather to watch the Bearcats completely dominate a game in which they led 14-0 at the half which ended with Bossier six inches away from the West Monroe goal.

Bossier's sudden show of power ran up 12 first downs to one for the Rebs in the first half, and rolled up 215 yards against 37 for the Rebs in the same time.

Rodney Hucklebridge, a 230-pound tackle-turned-fullback, pulverized the Rebel line, rushing for 121 yards in 15 carries, but he failed to score.

Halfback Bill McClung scored on runs of one and six yards. and picked up 106 yards in 17 carries.

Quarterback Dennis Kile, who scooted 23 yards on a bootleg play for Bossier's first touchdown, gathered 60 yards in ten tries with the ball, and halfback Bill Alley went 41 in five carries.

Bossier dominance of the game was stalled in the third quarter when quarterback Ronnie Farmer sparked late Rebel drives to Bossier's 12 and 24, but the invaders couldn't manage the needed yardage to score.

Farmer, who faked the ball well and bravely ran the option, gained 52 yards in eight carries. Buck Fox picked up 25 in five, and John Covington had 16 in five for the Rebs.

Roscoe Holcomb and Leon Miletello were outstanding on defense, making the heavy percentage of Reb tackles in the secondary as the Bearcats battered through the West Monroe line.

TERREBORNE, 27-16

HOUMA, La. (AP) — Terrebonne went on a first half scoring spree Friday night for a 27-16 Triple-A victory over Southeast District foe Baton Rouge.

PAYNE GAINS FOUR — Neville fullback Devone Payne (40) moves for four yards to the Baker 11 in the first quarter here last night. The play came in the Tigers' initial touchdown drive. Payne scored three plays later. Indentifiable Buff players are tackle Mike McIntyre (49) and end Eddy Wroten (51). (Staff photo by Bill Coleman)

PAYNE SCORES TWICE

Tigers Plaster Baker, 21-0, For Homecoming Triumph

By JIM CALHOUN
Staff Sports Writer

Neville's power-studded Bengals, racing toward the state Class AA football championship, bombed Baker for two quick touchdowns then toyed around with field goal practice for almost three quarters to thrash the Buffs, 21-0, before a chilled homecoming crowd here Friday night.

If final scores were ever misleading, this was the case. The Tigers built up a 14-0 lead in the first period then tossed scoring opportunities out the window with five field goal attempts, each coming on first down in potential touchdown position.

The victory was triumph No. 8 for Coach Bill Ruple's undefeated Tigers. Baker, evidently outclassed and outmanned after the first few minutes of play, dropped its seventh game in nine contests.

Fleet 125-pound Dooley Haddad, probably the best second string halfback in the state, turned in the big play of an otherwise dull game on the opening kickoff. Little Dooley, who carried the Tigers's season opening kickoff back 94 yards against West Monroe, almost battered himself this time, streaking 99 yards to apparent paydirt but a holding penalty wiped it off the boards.

Fullback Devone Payne carried five yards for the first Neville touchdown and Haddad broke away on a 34-yard scamper and another six points near the end of the initial period.

After Baker had moved 52 yards to the Neville 15 on the second half kickoff, the Tigers decied to add six more points and Payne climaxed a drive to the goal on a 14-yard burst.

Joe Cage, seeing very limited duty, upped his season scoring total to 83 points with 3 conversions.

Tackle Mickey Cox, a 226-pound rock in the Neville defense, attempted field goals of 10, 26 and 12 yards but missed each time. Cage took his turn from the 17 and 22 but couldn't find the mark.

Neville took the kickoff to start the game and Haddad took charge. Ralph Robert bobbled the kick on his 10 and Haddad picked it up on the 1. He swung wide to the left, reversed his field and romped 99 yards down the right sideline. The Tigers were guilty of holding and took over with a first down on their own 19.

With Cage, Payne and Neal Gunn eating up the yardage, it took the Bengals 12 plays to move to the Buff 5. Payne crashed over tackle for the remaining distance.

Ed Herren got off a 20 - yard punt after the Buffs couldn't go and Neville stormed back again.

Yards passing	18	31

Gunn picked up five yards to the 40, Cage got 3 and Payne added 3 down to the 34.

Then Haddad twiste off tackle, reversed his field and galloped 34 yards for the second score. Cage made it 14-0 with his conversion with 2:35 to go in the opening stanza.

Baker efforts were almost nil in the first half. The Buffs managed one first down and advanced only 40 yards on the ground. The nearest look the invaders got of the Tiger end zone was from the 46 after Cox' kickoff went out of bounds on their 40.

Obviously under orders from Ruple to keep the score respectable, Neville began its field goal game midway in the second period. After Bill Becton reeled off 14 yards for a first down on the Buff 3, Cox startled the crowd with a field goal attempt from the 10. It was no good.

Baker took possession on the 20 and fumbled immediately and Cox followed with a 26-yard try that failed.

Baker, which lost 6 fumbles during the game, booted the ball again just before the half ended. Sub quarterback Beverly Franks tossed to end Sperry Brown for a first down on the 11 and Cage missed another first down field goal try from the 17.

With fullback Johnny Sewell the big gainer, Baker put togeher its one strong gasp in the third quarter.

Starting a drive from their own 33, the Buffs moved to the Tiger 15 in 12 plays where they were stopped on fourth down. Sewell gained 46 yards in the march.

The Tigers then started another drive. With Gunn's 38-yard thrust leading the way, Payne ended it with a 14-yard touchdown jaunt.

Cage and Cox tried unsuccessful field goals in the fourth period but the Baker wall blocked both.

Sperry Brown, a second string end. was the defensive standout of the game. He broke through to drop quarterback Francis Stacey for 10 and 11 yard losses and defended against end sweeps well.

Haddad wound up the Tigers' top rusher with 70 yards in 7 cracks at the white-skirted line. The rest of the Neville gains went something like this: Cage, 40 yards in 7 tries; Gunn, 68 yards in 6 attempts; Payne, 56 yards in 9 rushes; Becton, 29 yards in 6 thrusts and Ralph Roberts, 24 yards in 6 carries.

Sewell was the game's leading runner with 93 yards in 21 workhorse rushes.

Neville moved for 317 yards on the ground, getting 204 of them in the first half.

night was the second in league play for the Rebels.

A homecoming audience of some 2,000 fans braved near-freezing weather to watch the Bearcats completely dominate a game in which they led 14-0 at the half which ended with Bossier six inches away from the West Monroe goal.

Bossier's sudden show of power ran up 12 first downs to one for the Rebs in the first half, and rolled up 215 yards against 37 for the Rebs in the same time.

Rodney Hucklebridge, a 230-pound tackle-turned-fullback, pulverized the Rebel line, rushing for 121 yards in 15 carries, but he failed to score.

Halfback Bill McClung scored on runs of one and six yards. and picked up 106 yards in 17 carries.

Quarterback Dennis Kile, who scooted 23 yards on a bootleg play for Bossier's first touchdown, gathered 60 yards in ten tries with the ball, and halfback Bill Alley went 41 in five carries.

Bossier dominance of the game was stalled in the third quarter when quarterback Ronnie Farmer sparked late Rebel drives to Bossier's 12 and 24, but the invaders couldn't manage the needed yardage to score.

Farmer, who faked the ball well and bravely ran the option, gained 52 yards in eight carries. Buck Fox picked up 25 in five, and John Covington had 16 in five for the Rebs.

Roscoe Holcomb and Leon Miletello were outstanding on defense, making the heavy percentage of Reb tackles in the secondary as the Bearcats battered through the West Monroe line.

TERREBORNE, 27-16

PAYNE SCORES TWICE

Tigers Plaster Baker, 21-0, For Homecoming Triumph

By JIM CALHOUN
Staff Sports Writer

Neville's power-studded Bengals, racing toward the state Class AA football championship, bombed Baker for two quick touchdowns then toyed around with field goal practice for almost three quarters to thrash the Buffs, 21-0, before a chilled homecoming crowd here Friday night.

If final scores were ever misleading, this was the case. The Tigers built up a 14-0 lead in the first period then tossed scoring opportunities out the window with five field goal attempts, each coming on first down in potential touchdown position.

The victory was triumph No. 8 for Coach Bill Ruple's undefeated Tigers. Baker, evidently outclassed and outmanned after the first few minutes of play, dropped its seventh game in nine contests.

Fleet 125-pound Dooley Haddad, probably the best second string halfback in the state, turned in the big play of an otherwise dull game on the opening kickoff. Little Dooley, who carried the Tigers's season opening kickoff back 94 yards against West Monroe, almost battered himself this time, streaking 99 yards to apparent paydirt but a holding penalty wiped it off the boards.

Fullback Devone Payne carried five yards for the first Neville touchdown and Haddad broke away on a 34-yard scamper and another six points near the end of the initial period.

After Baker had moved 52 yards to the Neville 15 on the second half kickoff, the Tigers decied to add six more points and Payne climaxed a drive to the goal on a 14-yard burst.

Joe Cage, seeing very limited duty, upped his season scoring total to 83 points with 3 conversions.

Tackle Mickey Cox, a 226-pound rock in the Neville defense, attempted field goals of 10, 26 and 12 yards but missed each time. Cage took his turn from the 17 and 22 but couldn't find the mark.

Neville took the kickoff to start the game and Haddad took charge. Ralph Robert bobbled the kick on his 10 and Haddad picked it up on the 1. He swung wide to the left, reversed his field and romped 99 yards down the right sideline. The Tigers were guilty of holding and took over with a first down on their own 19.

With Cage, Payne and Neal Gunn eating up the yardage, it took the Bengals 12 plays to move to the Buff 5. Payne crashed over tackle for the remaining distance.

Ed Herren got off a 20 - yard punt after the Buffs couldn't go and Neville stormed back again.

Yards passing	18	31

Gunn picked up five yards to the 40, Cage got 3 and Payne added 3 down to the 34.

Then Haddad twiste off tackle, reversed his field and galloped 34 yards for the second score. Cage made it 14-0 with his conversion with 2:35 to go in the opening stanza.

Baker efforts were almost nil in the first half. The Buffs managed one first down and advanced only 40 yards on the ground. The nearest look the invaders got of the Tiger end zone was from the 46 after Cox' kickoff went out of bounds on their 40.

Obviously under orders from Ruple to keep the score respectable, Neville began its field goal game midway in the second period. After Bill Becton reeled off 14 yards for a first down on the Buff 3, Cox startled the crowd with a field goal attempt from the 10. It was no good.

Baker took possession on the 20 and fumbled immediately and Cox followed with a 26-yard try that failed.

Baker, which lost 6 fumbles during the game, booted the ball again just before the half ended. Sub quarterback Beverly Franks tossed to end Sperry Brown for a first down on the 11 and Cage missed another first down field goal try from the 17.

With fullback Johnny Sewell the big gainer, Baker put togeher its one strong gasp in the third quarter.

Starting a drive from their own 33, the Buffs moved to the Tiger 15 in 12 plays where they were stopped on fourth down. Sewell gained 46 yards in the march.

The Tigers then started another drive. With Gunn's 38-yard thrust leading the way, Payne ended it with a 14-yard touchdown jaunt.

Cage and Cox tried unsuccessful field goals in the fourth period but the Baker wall blocked both.

Sperry Brown, a second string end, was the defensive standout of the game. He broke through to drop quarterback Francis Stacey for 10 and 11 yard losses and defended against end sweeps well.

Haddad wound up the Tigers' top rusher with 70 yards in 7 cracks at the white-skirted line. The rest of the Neville gains went something like this: Cage, 40 yards in 7 tries; Gunn, 68 yards in 6 attempts; Payne, 56 yards in 9 rushes; Becton, 29 yards in 6 thrusts and Ralph Roberts, 24 yards in 6 carries.

Sewell was the game's leading runner with 93 yards in 21 workhorse rushes.

Neville moved for 317 yards on the ground, getting 204 of them in the first half.

Tribe Seeks Second GSC Win Today

By JIM CALHOUN
Staff Sports Writer

Climbing from fifth to third place in the Gulf States Conference standings is a king-sized jump for one afternoon's work, but that's just what revitalized Northeast can do with a victory over Northwestern's aerial-conscious Demons at Natchitoches this afternoon.

Holding down third place in GSC play with a record of one win and one loss, Northwestern hosts the fifth place Redskins in a 2:30 homecoming encounter at Demon Stadium.

Northeast has had its share of problems, winning only two of seven meetings, but on the strength of last week's showing against Southwestern, Coach Jack Rowan's Tribesmen could provide the Demons with an interesting afternoon of combat.

In beating SLI, 34-20, Northeast put its highest point total of the season on the boards and showed indications of developing into the well-oiled precision eleven that finished third in the conference last year.

Jack Clayton's NSC bruisers like to throw the ball around in a wide-open brand of football and they have the personnel to do it.

All-GSC quarterback Dale Hoffpauir, who keeps his right arm in shape during the off-season by throwing the javelin, leads the club in passing with 29 bullseyes in 63 attempts for 431 yards and 2 touchdowns. Last season the 190-pound senior completed 61 per cent of his tosses for 867 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Clayton has installed a new gimmick in the Demon offensive, borrowing the "lonesome end" idea originated by Earl Blaik of Army last year.

The lonely terminals are Billy Jack Booth, two-time all-GSC selection, and George Smith, a West Monroe lad of considerable pass catching talent.

Booth heads conference pass receivers with 12 receptions and Smith, a three-year letterman, has 5 to his credit.

Halfback Ralph Conrad, another all-conference gridder, paces the ground offensive with 264 yards gained and a 4.9 average while running mate Troy Burch, seeking his initial letter, has 185 yards in 31 tries. Either Chuck DeSadier, a limited participant this campaign, or freshman Raymond Eddy will open at fullback.

But the Demon power doesn't stop with moving the ball. The line, buckled down by all-GSC tackle Bert Heckle, last week limited Colorado Mines to 70 yards rushing and 44 through the air. Colorado star Vince Tesone, the nation's total offense performer, was held to 100 yards under his per-game average.

Rowan, who served as assistant under Clayton before taking over the Tribe reins, says scouting reports indicate the Demons are the strongest team offensively on the schedule.

"It should be a wide-open game," observed Rowan, adding "The cold weather that has finally reached the state will improve the brand of play of every team."

The Indians have been drilling extensively under the lights this week in preparation for the Demons.'

Expected to lead the Tribe assault are halfback Levy Redden, GSC back of the week, and fullback Stewart Stover. Stover tops the team in rushing and Redden scored 14 points last weekend to take over the club leadership in that department.

Completing the invading backfield are halfback Jim Laudadio, a shifty breakaway runner, and quarterback Bob Randel, a better than average passer.

Curtis Cook, recently switched from signal caller to halfback, has looked well in practice and may get the call. In his only ball carrying role last week he scampered 61 yards for a touchdown.

Quarterback John O'Conner, halfback Joe Thrailkill and fullback Dave Barnes should see a big share of action.

The Indians boast what is probably the best end combination in the conference in 205-pound Pete Covington and 225-pound Charley Barnes. Both are outstanding pass receivers and Barnes is one of the best in breaking up end sweeps.

Covington has a 43.5 average on 12 punts.

In the center of the line Northeast has tackles Delmas Thorne and Billy Broom, guards Wally Cox and Alfred Feeney and center Perry Beavers. Thorne was nominated for lineman of the week honors for his agressive play against Southwestern.

Northeast has beaten SLI and Arlington, 26-21, and tumbled before Arkansas State, 15-0, Delta State, 14-13, East Texas, 20-0, McNeese, 21-6, and Southeastern, 27-6.

Evened up at 3-3-1, NSC topped McNeese, 19-6, Pensacola Navy, 17-10 and Colorado Mines, 37-0, lost to Lamar Tech, 19-0, Louisiana College, 8-0, and Louisana Tech 27-14, and tied Stephen F. Austin, 14-14, in the season opener.

After today's contest the Redskins travel to Jacksonville, Ala., for a meeting with Jacksonville State and close out the season Nov. 21 against Louisiana Tech at Ruston.

GREEN FOR NIEMAN

Orioles, Cards Agree On Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles and St. Louis Cardinals have agreed to swap outfielders but the deal will not be announced as official until the new inter - league three - week trading period begins Nov. 21.

The deal sends veteran Bob Nieman to the Cardinals in exchange for Gene Green, a 26-year-old flychaser who also has seen service as a catcher. Nieman, 32, batted .292 last season, hitting 21 home runs in 118 games, a number of them as a pinch hitter.

Green showed promise as a slugger in his rookie year, hitting .281 with 13 homer runs in 1958. But he was hit by the sophmore jinx last season and was optioned to Rochester where he spent most of the year. As a Cardinal, he appeared in only 31 games and batted only .189.

Nieman is a strong right-handed batter who dotes on left-handed pitching. He broke into the majors in sensational fashion on Sept. 4, 1951. In his first two times at bat with the St. Louis Browns, he smashed successive home runs off southpaw Maury McDermott of the Boston Red Sox. He has hit 118 home runs in eight big league seasons.

The Associated Press also learned Friday that the Milwaukee Braves have rejected a New York Yankee offer of veteran infielder Gil McDougald for right-handed pitcher Bob Buhl. The Braves, who have been mulling over this proposal since the World Series, have decided to retain the 11-year-old fire-baller on the advice of their new Manager Charlie Dressen.

Dressen has been an admirer of Buhl ever since Bob joined the Braves in 1953. He should be. Buhl owns a 20-9 lifetime mark against the Dodgers with whom he served as a manager and coach until he succeeded Fred Haney as Milwaukee manager last month.

The Braves, recognizing their need for an experienced second baseman should Red Schoendienst be unable to stage a comeback, are listening to an offer by Cleveland's Frank Lane for Billy Martin. The Indians reportedly are asking for a young outfielder in return. McDougald, who can play shortstop and third as well as second, is still Milwaukee's No. 1 target, however.

McDougald and Martin are the same age, 31. Mac batted .251 in 127 games last year. Martin hit .257 but appeared in only 73 games. Buhl was the Braves' third leading winner last season, winning 15 while losing 9. His 2.86 earned run average placed him third in that department among the regular pitchers.

The San Francisco Giants and Chicago Cubs reportedly are close to a deal that would bring Don Elston, right - handed relief pitcher to the California club in exchange for an outfielder. The Giants, according to the report, have offered the Cubs the choice of Felipe Alou or Leon Wagner.

Elston, 30, had a 10-8 record, all in relief. Alou, 24, batted .275 in 96 games and Wagner hit .225 in 87 games. The 25-year-old Wagner enjoyed a fine rookie year in 1958, hitting .317 with 13 home runs in 74 games.

Hogs Try To Break Jinx Against Rice

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas brings its title and bowl game hopes to Houston Saturday to meet a Rice Owl jinx that has been broken only once in 40 years.

The Razorbacks have defeated Rice in Houston only once since the Southwest Conference series began in 1919.

A victory is a must for the Razorbacks if they are to retain more than a mathematical chance of at least a share of the conference title. A defeat also would drop the nation's No. 16 team to a 5-3 record and virtually remove any bowl game hopes.

Rice has rescued nothing more than a pair of 13-13 ties in six games but still clings to slim mathematical possibilities in the title chase. The only conference losses so far by both teams were to undefeated Texas.

The Owls have been plagued all season by injuries and nationally ranked teams. The Owls still are seeking their first victory and Arkansas will be the sixth opponent in seven games to be ranked among the nation's top 20 teams. Three of them—Louisiana State, Texas and Clemson—still are in the top 10 and hold a combined 19-1 season record.

Arkansas is a five-point favorite and holds a wide margin in practically every department except pass defense and punting. The porkers bowed to Texas by a narrow 12-13 margin, while Rice lost to the Longhorns, 6-28.

Bates Undergoes Face Surgery

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — California's injured halfback Steve Bates underwent a two-hour operation Friday for fractured cheekbone and nose suffered last Saturday when he was injured by Southern California guard Mike McKeever. The surgery was termed successful.

The incident resulted in a bitter controversy as California officials charged McKeever with deliberate fouling.

Tigers Face Last Major Test Today

KNOXVILLE, Tenn, (AP) — Louisiana State meets upset-minded Tennessee here Saturday in the Tigers' last major hurdle en route to their second straight national football championship.

Top-ranked LSU is rated a Tennessee, No. 13 in the nation, its 20th consecutive victim. The Tigers haven't lost a game since late in 1957 when Mississippi State edged them, 14-7.

All 47,000 seats for the game have been sold for weeks.

Tennessee will be seeking to pull off its second big upset of stunned mighty Auburn 3-0 in the season opener, snapping at 24 Auburn's string of unbeaten games.

Tennessee is a fast aggressive outfit, and one that is especially adept in capitalizing on an opponent's errors.

Both teams boast dangerous offenses, but the game stacks up as a defensive battle with each playing for the breaks.

The big question: Can the Vols stop All-American Billy Cannon? The 210-pound senior halfback has been the heartbeat of LSU's winged T attack for three years.

To offset Cannon and the passing of quarterback Warren Rabb, Tennessee will rely on the running and passing of three wine tailbacks—Gene Etter, Billy Majors and Glenn Glass.

LSU hasn't yielded a touchdown this fall in compiling its 7-0 record. Rice, Miami and Mississippi each kicked a field goal against the Bayou Bengals.

Tennessee has a 4-1-1 mark. The Vols lost to Georgia Tech 14-7 and battled to a 7-7 deadlock with Alabama.

A victory would project Tennessee into the post-season bowl picture. LSU, which winds up its season against Mississippi State and Tulane, is expected to play the host role in the Sugar Bowl.

Tte Weather Bureau forecast fair skies and temperatures in the mid-40s by kickoff at 2 p.m., EST.

Curci Leads Miami Over Heels, 14-7

MIAMI (AP)—Fran Curci, Miami's tough and smart, 152-pound quarterback, scored one touchdown and broke up two North Carolina drives Friday night, sparking the Hurricanes in a 14-7 football victory over the Tar Heels.

The amazing little Curci got the first Miami touchdown on a one-yard sneak in the first period. His passes set up the other in the third period.

In between the scoring forays, Curci stopped one North Carolina threat by knocking down a pass at the goal line, checked another by intercepting a pass and rounded out a brilliant night by putting the Tar Heels in a hole at one stage with a 41-yard punt dead to the 7.

Curci broke away for a 24-yard run to the North Carolina 30 on a keeper in the first quarter. And when he then faked a field goal on fourth down at the 27, a pass interference call moved the Hurricanes to the one. Curci then sneaked over.

North Carolina's offense came alive in the second period as Joe Davies and Moyer Smith probed a weak spot in the left side of the Miami line. The Tar Heels moved 45 yards to the Miami 12, but Curci knocked down Ray Rarris' fourth down pass at the goal line.

The Tar Heels scored in the third after Jack Cummings passed 38 yards to Al Goldstein at the Miami 13. Cummings then threw 12 to Goldstein for the touchdown, capping a 70-yard drive.

Curci brought Miami right back to regain the lead at 14-7 just before the third quarter ended. His passes ate up the yardage to the 11, where he pitched out to Jim Vollenweider on an 11-yard touchdown play.

A fine defensive stand saved it for Miami in the fourth period. Power running by Don Klochak and Wade Smith and Cummings' passes to Goldstein carried North Carolina to a first down on the Hurricane nine. Four plays later, the Tar Heels were back at the 10.

Curci completed 11 of 18 passes for all of Miami's 99 aerial yards, and also led the Hurricanes in rushing with 53 yards in nine carries.

North Carolina, with both Cummings and Farris throwing, gained 142 in the air. Davies gained 44 yards to lead the Tar Heel rushing game, which netted 133 yards.

Tom Hinton On Canadian All-Star Team

WINNIPEG (AP) — A five-year guard with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who almost quit football this season because the pressure of business, was the only Canadian named Friday to the offensive team in the 1959 Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star selections.

Ed Kotowich was one of five members of the pennant-winning Bombers to be selected to the offensive squad, picked by coaches, sports writers and football broadcasters in the league cities. The Bombers also placed four players on the defensive team.

OFFENSIVE TEAM

DEFENSIVE TEAM

Rival Dallas Pro Sponsors Set For Fight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Vying Dallas pro football sponsors, fresh from a harmony talk crack-up, bowed their necks Friday and vowed they will not back down in favor of the other.

The city which failed to support the old Dallas Texans thus faces the prospect of possessing two teams, one in the veteran National Football League and the other in the fledgling American.

But Lamar Hunt, who founded the American, Friday predicted he will operate the only pro team in Dallas.

Not so, said Bedford Wynne, who with Clint Merchison Jr. plans to develop a National League team here under expansion plans.

Hunt said. "Despite all the talk, I seriously doubt the National League will have a team here next year. There are a lot of almost insurmountable problems that don't appear on the surface."

He added that one problem "is a stadium. We the American have first call on the Cotton Bowl and when we finish filling our schedule, there won't be much left for another team. That's just one of the things I'm talking about." He didn't state the other problems.

Wynne demurred, declaring, "I certainly feel we'll operate here. There are plenty of dates left after Lamar picks his schedule."

The Cotton Bowl seats 75,504. Wynne added, "Dallas will unquestionably have two teams if the American goes ahead with its plans."

The opposing forces came out of a Chicago meeting last Monlay without any solution. George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, suggested that Dallas and Houston be heard to the National next year and Minneapolis and Buffalo in 1961.

That would wipe out the American, since only Los Angeles, New York and Denver would be left.

Hunt and others in the American said the National must merge with all American League cities or the American would go its way alone.

ISTROUMA 39-0

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Mighty Istrouma pushed four touchdowns across in the first half Friday night and squelched Bogalusa 39-0 for its seventh victory in eight games.

Fullback Donnie Cotton and halfback Gene Achord each scored twice for Istrouma, Louisiana's second-ranked Triple-A team.

Two Important Contests Head Today's Grid Slate

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is Syracuse's "Sizeable Seven" really as big as it's touted? And will that exciting Northwestern team get its biggest push toward representing the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl? Stick around Saturday and you'll find the answers to these, and a few other pertinent football problems.

Unbeaten Syracuse (6-0) plays unbeaten Penn State (7-0) in the East's biggest game of the year, with the winner having a choice of four major bowls, and the loser not being forgotten either.

In the midwest Northwestern, unbeaten in six games and the nation's second - ranked team in the latest Associated Press poll, meets Wisconsin (5-1), ninth - ranked and having a severe case of "rose" fever.

These are Saturday's two big games. But top-ranked Louisiana State, after consolidating its position last week by beating Mississippi, can't rest against tough Tennessee. Texas also tries to take a step closer to the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl's host spot against Baylor.

Syracuse, ranked fourth, is the nation's top team in offense and defense, with credentials that show it to be third in rushing offense and tops in scoring with a 36.2 per game average. Most of this success is pinned to its starting line, appropriately named the "Sizeable Seven" (they're 6'3", 216 lbs. avg.).

Against this Penn State (No. 7) sends quarterback Richie Lucas, an offensive dynamo who has accounted for 673 passing with a 51.7 completion average, and 246 rushing with his deceiving roll - out pplays.

He also has an anonymous, though impressive cast of characters fronting him.

Northwestern has ace halfbacks Ron Burton and Ray Purdin in good shape for one of the few times this year. They will team with fullback Mike Stock and quarterback John Talley, the Wildcats latest two heroes. Wisconsin, with a loss to Purdue in conference play, must win or drop out of the Rose Bowl picture.

LSU will have a battle on its hands against Tennessee (4-1-1), which belted Auburn's 24 - game unbeaten string at the beginning of the season. The Vols could catch the Tigers (7-0) down a bit after its exciting 7-3 victory over Mississippi.

Texas, ranked third with a 7-0 mark, will have all operatives, except fullback Bernie Allen, to go against a Baylor team that has split six games, winning its last two.

Other major Saturday games include:

EAST: Villanova at Army, Bucknell at Colgate, Dartmouth at Columbia, Brown at Cornell, Boston U. at Holy Cross, Rutgers at Lafayette, VMI at Lehigh, Maryland at Navy.

SOUTH: Tulane vs. Alabama at Mobile, Presbyterian at Citadel, William & Mary at Davidson, North Carolina State at Mississippi Southern, George Washington at Richmond, Kentucky at Vanderbilt, South Carolina at Virginia, Furman at Wofford.

MIDWEST: Detroit at Dayton, Michigan at Illinois, Nebraska at Iowa State, Minnesota at Iowa, North Dakota State at Marquette, Purdue at Michigan State, Georgia Tech at Notre Dame, Indiana at Ohio State, Denver at Oklahoma State, Cincinnati at Tulsa, Houston at Wichita.

SOUTHWEST: Arkansas at Rice, SMU at Texas A&M, Virginia Tech at West Texas.

FAR WEST: Texas Tech at Arizona, Utah State at Colorado State U, Utah vs. Idaho at Boise, Montana at Montana State, Brigham Young at New Mexico, UCLA at Stanford.

SNEAD SINKS VITAL PUTT

Yanks Gain Lead In Ryder Action

By HAL WOOD
United Press International

PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI)—Capt. Sam Snead sank a pressure-packed 8-foot putt on the final hole to gain a tie for his team and give the United States a 2½-1½ lead over the British in the opening matches Friday of the Ryder Cup competition.

The British had a tie cinched for the day's Scotch foursome action by playing conservative golf on the last hole. But they elected to gamble and it cost them the match.

The team of Harry Weetman and Dave Thomas were 1-up going into the 36th hole and victory would have given the Britons a 2-2 break with the U. S. for the day.

Snead drove the second shot into the water by the green. All the British team had to do then was play it safe and pitch short for a half. But Weetman went for the green and also hit the water on the right side.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, playing with Snead, then approached eight feet from the pin and Thomas, approaching for the British, put his about nine feet away.

Weetman putted first and missed by a fraction of an inch, while the gallery of 3,000 watched breathlessly, Snead surveyed and then sank the putt for the half.

The other matches went like this.

Peter Alliss and Christy O'Connor, Britain, defeated Art Wall and Doug Ford, United States, 3-2.

Julius Boros and Dow Finsterwald, U.S., defeated Capt. Dai Rees and Ken Bousfield, Britain, 2-up.

Bob Rosburg and Mike Souchak, U.S., defeated Bernard Hunt and Eric Brown, 5-4.

Saturday the eight players on each team will meet in head-and-head matches to decide the winner of the cup now held by the British.

Wall and Ford ran into a buzz saw with the hot putting of Alliss and O'Connor.

Boros and Finsterwald had a rugged battle with Rees and Bousfield before the Britons gave up. It was all even after 33 holes.

The United States went 1-up on the 34th and closed out the match on the 36th when Bousfield hit into the water.

Rosburg and Souchak made a near-perfect team and after the first 20 holes were 8-up.

The match was closed out on the 32nd hole with pars.

Urges Firing Of Coach Teaching Dirty Football

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Bown called Friday for the firing of any coach who is teaching dirty football.

His statement grew out of a press conference discussion of the charges by the University of California of deliberate roughness by Mike McKeever, University of Southern California lineman.

Brown hastened to emphasize he was not making any charges himself. He said he didn't know enough about the case, involving injury to California halfback Steve Bates in the recent game with Southern California.

However, speaking generally, the governor said the question of dirty football is a very serious thing.

"If a coach teaches young men to play dirty," he said, "it's another step in the direction of cheating."

Brown said he would like to see the movies of the McKeever - Bates incident shown to the public to let the people make up their own mind. Southern Cal Coach Don Clark and McKeever have denied that the big lineman deliberately struck Bates.

Director Blasts Faculty Control Of Sports Policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indiana Athletic Director Frank E. Allen leveled a blast Friday at what he called the "creeping encroachment of faculty groups into the assigned duties" of Western Conference athletic directors.

Allen, a nationally known school administrator before coming to Indiana, addressed a football luncheon here a day before the Indiana-Ohio State football game.

Asked about a rumor that Big Ten athletic directors have been secretly seeking ways of securing more power in determining conference policy on such issues as participation in the Rose Bowl game, Allen replied:

"We've had separate and joint meetings, but they haven't been secret. We're merely seeking a more clearcut understanding of what athletic directors can do."

The athletic head said, "There can be no question but that the academic life of athletes should be under faculty supervision, but the fringe things should be under control of the athletic director."

Indians Invade NSC; Tennessee Tests LSU

Tribe Seeks Second GSC Win Today

By JIM CALHOUN
Staff Sports Writer

Climbing from fifth to third place in the Gulf States Conference standings is a king-sized jump for one afternoon's work, but that's just what revitalized Northeast can do with a victory over Northwestern's aerial-conscious Demons at Natchitoches this afternoon.

Holding down third place in GSC play with a record of one win and one loss, Northwestern hosts the fifth place Redskins in a 2:30 homecoming encounter at Demon Stadium.

Northeast has had its share of problems, winning only two of seven meetings, but on the strength of last week's showing against Southwestern, Coach Jack Rowan's Tribesmen could provide the Demons with an interesting afternoon of combat.

In beating SLI, 34-20, Northeast put its highest point total of the season on the boards and showed indications of developing into the well-oiled precision eleven that finished third in the conference last year.

Jack Clayton's NSC bruisers like to throw the ball around in a wide-open brand of football and they have the personnel to do it.

All-GSC quarterback Dale Hoffpauir, who keeps his right arm in shape during the off-season by throwing the javelin, leads the club in passing with 29 bullseyes in 63 attempts for 431 yards and 2 touchdowns. Last season the 190-pound senior completed 61 per cent of his tosses for 867 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Clayton has installed a new gimmick in the Demon offensive, borrowing the "lonesome end" idea originated by Earl Blaik of Army last year.

The lonely terminals are Billy Jack Booth, two-time all-GSC selection, and George Smith, a West Monroe lad of considerable pass catching talent.

Booth heads conference pass receivers with 12 receptions and Smith, a three-year letterman, has 5 to his credit.

Halfback Ralph Conrad, another all-conference gridder, paces the ground offensive with 264 yards gained and a 4.9 average while running mate Troy Burch, seeking his initial letter, has 185 yards in 31 tries. Either Chuck DeSadier, a limited participant this campaign, or freshman Raymond Eddy will open at fullback.

But the Demon power doesn't stop with moving the ball. The line, buckled down by all-GSC tackle Bert Heckle, last week limited Colorado Mines to 70 yards rushing and 44 through the air. Colorado star Vince Tesone, the nation's total offense performer, was held to 100 yards under his per-game average.

Rowan, who served as assistant under Clayton before taking over the Tribe reins, says scouting reports indicate the Demons are the strongest team offensively on the schedule.

"It should be a wide-open game," observed Rowan, adding "The cold weather that has finally reached the state will improve the brand of play of every team."

The Indians have been drilling extensively under the lights this week in preparation for the Demons.'

Expected to lead the Tribe assault are halfback Levy Redden, GSC back of the week, and fullback Stewart Stover. Stover tops the team in rushing and Redden scored 14 points last weekend to take over the club leadership in that department.

Completing the invading backfield are halfback Jim Laudadio, a shifty breakaway runner, and quarterback Bob Randel, a better than average passer.

Curtis Cook, recently switched from signal caller to halfback, has looked well in practice and may get the call. In his only ball carrying role last week he scampered 61 yards for a touchdown.

Quarterback John O'Conner, halfback Joe Thrailkill and fullback Dave Barnes should see a big share of action.

The Indians boast what is probably the best end combination in the conference in 205-pound Pete Covington and 225-pound Charley Barnes. Both are outstanding pass receivers and Barnes is one of the best in breaking up end sweeps.

Covington has a 43.5 average on 12 punts.

In the center of the line Northeast has tackles Delmas Thorne and Billy Broom, guards Wally Cox and Alfred Feeney and center Perry Beavers. Thorne was nominated for lineman of the week honors for his agressive play against Southwestern.

Northeast has beaten SLI and Arlington, 26-21, and tumbled before Arkansas State, 15-0, Delta State, 14-13, East Texas, 20-0, McNeese, 21-6, and Southeastern, 27-6.

Evened up at 3-3-1, NSC topped McNeese, 19-6, Pensacola Navy, 17-10 and Colorado Mines, 37-0, lost to Lamar Tech, 19-0, Louisiana College, 8-0, and Louisana Tech 27-14, and tied Stephen F. Austin, 14-14, in the season opener.

After today's contest the Redskins travel to Jacksonville, Ala., for a meeting with Jacksonville State and close out the season Nov. 21 against Louisiana Tech at Ruston.

GREEN FOR NIEMAN

Orioles, Cards Agree On Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles and St. Louis Cardinals have agreed to swap outfielders but the deal will not be announced as official until the new inter - league three - week trading period begins Nov. 21.

The deal sends veteran Bob Nieman to the Cardinals in exchange for Gene Green, a 26-year-old flychaser who also has seen service as a catcher. Nieman, 32, batted .292 last season, hitting 21 home runs in 118 games, a number of them as a pinch hitter.

Green showed promise as a slugger in his rookie year, hitting .281 with 13 homer runs in 1958. But he was hit by the sophmore jinx last season and was optioned to Rochester where he spent most of the year. As a Cardinal, he appeared in only 31 games and batted only .189.

Nieman is a strong right-handed batter who dotes on left-handed pitching. He broke into the majors in sensational fashion on Sept. 4, 1951. In his first two times at bat with the St. Louis Browns, he smashed successive home runs off southpaw Maury McDermott of the Boston Red Sox. He has hit 118 home runs in eight big league seasons.

The Associated Press also learned Friday that the Milwaukee Braves have rejected a New York Yankee offer of veteran infielder Gil McDougald for right-handed pitcher Bob Buhl. The Braves, who have been mulling over this proposal since the World Series, have decided to retain the 11-year-old fire-baller on the advice of their new Manager Charlie Dressen.

Dressen has been an admirer of Buhl ever since Bob joined the Braves in 1953. He should be. Buhl owns a 20-9 lifetime mark against the Dodgers with whom he served as a manager and coach until he succeeded Fred Haney as Milwaukee manager last month.

The Braves, recognizing their need for an experienced second baseman should Red Schoendienst be unable to stage a comeback, are listening to an offer by Cleveland's Frank Lane for Billy Martin. The Indians reportedly are asking for a young outfielder in return. McDougald, who can play shortstop and third as well as second, is still Milwaukee's No. 1 target, however.

McDougald and Martin are the same age, 31. Mac batted .251 in 127 games last year. Martin hit .257 but appeared in only 73 games. Buhl was the Braves' third leading winner last season, winning 15 while losing 9. His 2.86 earned run average placed him third in that department among the regular pitchers.

The San Francisco Giants and Chicago Cubs reportedly are close to a deal that would bring Don Elston, right - handed relief pitcher to the California club in exchange for an outfielder. The Giants, according to the report, have offered the Cubs the choice of Felipe Alou or Leon Wagner.

Elston, 30, had a 10-8 record, all in relief. Alou, 24, batted .275 in 96 games and Wagner hit .225 in 87 games. The 25-year-old Wagner enjoyed a fine rookie year in 1958, hitting .317 with 13 home runs in 74 games.

Hogs Try To Break Jinx Against Rice

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas brings its title and bowl game hopes to Houston Saturday to meet a Rice Owl jinx that has been broken only once in 40 years.

The Razorbacks have defeated Rice in Houston only once since the Southwest Conference series began in 1919.

A victory is a must for the Razorbacks if they are to retain more than a mathematical chance of at least a share of the conference title. A defeat also would drop the nation's No. 16 team to a 5-3 record and virtually remove any bowl game hopes.

Rice has rescued nothing more than a pair of 13-13 ties in six games but still clings to slim mathematical possibilities in the title chase. The only conference losses so far by both teams were to undefeated Texas.

The Owls have been plagued all season by injuries and nationally ranked teams. The Owls still are seeking their first victory and Arkansas will be the sixth opponent in seven games to be ranked among the nation's top 20 teams. Three of them—Louisiana State, Texas and Clemson—still are in the top 10 and hold a combined 19-1 season record.

Arkansas is a five-point favorite and holds a wide margin in practically every department except pass defense and punting. The porkers bowed to Texas by a narrow 12-13 margin, while Rice lost to the Longhorns, 6-28.

Bates Undergoes Face Surgery

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — California's injured halfback Steve Bates underwent a two-hour operation Friday for fractured cheekbone and nose suffered last Saturday when he was injured by Southern California guard Mike McKeever. The surgery was termed successful.

The incident resulted in a bitter controversy as California officials charged McKeever with deliberate fouling.

Tigers Face Last Major Test Today

KNOXVILLE, Tenn, (AP) — Louisiana State meets upset-minded Tennessee here Saturday in the Tigers' last major hurdle en route to their second straight national football championship.

Top-ranked LSU is rated a Tennessee, No. 13 in the nation, its 20th consecutive victim. The Tigers haven't lost a game since late in 1957 when Mississippi State edged them, 14-7.

All 47,000 seats for the game have been sold for weeks.

Tennessee will be seeking to pull off its second big upset of stunned mighty Auburn 3-0 in the season opener, snapping at 24 Auburn's string of unbeaten games.

Tennessee is a fast aggressive outfit, and one that is especially adept in capitalizing on an opponent's errors.

Both teams boast dangerous offenses, but the game stacks up as a defensive battle with each playing for the breaks.

The big question: Can the Vols stop All-American Billy Cannon? The 210-pound senior halfback has been the heartbeat of LSU's winged T attack for three years.

To offset Cannon and the passing of quarterback Warren Rabb, Tennessee will rely on the running and passing of three wine tailbacks—Gene Etter, Billy Majors and Glenn Glass.

LSU hasn't yielded a touchdown this fall in compiling its 7-0 record. Rice, Miami and Mississippi each kicked a field goal against the Bayou Bengals.

Tennessee has a 4-1-1 mark. The Vols lost to Georgia Tech 14-7 and battled to a 7-7 deadlock with Alabama.

A victory would project Tennessee into the post-season bowl picture. LSU, which winds up its season against Mississippi State and Tulane, is expected to play the host role in the Sugar Bowl.

Tte Weather Bureau forecast fair skies and temperatures in the mid-40s by kickoff at 2 p.m., EST.

Curci Leads Miami Over Heels, 14-7

MIAMI (AP)—Fran Curci, Miami's tough and smart, 152-pound quarterback, scored one touchdown and broke up two North Carolina drives Friday night, sparking the Hurricanes in a 14-7 football victory over the Tar Heels.

The amazing little Curci got the first Miami touchdown on a one-yard sneak in the first period. His passes set up the other in the third period.

In between the scoring forays, Curci stopped one North Carolina threat by knocking down a pass at the goal line, checked another by intercepting a pass and rounded out a brilliant night by putting the Tar Heels in a hole at one stage with a 41-yard punt dead to the 7.

Curci broke away for a 24-yard run to the North Carolina 30 on a keeper in the first quarter. And when he then faked a field goal on fourth down at the 27, a pass interference call moved the Hurricanes to the one. Curci then sneaked over.

North Carolina's offense came alive in the second period as Joe Davies and Moyer Smith probed a weak spot in the left side of the Miami line. The Tar Heels moved 45 yards to the Miami 12, but Curci knocked down Ray Rarris' fourth down pass at the goal line.

The Tar Heels scored in the third after Jack Cummings passed 38 yards to Al Goldstein at the Miami 13. Cummings then threw 12 to Goldstein for the touchdown, capping a 70-yard drive.

Curci brought Miami right back to regain the lead at 14-7 just before the third quarter ended. His passes ate up the yardage to the 11, where he pitched out to Jim Vollenweider on an 11-yard touchdown play.

A fine defensive stand saved it for Miami in the fourth period. Power running by Don Klochak and Wade Smith and Cummings' passes to Goldstein carried North Carolina to a first down on the Hurricane nine. Four plays later, the Tar Heels were back at the 10.

Curci completed 11 of 18 passes for all of Miami's 99 aerial yards, and also led the Hurricanes in rushing with 53 yards in nine carries.

North Carolina, with both Cummings and Farris throwing, gained 142 in the air. Davies gained 44 yards to lead the Tar Heel rushing game, which netted 133 yards.

Tom Hinton On Canadian All-Star Team

WINNIPEG (AP) — A five-year guard with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who almost quit football this season because the pressure of business, was the only Canadian named Friday to the offensive team in the 1959 Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star selections.

Ed Kotowich was one of five members of the pennant-winning Bombers to be selected to the offensive squad, picked by coaches, sports writers and football broadcasters in the league cities. The Bombers also placed four players on the defensive team.

OFFENSIVE TEAM

Rival Dallas Pro Sponsors Set For Fight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Vying Dallas pro football sponsors, fresh from a harmony talk crack-up, bowed their necks Friday and vowed they will not back down in favor of the other.

The city which failed to support the old Dallas Texans thus faces the prospect of possessing two teams, one in the veteran National Football League and the other in the fledgling American.

But Lamar Hunt, who founded the American, Friday predicted he will operate the only pro team in Dallas.

Not so, said Bedford Wynne, who with Clint Merchison Jr. plans to develop a National League team here under expansion plans.

Hunt said. "Despite all the talk, I seriously doubt the National League will have a team here next year. There are a lot of almost insurmountable problems that don't appear on the surface."

He added that one problem "is a stadium. We the American have first call on the Cotton Bowl and when we finish filling our schedule, there won't be much left for another team. That's just one of the things I'm talking about." He didn't state the other problems.

Wynne demurred, declaring, "I certainly feel we'll operate here. There are plenty of dates left after Lamar picks his schedule."

The Cotton Bowl seats 75,504. Wynne added, "Dallas will unquestionably have two teams if the American goes ahead with its plans."

The opposing forces came out of a Chicago meeting last Monlay without any solution. George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, suggested that Dallas and Houston be heard to the National next year and Minneapolis and Buffalo in 1961.

That would wipe out the American, since only Los Angeles, New York and Denver would be left.

Hunt and others in the American said the National must merge with all American League cities or the American would go its way alone.

ISTROUMA 39-0

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Mighty Istrouma pushed four touchdowns across in the first half Friday night and squelched Bogalusa 39-0 for its seventh victory in eight games.

Fullback Donnie Cotton and halfback Gene Achord each scored twice for Istrouma, Louisiana's second-ranked Triple-A team.

Two Important Contests Head Today's Grid Slate

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is Syracuse's "Sizeable Seven" really as big as it's touted? And will that exciting Northwestern team get its biggest push toward representing the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl? Stick around Saturday and you'll find the answers to these, and a few other pertinent football problems.

Unbeaten Syracuse (6-0) plays unbeaten Penn State (7-0) in the East's biggest game of the year, with the winner having a choice of four major bowls, and the loser not being forgotten either.

In the midwest Northwestern, unbeaten in six games and the nation's second - ranked team in the latest Associated Press poll, meets Wisconsin (5-1), ninth - ranked and having a severe case of "rose" fever.

These are Saturday's two big games. But top-ranked Louisiana State, after consolidating its position last week by beating Mississippi, can't rest against tough Tennessee. Texas also tries to take a step closer to the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl's host spot against Baylor.

Syracuse, ranked fourth, is the nation's top team in offense and defense, with credentials that show it to be third in rushing offense and tops in scoring with a 36.2 per game average. Most of this success is pinned to its starting line, appropriately named the "Sizeable Seven" (they're 6'3", 216 lbs. avg.).

Against this Penn State (No. 7) sends quarterback Richie Lucas, an offensive dynamo who has accounted for 673 passing with a 51.7 completion average, and 246 rushing with his deceiving roll - out pplays.

He also has an anonymous, though impressive cast of characters fronting him.

Northwestern has ace halfbacks Ron Burton and Ray Purdin in good shape for one of the few times this year. They will team with fullback Mike Stock and quarterback John Talley, the Wildcats latest two heroes. Wisconsin, with a loss to Purdue in conference play, must win or drop out of the Rose Bowl picture.

LSU will have a battle on its hands against Tennessee (4-1-1), which belted Auburn's 24 - game unbeaten string at the beginning of the season. The Vols could catch the Tigers (7-0) down a bit after its exciting 7-3 victory over Mississippi.

Texas, ranked third with a 7-0 mark, will have all operatives, except fullback Bernie Allen, to go against a Baylor team that has split six games, winning its last two.

Other major Saturday games include:

EAST: Villanova at Army, Bucknell at Colgate, Dartmouth at Columbia, Brown at Cornell, Boston U. at Holy Cross, Rutgers at Lafayette, VMI at Lehigh, Maryland at Navy.

SOUTH: Tulane vs. Alabama at Mobile, Presbyterian at Citadel, William & Mary at Davidson, North Carolina State at Mississippi Southern, George Washington at Richmond, Kentucky at Vanderbilt, South Carolina at Virginia, Furman at Wofford.

MIDWEST: Detroit at Dayton, Michigan at Illinois, Nebraska at Iowa State, Minnesota at Iowa, North Dakota State at Marquette, Purdue at Michigan State, Georgia Tech at Notre Dame, Indiana at Ohio State, Denver at Oklahoma State, Cincinnati at Tulsa, Houston at Wichita.

SOUTHWEST: Arkansas at Rice, SMU at Texas A&M, Virginia Tech at West Texas.

FAR WEST: Texas Tech at Arizona, Utah State at Colorado State U, Utah vs. Idaho at Boise, Montana at Montana State, Brigham Young at New Mexico, UCLA at Stanford.

SNEAD SINKS VITAL PUTT

Yanks Gain Lead In Ryder Action

By HAL WOOD
United Press International

PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI)—Capt. Sam Snead sank a pressure-packed 8-foot putt on the final hole to gain a tie for his team and give the United States a 2½-1½ lead over the British in the opening matches Friday of the Ryder Cup competition.

The British had a tie cinched for the day's Scotch foursome action by playing conservative golf on the last hole. But they elected to gamble and it cost them the match.

The team of Harry Weetman and Dave Thomas were 1-up going into the 36th hole and victory would have given the Britons a 2-2 break with the U. S. for the day.

Snead drove the second shot into the water by the green. All the British team had to do then was play it safe and pitch short for a half. But Weetman went for the green and also hit the water on the right side.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, playing with Snead, then approached eight feet from the pin and Thomas, approaching for the British, put his about nine feet away.

Weetman putted first and missed by a fraction of an inch, while the gallery of 3,000 watched breathlessly, Snead surveyed and then sank the putt for the half.

The other matches went like this.

Peter Alliss and Christy O'Connor, Britain, defeated Art Wall and Doug Ford, United States, 3-2.

Julius Boros and Dow Finsterwald, U.S., defeated Capt. Dai Rees and Ken Bousfield, Britain, 2-up.

Bob Rosburg and Mike Souchak, U.S., defeated Bernard Hunt and Eric Brown, 5-4.

Saturday the eight players on each team will meet in head-and-head matches to decide the winner of the cup now held by the British.

Wall and Ford ran into a buzz saw with the hot putting of Alliss and O'Connor.

Boros and Finsterwald had a rugged battle with Rees and Bousfield before the Britons gave up. It was all even after 33 holes.

The United States went 1-up on the 34th and closed out the match on the 36th when Bousfield hit into the water.

Rosburg and Souchak made a near-perfect team and after the first 20 holes were 8-up.

The match was closed out on the 32nd hole with pars.

Urges Firing Of Coach Teaching Dirty Football

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Bown called Friday for the firing of any coach who is teaching dirty football.

His statement grew out of a press conference discussion of the charges by the University of California of deliberate roughness by Mike McKeever, University of Southern California lineman.

Brown hastened to emphasize he was not making any charges himself. He said he didn't know enough about the case, involving injury to California halfback Steve Bates in the recent game with Southern California.

However, speaking generally, the governor said the question of dirty football is a very serious thing.

"If a coach teaches young men to play dirty," he said, "it's another step in the direction of cheating."

Brown said he would like to see the movies of the McKeever - Bates incident shown to the public to let the people make up their own mind. Southern Cal Coach Don Clark and McKeever have denied that the big lineman deliberately struck Bates.

Director Blasts Faculty Control Of Sports Policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indiana Athletic Director Frank E. Allen leveled a blast Friday at what he called the "creeping encroachment of faculty groups into the assigned duties" of Western Conference athletic directors.

Allen, a nationally known school administrator before coming to Indiana, addressed a football luncheon here a day before the Indiana-Ohio State football game.

Asked about a rumor that Big Ten athletic directors have been secretly seeking ways of securing more power in determining conference policy on such issues as participation in the Rose Bowl game, Allen replied:

"We've had separate and joint meetings, but they haven't been secret. We're merely seeking a more clearcut understanding of what athletic directors can do."

The athletic head said, "There can be no question but that the academic life of athletes should be under faculty supervision, but the fringe things should be under control of the athletic director."

Tulane Frosh Down 'Bama By 13-0 Count

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tulane frosh put together a scoring march in the second half and went on to a 13-0 victory over the Alabama freshman team Friday night.

Fumbles kept the Tulane attack under control the first half. But the New Orleans school took the opening kickoff and drove 70 yards in 14 plays for the first touchdown. Darrell Wright went the last four yards and Mike Matoian added the conversion.

The Tulane yearlings, making their first start, got their second touchdown midway in the fourth quarter. Tulane guard William Meyer set it up by recovering a fumble by Alabama's Gary Martin.

Martin dropped a punt after signalling for a fair catch. Meyer fell on the ball on the Alabama 25. Four plays later Sammp Camp bulled into the end zone from four yards out.

Camp was the leading carrier, picking up 76 yards on 13 carries. Richardson Williamson led Alabama with 25 yards on nine carries.

Tulane had a 13-12 edge in first downs and outgained Alabama 226-109 in rushing yardage.

Something To Give In Lake Charles Game

LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) — Something is going to have to give here Saturday night when the McNeese State College Cowboys return to their home grounds for a football date with the Florence (Ala.) State Lions.

The rapidly-improving young Cowboys will be pinning their hopes for victory on a rugged defense, while Florence banks on a high-geared single wing offense that has produced two or more touchdowns in each of its seven games this season.

McNeese will be risking a three-game winning streak and a 4-2 season's record against the Lions. Florence has an almost identical record of four victories, two defeats and a tie. Their game Saturday will get underway at 8 p.m. in Lake Charles High School's stadium.

Florence's losses have been to two of the strongest small college teams in the South. Last weekend the Lions bowed 34-26 to Middle Tennessee State, the nation's fifth-ranked team. The other defeat was suffered at the hands of Southeastern Louisiana College, 28-21. Southeastern is a title contender in the Gulf States Conference, of which McNeese is a member.

The Lions are led by tailback Max Burleson, a 185-pound junior, who is among the nation's total offense leaders. Burleson has been gaining yardage at a better than 150-yards per game clip.

Against Middle Tennessee, he completed eight of 10 passes for 125 yards including one touchdown, ran for one score and had a 45-yard run from scrimmage.

Homecoming Slated Today At Grambling

GRAMBLING, La. (Special) — Back in their natural habitat after four weeks on the road, the Grambling Tigers are re-arranging forces for Saturday's homecoming game with Texas Southern University.

Saturday's skirmish is expected to attract a crowd of 14,000.

It shapes up as an unpleasant experience for the home forces who have not given a reassuring demonstration of poise under game conditions since the 42-20 victory over Wiley three weeks ago.

Texas Southern will arrive here under a full head of steam.

Coach Alex Durley's stalwarts worked their wing and spread formations for a 21-0 victory over Wiley last week and have looked downright impressive in their last four games.

The game will be preceeded by a colorful parade depicting a nursery rhyme theme. Twenty-five floats from alumni and campus organizations have been built for the parade. The parade will start in Ruston and culminate in Grambling.

Carroll Bulldogs In Homecoming Victory, 27 To 6

The Carroll High Bulldogs of Monroe climaxed homecoming activities by defeating Peabody of Alexandria, 27-6, last night before an estimated 4,000 fans at Carroll Stadium.

Anderson Cheffin galloped 15 yards for the Bulldogs' first touchdown in the first four minutes, and Caughrill led 20-0 at the half.

Joseph Long scores two Carroll touchdowns, and Minister Williams added one.

Peabody's touchdown was tallied by Earl Grinsted.

Carroll meets Morehouse of Bastrop next Friday in Bastrop.

Olympic Trainer Cares For LSU

By JACK OWENS

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — It's nice to think about going to Rome next August as an Olympic trainer.

But for now Marty Broussard is enjoying his job taking care of the physical problems of Billy Cannon, the Chinese Bandits and the rest of Louisiana State's top-ranked football team.

When an LSU player has a physical problem, chances are Marty will see it first and take care of it.

But along with the cuts and bruises, Marty gets other problems: studies, girl friends, families, and some imagined woes. Marty is something of a chaplain and father confessor, pop away from home, domestic counselor and team friend rolled into one.

A great big lineman will come in with a little problem," Marty said. "And some of the boys have real tough ones.

"Their frame of mind is important. You listen to them, and help them out all you can.

"If their problem is a little one, you make it sound big. If it's a big one, you make it seem little," Marty said.

One of the players Marty didn't wish to name, he said, "The girls just drive him crazy — he sure has his problems."

Marty, a youthful, dark-haired Louisianan Acadian, is quietly serious about his national champion football players. His fame has spread throughout the area. He has given good-will advice to an estimated 250 high school and junior high school athletes.

He served as trainer for the U.S. team in the Pan-American Games at Mexico City in 1954. He missed the last Olympics in Australia because it fell during football season. But he has an appointment as one of a dozen or more trainers for the Rome Olympics next fall.

"You can't compare national championship football with international competition," Marty said. "You don't get to know the Olympic boys like here. It's more impersonal.

"Nothing can compare really to the Olympics. If one of our (LSU) boys has something wrong, he just doesn't play that week. But if one of the U.S. team boys has something wrong, that's very serious. He gives everything he's got for his country. It's like going to war."

"It's like Billy Cannon, he never quits," Marty said, referring to the all-America fullback's outstanding punt return that won a 7-3 victory over Ole Miss.

You get to know your college boys over the years, Marty said, and you take a special, personal interest in them.

Marty is Godfather to Max Fugler, the LSU center who made all-America last year.

Financial obstacles kept Marty from becoming a physician. Now he has resolved to be the best athletic trainer possible — and he's found it a satisfying pursuit.

AT HAMMOND

Tech, SLC Fight For League Lead

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech and Southeastern Louisiana will take the field at Hammond Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in a battle for the Gulf States Conference football leadership.

Both teams are undefeated in conference competition and are strong contenders for the league crown. Tech's Bulldogs will lay a 3-0 GSC record on the line while the SLC Lions will go into the fray without a setback in two loop tilts.

A win for the Tech eleven Saturday will assure the Canines, who were co-champions of the GSC in 1958, of at least a tie for the coveted Gulf States title again this fall.

If the Techmen are able to turn back the rugged Southeasterners this week they will then have an opportunity to nail down the championship outright with a win over fast-improving Northeast State in a game at Ruston on Nov. 21. However, taking both these final conference contests is a big order and is easier said than done.

To add to the troubles of the Techsters, Saturday will be Southeastern's annual homecoming day and the Lions are always a tough crew to handle when they play before the old grads.

The SLC team looked good last week as it trounced Tampa University by a 33-8 score for the Lions fourth win of the season. Coach Stan Galloway has some fast runners who got away for some long TD dashes against Tampa of 73, 34 and 31 yards.

Tech and Southwestern boast three of the top five scorers in the GSS. SLC's halfback C. J. Alexander currently tops the league scoring with a total of 36 points. J. W. Slack, Tech halfback, is now the fourth best point maker in the loop with 25 and Bulldog halfback Paul Hynes is fifth with 24.

In all games played the Techmen have scored more points and have had less scored against them than any other GSC eleven. In six tilts the Bulldogs have rolled up a total of 124 points and have had only 40 marked up by the opposition. Southeastern's offense is right on the heels of the Canines, however, with 122 scored by the Lions. SLC's defense has allowed 95 points by six foes.

Tech and Southeastern have met only one common opponent this fall. The Lions took an 18-13 tussle from Southwestern Louisiana while the Bulldogs turned back the same Southwestern eleven by a 21-13 score.

Southeastern's C. J. Alexander is certainly a fellow the Techsters will have to watch if they expect to stop the SLC running attack. The "Black Knight" is currently averaging 7.7 yards per carry in rushing and is one of the top ground gainers in the GSC. Two other Lion halfbacks who are averaging more than five per run are Bill Ladner and Jerry Schwab.

Tech will try to counter the fast Lion backfield with its own attack led by halfbacks Slack and Hynes and fullback Max Rudd. In the first five frays this fall the two Bulldog halfbacks have gone for six yards each time they have toted the ball while Rudd has run for 5.0 per attempt.

Both teams have gone for good yardage through the air this season. SLC's leading passer is quarterback Elbert Harris who has completed 11 of 28 thrown for 239 yards and three TDs. Tech's best passing yardage has been racked up by quarterback Johnny Hudson who in five games has connected on 15 of 28 tosses good for 196 yards and three scores.

Last fall the Techmen came out on the long end of a 10-6 score over the Lions in a game played at Ruston.

Tulane Frosh Down 'Bama By 13-0 Count

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tulane frosh put together a scoring march in the second half and went on to a 13-0 victory over the Alabama freshman team Friday night.

Fumbles kept the Tulane attack under control the first half. But the New Orleans school took the opening kickoff and drove 70 yards in 14 plays for the first touchdown. Darrell Wright went the last four yards and Mike Matoian added the conversion.

The Tulane yearlings, making their first start, got their second touchdown midway in the fourth quarter. Tulane guard William Meyer set it up by recovering a fumble by Alabama's Gary Martin.

Martin dropped a punt after signalling for a fair catch. Meyer fell on the ball on the Alabama 25. Four plays later Sammp Camp bulled into the end zone from four yards out.

Camp was the leading carrier, picking up 76 yards on 13 carries. Richardson Williamson led Alabama with 26 yards on nine carries.

Tulane held a 13-12 edge in first downs and outgained Alabama 226-109 in rushing yardage.

Something To Give In Lake Charles Game

LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) — Something is going to have to give here Saturday night when the McNeese State College Cowboys return to their home grounds for a football date with the Florence (Ala.) State Lions.

The rapidly-improving young Cowboys will be pinning their hopes for victory on a rugged defense, while Florence banks on a high-geared single wing offense that has produced two or more touchdowns in each of its seven games this season.

McNeese will be risking a three-game winning streak and a 4-2 season's record against the Lions. Florence has an almost identical record of four victories, two defeats and a tie. Their game Saturday will get underway at 8 p.m. in Lake Charles High School's stadium.

Florence's losses have been to two of the strongest small college teams in the South. Last weekend the Lions bowed 34-26 to Middle Tennessee State, the nation's fifth-ranked team. The other defeat was suffered at the hands of Southeastern Louisiana College, 28-21. Southeastern is a title contender in the Gulf States Conference, of which McNeese is a member.

The Lions are led by tailback Max Burleson, a 185-pound junior, who is among the nation's total offense leaders. Burleson has been gaining yardage at a better than 150-yards per game clip.

Against Middle Tennessee, he completed eight of 10 passes for 125 yards including one touchdown, ran for one score and had a 45-yard run from scrimmage.

Homecoming Slated Today At Grambling

GRAMBLING, La. (Special) — Back in their natural habitat after four weeks on the road, the Grambling Tigers are re-arranging forces for Saturday's homecoming game with Texas Southern University.

Saturday's skirmish is expected to attract a crowd of 14,000.

It shapes up as an unpleasant experience for the home forces who have not given a reassuring demonstration of poise under game conditions since the 42-20 victory over Wiley three weeks ago.

Texas Southern will arrive here under a full head of steam.

Coach Alex Durley's stalwarts worked their wing and spread formations for a 21-0 victory over Wiley last week and have looked downright impressive in their last four games.

The game will be preceeded by a colorful parade depicting a nursery rhyme theme. Twenty-five floats from alumni and campus organizations have been built for the parade. The parade will start in Ruston and culminate in Grambling.

Carroll Bulldogs In Homecoming Victory, 27 To 6

The Carroll High Bulldogs of Monroe climaxed homecoming activities by defeating Peabody of Alexandria, 27-6, last night before an estimated 4,000 fans at Carroll Stadium.

Anderson Cheffin galloped 15 yards for the Bulldogs' first touchdown in the first four minutes, and Carroll led 20-0 at the half.

Joseph Long scores two Carroll touchdowns, and Minister Williams added one.

Peabody's touchdown was tallied by Earl Grinsted.

Carroll meets Morehouse of Bastrop next Friday in Bastrop.

Olympic Trainer Cares For LSU

By JACK OWENS

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — It's nice to think about going to Rome next August as an Olympic trainer.

But for now Marty Broussard is enjoying his job taking care of the physical problems of Billy Cannon, the Chinese Bandits and the rest of Louisiana State's top-ranked football team.

When an LSU player has a physical problem, chances are Marty will see it first and take care of it.

But along with the cuts and bruises, Marty gets other problems: studies, girl friends, families, and some imagined woes. Marty is something of a chaplain and father confessor, pop away from home, domestic counselor and team friend rolled into one.

A great big lineman will come in with a little problem," Marty said. "And some of the boys have real tough ones.

"Their frame of mind is important. You listen to them, and help them out all you can.

"If their problem is a little one, you make it sound big. If it's a big one, you make it seem little," Marty said.

One of the players Marty didn't wish to name, he said, "The girls just drive him crazy — he sure has his problems."

Marty, a youthful, dark-haired Louisiana Acadian, is quietly serious about his national champion football players. His fame has spread throughout the area. He has given good-will advice to an estimated 250 high school and junior high school athletes.

He served as trainer for the U.S. team in the Pan-American Games at Mexico City in 1954. He missed the last Olympics in Australia because it fell during football season. But he has an appointment as one of a dozen or more trainers for the Rome Olympics next fall.

"You can't compare national championship football with international competition," Marty said. "You don't get to know the Olympic boys like here. It's more impersonal.

"Nothing can compare really to the Olympics. If one of our (LSU) boys has something wrong, he just doesn't play that week. But if one of the U.S. team boys has something wrong, that's very serious. He gives everything he's got for his country. It's like going to war."

"It's like Billy Cannon, he never quits," Marty said, referring to the all-America fullback's outstanding punt return that won a 7-3 victory over Ole Miss.

You get to know your college boys over the years, Marty said, and you take a special, personal interest in them.

Marty is Godfather to Max Fugler, the LSU center who made all-America last year.

Financial obstacles kept Marty from becoming a physician. Now he has resolved to be the best athletic trainer possible — and he's found it a satisfying pursuit.

Tech, SLC Fight For League Lead

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech and Southeastern Louisiana will take the field at Hammond Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in a battle for the Gulf States Conference football leadership.

Both teams are undefeated in conference competition and are strong contenders for the league crown. Tech's Bulldogs will lay a 3-0 GSC record on the line while the SLC Lions will go into the fray without a setback in two loop tilts.

A win for the Tech eleven Saturday will assure the Canines, who were co-champions of the GSC in 1958, of at least a tie for the coveted Gulf States title again this fall.

If the Techmen are able to turn back the rugged Southeasterners this week they will then have an opportunity to nail down the championship outright with a win over fast-improving Northeast State in a game at Ruston on Nov. 21. However, taking both these final conference contests is a big order and is easier said than done.

To add to the troubles of the Techsters, Saturday will be Southeastern's annual homecoming day and the Lions are always a tough crew to handle when they play before the old grads.

The SLC team looked good last week as it trounced Tampa University by a 33-8 score for the Lions fourth win of the season. Coach Stan Galloway has some fast runners who got away for some long TD dashes against Tampa of 73, 34 and 31 yards.

Tech and Southwestern boast three of the top five scorers in the GSS. SLC's halfback C. J. Alexander currently tops the league scoring with a total of 36 points. J. W. Slack, Tech halfback, is now the fourth best point maker in the loop with 25 and Bulldog halfback Paul Hynes is fifth with 24.

In all games played the Techmen have scored more points and have had less scored against them than any other GSC eleven. In six tilts the Bulldogs have rolled up a total of 124 points and have had only 40 marked up by the opposition. Southeastern's offense is right on the heels of the Canines, however, with 122 scored by the Lions. SLC's defense has allowed 95 points by six foes.

Tech and Southeastern have met only one common opponent this fall. The Lions took an 18-13 tussle from Southwestern Louisiana while the Bulldogs turned back the same Southwestern eleven by a 21-13 score.

MISS SIGMA WESTROM, Monroe visitor from Everett, Washington, pours coffee for Mrs. Ernest Richard, Mrs. Aubrey Pyburn of Shreveport, and Mrs. Clyde Brown, at a party in the Brown home Thursday morning.

Clyde R. Brown Home Is Scene Of Morning Coffee

Mrs. Fred Westrom, Mrs. Caroline Smith and Mrs. Jack Terzia entertained with a morning coffee Thursday in the lovely home of Mrs. Clyde R. Brown.

Greeting the guests as they arrived were Mrs. Terzia, wearing a white wool sheath dress, and Mrs. Smith, in a dark, wine-red wool. The entrance hall was appointed with a mass arrangement of chrysanthemums in shades varying from rose to Burgundy.

Mrs. Westrom, wearing a beige winter cotton, received in the living room, and introduced guests to her aunt, Miss Signa Westrom of Evereet, Washington. A large arrangement of specimen white chrysanthemums, spikes of umbrella plant, eleagnus, and smaller white chrysanthemums was used on the piano. Smaller bouquets of fall flowers were used on the other tables in the living room.

The library, with its panelled walls, gold carpet and mahogany furnishings was enhanced by the yellow and white chrysanthemums used in a brass container on the desk. Bouquets of magnolia leaves graced the tables at each end of the sofa.

The dining room table had as its centerpiece an antique silver and crystal epergne filled with red roses. Alternating at the tea and coffee services were Mrs. Aubrey Pyburn of Shreveport and Mrs. Fensky Terzia, mother and mother-in-law of Mrs. Jack Terzia, Mrs. Ernest Richard, mother of Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill. Assisting in the courtesies was Mrs. Clyde Brown, mother of Mrs. Westrom.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Use Kindness To Win Over Husband's Sister

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I went steady with a boy two years. He was of a different religion and three years older.

On my 17th birthday my father promised me a college education if I would break up with Wally. I agreed.

To be honest, I'm happy I'm not going steady because I had been missing a lot of good times. I used to think I'd die if I didn't see Wally every night. Now I know I can live without him.

The trouble is my mother is so happy I'm not going steady that she's fixing me up with anyone and everyone. She has arranged blind dates with guys she has never ever seen. I've drawn some real spooks. I never know what will appear at the door and I'm sick of it.

She says it's good for a girl's personality to go with all sorts of fellows. I am fed up. Please help me. — VICTIM

Dear Victim: Tell your mother you appreciate what she's trying to do BUT no future commitments, please.

Nothing is so unattractive (and damaging) as a mother who is pushing her daughter socially. I hope Mom will lay off.

* * *

Dear Ann: Although we had to get married four years ago because I was pregnant, we made a good start and are happy. His parents are wonderful to me and his brother is a peach. The trouble is his sister Amy who is 30 and unmarried.

When I told him we had to marr in a hurry his major concern was "How will I tell Amy." (He never even mentioned his folks.)

Whenever we plan a party he automatically includes Amy. On Sunday when we go to his folks for dinner he sits with his arm around Amy and doesn't know I'm alive. When I complain he says I'm insecure and don't understand sister-brother devotion because I never had any brothers. Please tell me how to handle this. I feel as if I'm on thin ice. —DISTURBED.

Dear Disturbed: When you can't beat EM, YOU JOIN 'EM. You'll never break up this combination without doing irreparable damage to yourself. So be sweet to Amy, build her up, include her willingly, and tell your husband he has a great sister.

The friendly approach will build bridges instead of fences. You'll probably wind up genuinely liking Amy when she reacts favorably to your kindness.

* * *

Dear Ann: I feel stupid asking this question because I should probably know the answer, but I don't.

My wife passed away two months ago. She was only 33. I took off my wedding band a few days after the funeral and it is still in my drawer.

A few days ago my wife's sister took me to the side after church and said, "You could have waited at least until Mary's body was cold before you started to shop around for a new wife." I was shocked and asked her what she meant by that. She said I should still be wearing my wedding band, and she was hurt to see that I had taken it off so soon.

Is she right? Please tell me. I am ——VERY DISTURBED

Dear Disturbed: She was wrong and it was cruel of her to attack you in such a manner.

A widower is not married. You were right to put your wedding ring in the drawer.

Are you going steady: Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Respect For Authority Begins In The Home

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When parents have themselves been reared by rough, uncouth and unmannerly parents, they tend to carry these patterns of behavior over into their daily lives. It is as natural for them to act this way as it is for better bred persons to be soft-voiced; to treat their children as beloved persons, not as nuisances, and to avoid harsh punishment not because it is the "thing to do," but because it represents the way they feel toward their children. dren.

One of my readers writes, "Dear Mrs. Eldred: Why not devote a column to the loud-mouthed fathers and mothers who yell and scream and get tantrums and act like children instead of adults?

"How can they ever expect that their children will learn to be polite and mannerly? Or, is this the way they themselves were brought up? No doubt their children will act the same unless they come to hate such behavior and discover that children do not need to be reared that way."

MRS. ELDRED'S COMMENTS

If the two parents both come from such homes the chance sare great that they will repeat these patterns of conduct in their own home.

But better ways of acting are not advised merely to teach a child better manners, though this is certainly a by-product of growing up in a family which provides an example of good manners. The aftermath of treating children as if they were reasonable beings, of offering the same respect for their personalities as the parents expect of them; is that they grow up with a respect for all authorities which make them law-abiding, moral, happy individuals. If they grow accustomed to discount the yelling and screaming of their parents, they also learn to slough off the advice of teachers, the church, employers, etc. The respect for authority begins in the home.

ARE IMMATURE

Yes, these persons are immature, for one of the attributes of the grown-up person is the capacity to act like an adult. This means reasonable control of his emotions. If he still throws tantrums, he is at the two to three-year level of behavior, no matter what his age.

The unhappy part of such a discussion is that the persons who need it most will seldom read or listen to any advice which runs counter to what they feel like doing. The only persons over whom they have any real control are small children, and like petty tyrants everywhere they want to throw their weight around. They don't want this privilege taken from them.

If you would like to have our 10-cent booklet "Obedience and Discipline" send 10 cents and a stamped, self-adressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer in care of this newspaper.

Barnes Slated For Government Postal Slot

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Bert B. Barnes of Holladay, Tenn., was appointed Friday to be acting Assistant Postmaster General of the United States.

Barnes, a veteran career post office employe, will head the department's Bureau of Operations.

After a career in the postal service in Tennessee dating back to 1920 when he became a clerk at the Memphis Post Office, Barnes came to Washington in 1953 to serve as director of post office services.

DIVORCE

LONDON (AP)—A wife whose husband spanked her because she didn't cook supper for him 90 minutes before midnight has been given a divorce.

Judge John Flowers said of the case brought by Jean Wood, 27, against John Wood, 35: "No reasonable man would expect his wife to get supper for him at that time of night. And if he did expect it —he wouldn't get it."

Scientist Says U.S. TV Empty

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the nation's top scientists says Americans are getting "an overdose of soap operas, shoot 'em-up westerns and glib-tongued emcees of empty entertainment" on television and radio.

Dr. Alan Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, made the remark today in asking for more programs that appeal to the mind as distinguished from those that appeal to the emotions. He said there are notable—though all too infrequent — examples of such.

His appeal was part of a broader plea for the press, radio and television to arouse in the public a sense of urgency and determination to improve education generally and to increase its support of scientific research and development in the face of Soviet advances.

He spoke at a luncheon meeting of a symposium on "The mass media and the image of science," sponsored by the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation.

Asserting that all the mass media "have underestimated the desire of our citizens to learn and know," Waterman appealed for the press, radio and TV to help scientists and educators "in fashioning the kind of climate that will help to produce creative activity and solid intellectual achievement" not alone in science but in art, literature, music and other pursuits.

"We will not create a true climate for excellence in an atmosphere in which dishpan hands, yellow teeth, and an unpleasant breath are regarded as disasters," Waterman said.

"Nor are we likely to harvest a healthy crop of excellence in a land where athletes and night club entertainers are held in higher esteem than scholars, professional men and women, and the teachers of our children."

FLOODS

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Reports from the North Sumartran capital, Medan, said recent floods in the area destroyed hundreds of acres of rice fields and left 345,000 persons homeless.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Use Kindness To Win Over Husband's Sister

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I went steady with a boy two years. He was of a different religion and three years older.

On my 17th birthday my father promised me a college education if I would break up with Wally. I agreed.

To be honest, I'm happy I'm not going steady because I had been missing a lot of good times. I used to think I'd die if I didn't see Wally every night. Now I know I can live without him.

The trouble is my mother is so happy I'm not going steady that she's fixing me up with anyone and everyone. She has arranged blind dates with guys she has never ever seen. I've drawn some real spooks. I never know what will appear at the door and I'm sick of it.

She says it's good for a girl's personality to go with all sorts of fellows. I am fed up. Please help me. — VICTIM

Dear Victim: Tell your mother you appreciate what she's trying to do BUT no future commitments, please.

Nothing is so unattractive (and damaging) as a mother who is pushing her daughter socially. I hope Mom will lay off.

* * *

Dear Ann: Although we had to get married four years ago because I was pregnant, we made a good start and are happy. His parents are wonderful to me and his brother is a peach. The trouble is his sister Amy who is 30 and unmarried.

When I told him we had to marr in a hurry his major concern was "How will I tell Amy." (He never even mentioned his folks.)

Whenever we plan a party he automatically includes Amy. On Sunday when we go to his folks for dinner he sits with his arm around Amy and doesn't know I'm alive. When I complain he says I'm insecure and don't understand sister-brother devotion because I never had any brothers. Please tell me how to handle this. I feel as if I'm on thin ice. —DISTURBED.

Dear Disturbed: When you can't beat EM, YOU JOIN 'EM. You'll never break up this combination without doing irreparable damage to yourself. So be sweet to Amy, build her up, include her willingly, and tell your husband he has a great sister.

The friendly approach will build bridges instead of fences. You'll probably wind up genuinely liking Amy when she reacts favorably to your kindness.

* * *

Dear Ann: I feel stupid asking this question because I should probably know the answer, but I don't.

My wife passed away two months ago. She was only 33. I took off my wedding band a few days after the funeral and it is still in my drawer.

A few days ago my wife's sister took me to the side after church and said, "You could have waited at least until Mary's body was cold before you started to shop around for a new wife." I was shocked and asked her what she meant by that. She said I should still be wearing my wedding band, and she was hurt to see that I had taken it off so soon.

Is she right? Please tell me. I am ——VERY DISTURBED

Dear Disturbed: She was wrong and it was cruel of her to attack you in such a manner.

A widower is not married. You were right to put your wedding ring in the drawer.

* * *

Are you going steady: Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Respect For Authority Begins In The Home

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When parents have themselves been reared by rough, uncouth and unmannerly parents, they tend to carry these patterns of behavior over into their daily lives. It is as natural for them to act this way as it is for better bred persons to be soft-voiced; to treat their children as beloved persons, not as nuisances, and to avoid harsh punishment not because it is the "thing to do," but because it represents the way they feel toward their children. dren.

One of my readers writes, "Dear Mrs. Eldred: Why not devote a column to the loud-mouthed fathers and mothers who yell and scream and get tantrums and act like children instead of adults?

"How can they ever expect that their children will learn to be polite and mannerly? Or, is this the way they themselves were brought up? No doubt their children will act the same unless they come to hate such behavior and discover that children do not need to be reared that way."

MRS. ELDRED'S COMMENTS

If the two parents both come from such homes the chance sare great that they will repeat these patterns of conduct in their own home.

But better ways of acting are not advised merely to teach a child better manners, though this is certainly a by-product of growing up in a family which provides an example of good manners. The aftermath of treating children as if they were reasonable beings, of offering the same respect for their personalities as the parents expect of them; is that they grow up with a respect for all authorities which make them law-abiding, moral, happy individuals. If they grow accustomed to discount the yelling and screaming of their parents, they also learn to slough off the advice of teachers, the church, employers, etc. The respect for authority begins in the home.

ARE IMMATURE

Yes, these persons are immature, for one of the attributes of the grown-up person is the capacity to act like an adult. This means reasonable control of his emotions. If he still throws tantrums, he is at the two to three-year level of behavior, no matter what his age.

The unhappy part of such a discussion is that the persons who need it most will seldom read or listen to any advice which runs counter to what they feel like doing. The only persons over whom they have any real control are small children, and like petty tyrants everywhere they want to throw their weight around. They don't want this privilege taken from them.

First case is slated for Wednesday. Dorothy Robinson McCall is suing Equitable Assurance Society.

Trials also are slated for the weeks of November 16 and 23.

Farm Bureau Membership Drive Starts

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Parish Farm Bureau has kicked off its annual membership drive here. The group, at a Thursday meeting, heard Paul Ransom of Monroe, second vice president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau.

Sixteen young parish farmers pledged their full support toward building a stronger organization by joining the membership committee and putting on a special drive.

The Bureau organization will be divided into teams and points will be awarded for new members and renewal of old memberships.

Team winners will be awarded a new Stetson hat. The drive starts today and will continue through Nov. 14.

TEAMS

Team members are for ward 1. Jimmy Ben Rowland and Howard Cooper; from ward two are Jack Cox and San Quan Tarver; Bill Hart and Kline Ledbetter; Pete Lowery and Billy Long; for wards two and four are Leland McKinny and Dan Greer; for wards three and four are Wilbur Hilstead and Chester Ray Ellis; for ward 4, Grady Dale Warner and Huey Gregory; for ward seven, Morrelle McGuffee and H. M. McKee; and for ward 8, Jimmy Poole, Audrey Tullos, Roy Clark, Joe Maxwell and Douglas Maxwell.

The regular membership committee is composed of chairman W. D. McSween, Rt. 1, Columbia; Jack McClanahan, Columbia; Uriah Youngblood, Rt. 1, Columbia; E. C. McGhee, Rt. 1. Columbia; and J. B. Fluitt, Rt. 1, Columbia.

In his talk, Ransom stressed the importance of the united efforts of farmers. He pointed out that farmers think alike regardless of the size of his farm, the area or the region in which he lives.

Farmers are striving for progress, better living conditions for everyone, better schools and churches, and higher production. According to Ransom, farmers in both the north and south think alike on state's rights.

Interesting to the members was the fact that a century ago 9 young men out of every 10 became engaged in farming, while today only one young man out of ten chooses farming as a profession.

Grand Opera Appearance Set In Area

RUSTON (Special) — A new concept in opera presentation will be unfolded to the members of the Louisiana Tech Concert Association November 9, when the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater presents a performance of Verdi's "Rigoletto" at Howard Auditorium. The Goldovsky organization, now on its fifth cross-country tour, has been demonstrating with spectacular success for the past thirteen seasons that the lyric masterpieces of Verdi and Puccini can be enjoyably presented as absorbing drama or sparkling comedy rather than boring displays of vocal fireworks, concert officials said. Their texts, intelligently translated into English and beautifully performed by young American artists who have been thoroughly trained in acting as well as singing, now make grand opera enjoyable and understandable entertainment for a vast new audience.

MASTERPIECE

Verdi's "Rigoletto," one of the most universally loved of all grand opera masterpieces, is the Goldovsky Company's largest-scale and most successful production to date — "A concerted performance that had all opera souls marveling," as the Boston American's critic put it.

With a company of fifty, full orchestra and chorus, this fresh, young, but seasoned group of artists will present two performances in Howard Auditorium, Monday, November 9; the student performance at 2:15 p.m. and the public membership performance at 8:00 p.m. Doors will open one-half hour before curtain time. The Tech Music Department Opera Workshop will handle admissions at the matinee with Mary Elaine Wallace in charge. Theta Upsilon Sorority will officiate at the evening performance with Sandra Kelly in charge.

Six Teen-Agers Held After Grave-Robbing

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Six boys 17 and 18 years old, were under arrest Friday, accused of desecrating a grave for "kicks."

Detective Lt. Earl Potts said two boys admitted opening a grave after a night of drinking beer.

Bones of a 7-year-old girl, buried in 1920 in a cemetery since abandoned, and part of a casket were strewn about.

"You adults just don't understand our juvenile problems," said one of the boys.

Investigators Take Note Of Alleged Bribes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House investigators took official note Friday of a songwriters' complaint that certain radio disc jockeys were being bribed with "payola" for plugging music on the air.

The charge, a possible basis for investigation by the subcommittee which looked into quiz show rigging, was made in an Oct. 29, 1959, letter from tunesmith Burton Lane, president of the American Guild of Authors and Composers.

"Commercial bribery has become a prime factor in determining what music is played on many broadcast programs and what musical records the public is surreptitiously induced to buy," Lane said.

He enclosed a lengthy supporting memorandum based largely on quotes from Variety, Billboard, Cashbox and other trade publications.

Lane said the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and Federal Trade Commission (FTC) both had been aware of the charges for a long time but had failed to do anything about them.

Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) placed the material in the hearing record after announcing a broad new investigation of broadcasting practices.

The memo included reports charging that "deejays" for various stations around the country were given money, commissions on record sales and even a Cadillac for playing certain songs on their shows and boosting record sales. One report said "there are millions of dollars of payola every year."

Turkish Police Detain Officer After Wreck

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—Turkish police Friday temporarily detained an American Army officer who ran his car into an honor guard of Turkish troops Thursday night, injuring 21 soldiers, at least nine seriously.

Lt. Col. Allen Morrison, 44, of Mattoon, Ill., was turned over to U.S. military authorities after Turkish officials finished a preliminary interrogation.

Morrison was quoted as saying he was unable to see the Turkish detachment because of the glare of headlights from an oncoming vehicle.

Members of the honor guard did not confirm the claim of another car passing.

CHARGED

Monroe police last night charged Bennie Roberts, 26, of New Orleans, with concealed weapon, draw and display and vagrancy.

Roberts, whose address was listed as New Orleans, was arrested at 710 Wood St.

Man Thought Doomed Is Much Better

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — Seven months ago Joseph W. Mayerle, 37, was sent home from the hospital believed doomed by lung cancer. "We figured he would die within a few weeks," one physician aid.

Friday, all trace of the cancer has disappeared, the doctor reported.

The same physician said "we got real excited" when Mayerle, given up as a hopeless case, walked into the U.S. Veterans Administration hospital in Seattle "looking like a new man."

The doctors do not say that Joe might not have a recurrence of cancer. "It takes at least five years to be reasonably sure," the physician said.

Mayerle thought he had a bad cold last winter, went to his doctor "for a shot of something that would help," and wound up on the operating table at the Veterans Hospital. He was a Navy Man in World War II.

"They operated in March and the lung was so bad they could not take it out," said Mayerle. "They sewed me up and gave me X-ray treatments for four weeks. The doctors had told me it looked hopeless and said the X-rays couldn't begin to clear it up—just make me feel better."

"When I walked into the Veterans Hospital a few weeks ago the doctors acted like they'd seen a ghost."

The first thought at the hospital, the physician said, was "the possibility of a fault diagnosis." Joe's X-rays were compared carefully, even to checking of bone structure.

"An outside chance existed that the samples might have been mixed," another doctor said. "We checked each slide made from samples taken weeks before and after the operation. There were none which could have been confused with Mayerle's case."

Joe, whose family has increased by the arrival of Joe Jr., three weeks ago, has no idea why he got well.

"Except," he says, "that I wanted to. I ate good, got lots of fresh air and sun.

"And some real help from the Great Boy Upstairs."

HOME, HAPPY AND HEALTHY — Joseph W. Mayerle, Bremerton, plays with his 3-week-old son, Joe, Jr., whom doctors had predicted Mayerle would never live to see. Doctors discovered Mayerle had lung cancer last April. It was so bad they gave him less than a months to live. Now, to the amazement of physicians, Mayerle has gained 30 pounds and doctors can't find a trace of the cancer. Cuban Papers Quote Writer Hemingway

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban newspapers quote writer Ernest Hemingway as saying he has "never believed any information published abroad against Cuba."

Hemingway came back to Cuba Thursday after spending several months in Europe. He has a country home about eight miles southeast of Havana at the village of San Francisco de Paulo.

Repeated efforts by American reporters to reach him there Thursday night and Friday for comment were unsuccessful. Havana newspapers quoted him as saying in an airport interview: "I sympathize with the Cuban government and all our difficulties. I never want to be considered a Yankee."

Many Readers Without Papers

BOSTON (UPI)—More than one million readers in the nation's sixth largest metropolitan area were without newspapers Friday because of a printers' strike.

Typographers walked out Thursday night against nine Boston newspapers which ceased publication. It was the second newspaper strike here in 27 months.

Members of Local 13 of the International Typographical Union (ITU) walked off the job, after voting 561-511 to strike at a noisy meeting in a Boston hotel.

State and federal officials scheduled no new talks, but Gov. Foster Furcolo met late Friday with state Commissioner of Labor and Industry John A. Callahan and Chairman William F. Fallon of the state Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, to seek means of reopening negotiations.

Judge Barham Speaker For Teacher Meet

Judge Mack E. Barham of Bastrop was featured speaker at the meeting of the Fifth District Visiting Teachers in the Ouachita Parish School Board office, it was announced yesterday. Introducing Judge Barham was Darrell Foreman of Morehouse Parish.

Judge Barham advanced ideas on solving the problem of youth.

He described the Bastrop Student Court, pointing out that a court official is elected from each grade, seven through twelve. The student court rules on traffic violations and hands out stiff sentences, according to the judge.

URGED VIGIL

Judge Barham urged the teachers to watch or early signs of delinquency and work toward its prevention. He called attention to the fact that the court not only hands out punishment, but also serves as a resource for other agencies.

The speaker cited the Guidance Program which is being incorporated into some school systems as the best means of preventing juvenile delinquency, since a guidance counselor may help spot and prevent problems by working with Visiting Teachers and Probation Officers.

Following Judge Barham's talk was a question and answer period.

During the business session, Kermit Walters, program chairman, read an invitation from Dean Holtzclaw of Northeast State College for the group to hold one meeting as guests of the College. The association voted to accept.

President Asks Americans To Voice Thanks

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower asked his fellow Americans Friday to voice thanks on Thanksgiving Day for their bounties and to pray for divine guidance in "the great unfinished task of achieving peace among men and nations."

In the usual proclamation setting aside the last Thursday of this month, Nov. 26, as Thanksgiving Day, Eisenhower said the present eyar has been one of "progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people, and the government of the United States of America, are dedicated."

"We rejoice," he said, "in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among men and among nations. We earnestly hope that forbearance, understanding, and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere."

Since this is the 150th year of Abraham Lincoln's birth, Eisenhower said it was fitting to use Lincoln's words—in the historic proclamation of 1863 which established the annual observance of Thanksgiving — to express again gratitude for "fruitful fields," for "national strength and vigor" and for "singular deliverances and blessings."

Attorney Sues NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman attorney sued NBC for $1,200,000 the "Twenty-One" television quiz Friday, claiming her defeat on show was by fraud—and it had damaged her reputation and deprived her of prize money.

Ethel A. Davidson, formerly an assisstant U.S. district attorney and defeated by Herbert Stempel, a big-money winner who originated public charges the show was rigged.

Miss Davidson received a $100 consolation prize.

Charging she had been "fraudulently eliminated," Miss Davidson said in her suit that if the contest had been fair, her ability would have enabled her to "win at least $100,000."

She also said she had been "unfairly subjected to intense humiliation and disgrace," subpoenaed before a New York grand jury probing quiz show rigging, and her reputation and income damaged.

In addition to NBC, she also named as defendants Jack Barry and Daniel Enright, producers of the show; Barry Enright Productions, Inc., Pharmaceutical, Inc., and Stempel.

Now a practicing attorney on Wall Street, Miss Davidson claimed she has "amassed a tremendous fund of knowledge extending far beyond the law."

"Had plaintiff been permitted to engage in honest competition on the program, her ability would have enabled her to win a cash prize of at least $100,000," she added.

She was defeated, and wrongly deprived of that money, she said, because Stempel "received answers to the questions" in advance.

She said she also had been "fraudulently induced to spend considerable time, effort and energy in submitting to tests and interviews in appearing as a contestant."

Noe Says He Is For Nurse School Here

Gubernatorial candidate James A. Noe stumped throught the Monroe area Friday, telling the people, if elected, one of his first projects would be a school of nursing at Northeast State College.

Noe said, "Our great state and city hospitals sorely need trained nurses to care for the increasing number of patients. But, because these young ladies have to travel so far for proper training, many of them decide against the nursing profession as a career."

At the same time, Noe pledged to do everything possible to better the facilities and curriculum at Northeast's school of agriculture.

WILDLIFE

Turning to the subject of wildlife, Noe pointed to his past records in office. He said that he was one of the first champions of hunting, fishing and outdoor recreation and that this alone attracted many tourists to the state.

He said that through his efforts the first federal fish hatchery came to the state in 1938. The fish hatchery is located at Natchitoches.

Gov. Earl K. Long, candidate for lieutenant governor on Noe's ticket, backed up Noe's words on education, stating that he personally raised more than $500,000 for LSU from an earlier tax levied on the race tracks.

HOPE

"We'd like to make it possible for everyone that wants a college education to get one without paying a penny. But that takes money and somebody's got to put it up."

Then Long lashed out at his opposition, saying "there are some candidates in this race who are self - centered and selfish.

"They think the only people who are entitled to a college education are the blue - bloods, and the rest of the poor people shouldn't even have a right to breathe."

Former Leader In France Tells About Visits

PARIS (AP) — Andre le Troquer, ex-president of the French National Assembly, testified Friday that a teen-aged girl had twice been in his apartment in the Assembly building, but he denied anything irregular occurred.

The girl testified she had been in the 75-year-old Le Troquer's apartment numerous times and that dreadful things had happened.

Le Troquer and the girl, unidentified, appeared before an examining magistrate investigating what has come to be known as l'Affaire Roses Ballets.

Earlier this year Le Troquer and several other prominent men were charged with what was termed attacks on the public morals for allegedly throwing wild parties with teen-aged girls in Paris apartments or lavish villas outside town.

To Frenchmen a rose ballet means nontheatrical dancing or erotic behavior. The reason for the rose connection is obscure.

Investigation of Le Troquer's role in the case has been held up because he has been ill.

Le Troquer has said he was indicted at his own request so that he could clear his name by having full access to the facts.

Man Thought Doomed Is Much Better

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — Seven months ago Joseph W. Mayerle, 37, was sent home from the hospital believed doomed by lung cancer. "We figured he would die within a few weeks," one physician aid.

Friday, all trace of the cancer has disappeared, the doctor reported.

The same physician said "we got real excited" when Mayerle, given up as a hopeless case, walked into the U.S. Veterans Administration hospital in Seattle "looking like a new man."

The doctors do not say that Joe might not have a recurrence of cancer. "It takes at least five years to be reasonably sure," the physician said.

Mayerle thought he had a bad cold last winter, went to his doctor "for a shot of something that would help," and wound up on the operating table at the Veterans Hospital. He was a Navy Man in World War II.

"They operated in March and the lung was so bad they could not take it out," said Mayerle. "They sewed me up and gave me X-ray treatments for four weeks. The doctors had told me it looked hopeless and said the X-rays couldn't begin to clear it up—just make me feel better."

"When I walked into the Veterans Hospital a few weeks ago the doctors acted like they'd seen a ghost."

The first thought at the hospital, th› physician said, was "the possibility of a fault diagnosis." Joe's X-rays were compared carefully, even to checking of bone structure.

"An outside chance existed that the samples might have been mixed," another doctor said. "We checked each slide made from samples taken weeks before and after the operation. There were none which could have been confused with Mayerle's case."

Joe, whose family has increased by the arrival of Joe Jr., three weeks ago, has no idea why he got well.

"Except," he says, "that I wanted to. I ate good, got lots of fresh air and sun.

"And some real help from the Great Boy Upstairs."

HOME, HAPPY AND HEALTHY — Joseph W. Mayerle, Bremerton, plays with his 3-week-old son, Joe, Jr., whom doctors had predicted Mayerle would never live to see. Doctors discovered Mayerle had lung cancer last April. It was so bad they gave him less than a months to live. Now, to the amazement of physicians, Mayerle has gained 30 pounds and doctors can't find a trace of the cancer. Economists See Hike Of Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Goverment economists predicted Friday that prices may jump on a variety of consumer items unless the idle steel mills get back into production in a few days.

They said the 115-day old strike is reaching the point where it will create shortages that will force prices up—or at least cause them to remain firm—instead of declining seasonally.

These experts ssid they have not been able to pinpoint any inflationary movements as yet in prices of steel or steel products. They also have found no evidence of a steel "gray market."

However, they said the time is ripe for such movements to start showing up in the economy if the law of supply and demand works as it has during past shortages of basic commodities.

Officials emphasized they see no danger of run-away inflation. One said there has been no panic buying, indicating most consumers believe the strikers soon will be ordered back to work for 80 days under the Taft-Hartley law.

Some of the expected price rises also may be only temporary until steel output hits pre-strike levels.

One economist cited new automobiles prices. He said they may not rise because of the marathon steel walkout. But dealers can be expected to reduce their discounts on cash sales or give smaller trade-ins if they have no trouble selling cars.

However, Harold E. Churchill, president of Studebaker - Packard Corp., said the strike already had led to a gray market in steel. He said some steel users were paying suppliers premium prices.

Churchill did not say whether he meant auto firms. But he said Studebaker - Packard has bought no steel in the gray market. He said his firm had enough steel to maintain its regular production schedule until Dec. 18 or longer.

The strike also puts pressure on the buyer. He may not shop as carefully or bargain as hard when he realizes that auto output has been cutback because of shortages of steel.

Economists said the same psychology applies to other consumer goods such as stoves, refrigerators and home appliances.

They also said there may be hidden price increases. For example, a bobby pin manufacturer could put 25 pins in a package instead of 30 without reducing the price.

Using substitutes or imported steel is no answer to the manufacturer who is hard up for supplies. Either course almost inevitably pushes up the cost which then is passed on to the consumer.

A local iron works, for example, is substituting corrugated steel for hard to get flat steel in making heating ducts. The corrugated metal costs more and must be flattened before using. But the firm said contractors are willing to pay a premium to keep operating.

The economists also predicted a cutback in extra services to consumers if the strike continues much longer. Merchants could eliminate free delivery of appliances to reduce the dent in their profit margins.

Panama Leader Says Police Spurred Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. Arturo Morgan Morales, charge d'affaires of Panama, insisted Friday that Canal Zone police precipitated attacks on the U.S. Embassy by tearing down his country's flag.

The State Department Thursday denied U.S. responsibility for the attacks. Department spokesman Lincoln White said the United States had done nothing to touch off the attacks.

Morgan Morales said the Panamanian charges were supported by eyewitness accounts of U.S. newsmen, who reported that Canal Zone police, employed by the United States, tore down a Panamanian flag tied to a lamp post by students who entered the zone.

The diplomat also told a reporter that the demonstrations were the result of long-standing differences between Panama and the United States over interpretation of the 1955 treaty governing canal zone relations.

Red Germans Bowing To Flag Order

BERLIN (UPI)—The East German Communists bowed to a "get tough" western stand Friday and kept their hammer and compass flags out of West Berlin.

The Communists, beginning a three-day celebration of the 42nd anniversary of Russia's Bolshevik Revolution, raised their flags at noon in the Soviet sector of this divided city.

But faced with the prospect of concerted action by 30,000 West Berlin police and allied troops, the Communists made no attempt to use the flagpoles on the 74 elevated railway stations they operate in West Berlin.

To make sure they would not sneak the flags up under cover of darkness, West Berlin police placed two men on all-night duty at each of the stations.

The Communists hoisted their flags over West Berlin's stations on Oct. 7. the 10th anniversary of the East German Regime, and caught West Berliners by surprise.

A few police tried to pull them down but they were fought off by Communist railway workers. Several policemen were injured.

This time the West was prepared and let the Communists know it.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett went personally to the Soviet commandant in East Berlin and told him that West Berlin police would take down any Communist flags that were raised.

He warned that if there were violence and the peace and security of the city were jeopardized, the 11,000 French, British and U.S. troops stationed here would go to the support of the 19,000 West Berlin policemen.

California Solon Eyes Appointment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif) said Friday his House Government Operations Committee staff is studying a possible conflict of interest in appointment of a Convair scientist to a high Pentagon administrative post.

Charles Louis Critchfield, head of Convair's research program, was named Thursday to head the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

"My staff is looking into the picture to find out what all the facts are," said Holifield, who is visiting constituents here.

The announcement by Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy said Critchfield will serve as ARPA chief without compensation, but will remain on Convair's payroll under an arrangement by which he will have nothing to do with Convair contracts.

Holifield said this arrangement is based on a 1951 law enacted to allow the government to obtain consultants who wouldn't be required to sever connections with industry, as required by conflict-of-interest statutes.

"Critchfield's appointment puts in question the wisdom of obtaining a man who is in one of the defense industries—Convair—and placing him in the administration of an agency which allocates contracts running into hundreds of millions of dollars, while still drawing a substantial salary from the industry, which is working on government contracts," Holifield said.

Holifield said that as far as he knows Critchfield is the first administrator obtained under the 1951 law. "It was enacted as an emergency measure to secure consultants— not administrators," he said.

As for Critchfield's appointment "It is legal." said Holifield; "There is no charge of illegality. And there is no disparaging charge against Dr. Critchfield, who is very honorable and honest. I certainly don't mean that he would necessarily throw contracts to Convair. He can't deal in such contracts."

Blind Lovers On Trial In Murder Case

AIX-EN - PROVENCE, France (AP)—Anna Barbini and Maximilien Levesque, blind lovers went on trial Friday for the murder of Anna's blind husband, Albert, 50.

As the blind pair was led by gendarmes into the prisoner's booth, a spectator in the packed courtroom cried out "To death." There was a murmur from the crowd and the man who had cried out was led away by police.

Many of the spectators themselves were blind. They sat holding white canes between their knees, listening eagerly as friends described the scene in the gloomy courtroom.

A functionary read the facts of the case as determined by a pretrial investigation. This statement said Anna, 45, and her 24-year-old lover carried out premeditated murder of the husband on the night of Aug. 13, 1957, with Anna doing the plotting and Levesque the murder.

Levesque has already admitted he shot and bludgeoned Anna's huband but claims he did it to protect her. His story is that Anna and Albert had quarreled after an attempted reconcliation and Levesque thought Albert was trying to stangle her.

Under questioning by the presiding judge Levesque said he had been blind from birth.

"I'm an embittered man," Levesque cried out at one point. "for I have suffered much."

He smiled only once during the questioning. That was when he said, "I entered a school for the blind in 1955. I had the pleasure of meeting Anna there and she became my friend."

When Anna's turn came, she told the court her husband had mistreated her for years but that because she was blind she had been afraid to leave him.

LITTLE JOE CAPSULE RECOVERED — A model of the Mercury capsule being developed to carry man into orbit around the earth is recovered by crewmen of the Navy salvage ship Preserver five miles out in the Atlantic off Wallops Island, Va., 45 minutes after launch of a Little Joe rocket on Wednesday. The capsule was carried to an altitude of 35,000 feet and separated from the rocket in a test of blastoff gear that would throw the capsule free of the missile to save the astronaut's life in case of mal-function. Date Set For Ike To Visit Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican announced Friday that Dec. 6 has been set as the date for President Eisenhower's audience with Pope John XXIII, a meeting duplicated only once before in U.S. history.

The announcement meant the audience would be one of the first major events of the President's unprecedented tour of nine European, Asian, and Middle Eastern nations. Rome is his first stop.

Vatican sources said stiff protocol would be dispensed with to give the two men a chance to devote their time together to talking. However, there will be a ceremony on the President's arrival in the tiny state and Swiss guards will turn out as a guard of honor.

High Vatican sources said Eisenhower's visit would take the form of a private call by a chief of state and it was believed that the visit would not be termed "official."

Eisenhower will be the first U. S. President to be received by a Roman Catholic Pontiff while in office since Jan. 4, 1919, when the late Woodrow Wilson met with Pope Benedict XV.

Former President Truman had an audience with Pope John's predecessor, Pope Pius XII, but only in the capacity of a private citizen after he had left the White House.

Eisenhower met the late Pope Pius when he was in Rome as commander of allied forces at the end of World War II.

He and the present Pope are no strangers. They several times met at official functions in Paris where the U.S. commander had his wartime headquarters and the pontiff, as Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, served as papal nuncio to France.

Their meeting here in December was looked upon as an important chapter in the long history of friendly informal relations between the United States and this tiny city-state Washington does not maintain formal diplomatic relations with the Vatican in accordance with its traditions of separation of church and state.

Pope John, in a quiet and almost unprecedented ceremony Friday, visited St. Peter's Basilica to impart absolution on the body of the late Frederico Cardinal Tedeschini, archpriest of St. Peter's, who died in Rome last Monday at the age of 86.

Of the total registered, 15 are listed as Republican or independents while the remainder are Democrats.

Officials reported that registration proceeded smoothly during the entire signing - up period. The Democratic primary is scheduled Dec. 5.

State-Wide Alert Given For Suspect

A state - wide alert was beamed Friday for a man who a liquor store worker said held him at gunpoint and made away with $146 from a cash register in the establishment.

David Dukes told police that a man about 20 to 22 years of age entered the A and A Liquor Store, 405 Sterlington Road, Thursday night, brandished a .38 - calibre blue steel pistol, demanded and got the money from a register and left on foot.

The man appeared to be about five feet eight or nine inches tall, Dukes told police. Dukes said he was alone in the establishment at the time.

Dukes told officers that when last seen, the man had not gotten into an automobile. Police late Friday said they were investigating the case.

OTHER ACTIVITY

In other law enforcement activity, the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department reported it is returning a man from Fort Smith, Ark., who is wanted here on four counts of forgery and one of burglary.

The man was identified as Darrell A. Connell, no permanent address. He was indicted by the Ouachita Parish Grand Jury Oct. 15 and was recently given a five-year suspended sentence on a forgery charge in Fort Smith.

He will face a charge here of burglary of the Monroe Electric Service, 2705 DeSiard St. on Sept. 24. Taken in the burglary, according to the department, was a check protector machine which officials charge was used in issuing four checks totaling $73.80.

Troop "F" of the Louisiana State Police charged a Pineville man, William H. Gray, 51, with driving while intoxicated. Monroe Police also made an arrest on driving while intoxicated. Charged is Earmon Vernon Young, 35, General Delivery, Monroe.

STUDENTS RALLY FOR VAN DOREN — Pat Rotter, coed from Barnard College, peps up a student demonstration on Columbia University campus in support of Charles Van Doren, dismissed from his post as assistant English professor after admitting complicity in the rigging of TV how "Twenty-One." Nearly 1,000 students signed a petition seeking the reinstatement of Van Doren. That silent figure on the pedestal is a likeness of John Howard Van Amringe, popular Columbia dean at the turn of the century. (AP Wirephoto)

Republicans Have Club To Match Demos'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans now have a 1,000-club to match the Democrats' 750-club as a plan to get $1,000 individual donations for the party war chest.

The Republican National Committee said Friday National Finance Chairman Spencer T. Olin sent letters several weeks ago to 1,000 persons asking contributions of $1,000 each. The aim is to raise one million dollars by Jan. 1. Half of it already has been subscribed.

Less than $1,000 will be accepted of course, but those contributing the full amount become charter members of National Republican Associates and receive a glass elephant desk ornament.

Democrats started their 750-club about nine months ago to help pay off a $750,000 deficit hanging over from previous campaigns. Club Chairman Edward Foley said $380,000 has been pledged or paid in, and 37½ per cent of the debt paid off.

Democratic donors receive two tickets each to the Democratic National Convention and admission to a special club room at the convention.

Hayes, commissioner of insurance; Jack P. F. Gremillion, attorney general Jimmy Fontenot, independent candidate for custodian of voting machines.

Supersonic Planes In Planning Stage

DENVER (UPI) — Jet passenger travel is an accomplished fact over much of the globe today, but the nation's airline executives have no intention of leaving it at that.

Robert Six, president of Continental Airlines since 1938, when he was only 31, is a case in point.

Six is the 52-year-old dynamo who has guided his small mountain states line into a place as one of the nation's largest. He is also the husband of Broadway star Ethel Merman and has as much showmanship in his business as she does in hers.

Six recently installed jet passenger planes on Continental's major routes — from Chicago to the West Coast through Kansas City and Denver.

But before they were in operation a month he petitioned the Civil Aeronautics Board for route extensions to Hawaii. And not only that — he wants to cut fares to the islands by a third.

In the same petition to the CAB, Six let it be known that reduced fares on longer routes aren't all he has in mind. The burly executive, who practices fast draws with a six-gun as a hobby, also outlined a plan for supersonic passenger planes.

Six assured the CAB that Continental will have planes capable of flying 1,980 miles an hour by 1967 — sooner if possible.

He told the board the only thing stopping the airline industry from putting SSTs' (supersonic transports) into service in the next two or three years is cost. The planes will retail at about $8,500,000 each, without engines, Power plants will add another $4,500,000-$5,000,000 to their cost.

"U.S. manufacturers have the know-how to build the planes right now," Six said. "The only thing lacking is the $50,000,000-$75,000,000 needed for the prototype.

"Made of steel and titanium the SST's will weigh no more than present Boeing 707's and they will be able to use any fields that can handle the 707's. Operational costs will be directly comparable to those of the present jets.

Warning Issued On Checks Here

The Monroe Police Department Friday warned merchants that worthless checks will probably become numerous as the holiday season approaches.

To combat the rise, care should be taken to require identification before cashing or accepting from unknown persons, Capt. S. G. Martin, head of the department's check division said.

"The best identification a person can carry is the state driver's license," Maring Martin pointed out, adding that this document "has the signature of the person, description, address and the serial number, which is registered in Baton Rouge." Then, should the check be returned, the captain said, identity can be obtained readily.

"The signature on the check and on the driver's license should be the same," Martin said.

Bonds Sales Pick Up Fast During October

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government savings bonds sales picked up sharply in October thanks to the new 3¾ per cent interest rate, the Treasury Department reported Friday.

The Treasury also said the public and the Federal Reserve System snapped up nearly all of a new $8,894,000,000 batch of securities and notes offered at 4⅞ per cent interest.

Sales of E and H savings bonds totaled 358 million dollars compared with 300 million dollars in September. President Eisenhower on Sept. 22 signed legislation authorizing a half-point increase in the interest rate, retroactive to June 1.

NEA Official Cites Facts About Teaching

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A National Education Association official said Friday that "adequate preparation for teaching will be a mirage" as long as one out of every three teachers must hold a second job to make a living.

Richard D. Batchelder, a teacher in the Newton, Mass., schools and president of the association's department of classroom teachers spoke to 400 members of the Southeast Regional Conference of Classroom Teachers. He told them they need "time to teach."

Date Set For Ike To Visit Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican announced Friday that Dec. 6 has been set as the date for President Eisenhower's audience with Pope John XXIII, a meeting duplicated only once before in U.S. history.

The announcement meant the audience would be one of the first major events of the President's unprecedented tour of nine European, Asian, and Middle Eastern nations. Rome is his first stop.

Vatican sources said stiff protocol would be dispensed with to give the two men a chance to devote their time together to talking. However, there will be a ceremony on the President's arrival in the tiny state and Swiss guards will turn out as a guard of honor.

High Vatican sources said Eisenhower's visit would take the form of a private call by a chief of state and it was believed that the visit would not be termed "official."

Eisenhower will be the first U. S. President to be received by a Roman Catholic Pontiff while in office since Jan. 4, 1919, when the late Woodrow Wilson met with Pope Benedict XV.

Former President Truman had an audience with Pope John's predecessor, Pope Pius XII, but only in the capacity of a private citizen after he had left the White House.

Eisenhower met the late Pope Pius when he was in Rome as commander of allied forces at the end of World War II.

He and the present Pope are no strangers. They several times met at official functions in Paris where the U.S. commander had his wartime headquarters and the pontiff, as Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, served as papal nuncio to France.

Their meeting here in December was looked upon as an important chapter in the long history of friendly informal relations between the United States and this tiny city-state Washington does not maintain formal diplomatic relations with the Vatican in accordance with its traditions of separation of church and state.

Pope John, in a quiet and almost unprecedented ceremony Friday, visited St. Peter's Basilica to impart absolution on the body of the late Frederico Cardinal Tedeschini, archpriest of St. Peter's, who died in Rome last Monday at the age of 86.

Republicans Have Club To Match Demos'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans now have a 1,000-club to match the Democrats' 750-club as a plan to get $1,000 individual donations for the party war chest.

The Republican National Committee said Friday National Finance Chairman Spencer T. Olin sent letters several weeks ago to 1,000 persons asking contributions of $1,000 each. The aim is to raise one million dollars by Jan. 1. Half of it already has been subscribed.

Less than $1,000 will be accepted of course, but those contributing the full amount become charter members of National Republican Associates and receive a glass elephant desk ornament.

Democrats started their 750-club about nine months ago to help pay off a $750,000 deficit hanging over from previous campaigns. Club Chairman Edward Foley said $380,000 has been pledged or paid in, and 37½ per cent of the debt paid off.

Democratic donors receive two tickets each to the Democratic National Convention and admission to a special club room at the convention.

State-Wide Alert Given For Suspect

A state - wide alert was beamed Friday for a man who a liquor store worker said held him at gunpoint and made away with $146 from a cash register in the establishment.

David Dukes told police that a man about 20 to 22 years of age entered the A and A Liquor Store, 405 Sterlington Road, Thursday night, brandished a .38 - calibre blue steel pistol, demanded and got the money from a register and left on foot.

The man appeared to be about five feet eight or nine inches tall, Dukes told police. Dukes said he was alone in the establishment at the time.

Dukes told officers that when last seen, the man had not gotten into an automobile. Police late Friday said they were investigating the case.

OTHER ACTIVITY

In other law enforcement activity, the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department reported it is returning a man from Fort Smith, Ark., who is wanted here on four counts of forgery and one of burglary.

The man was identified as Darrell A. Connell, no permanent address. He was indicted by the Ouachita Parish Grand Jury Oct. 15 and was recently given a five-year suspended sentence on a forgery charge in Fort Smith.

He will face a charge here of burglary of the Monroe Electric Service, 2705 DeSiard St. on Sept. 24. Taken in the burglary, according to the department, was a check protector machine which officials charge was used in issuing four checks totaling $73.80.

Troop "F" of the Louisiana State Police charged a Pineville man, William H. Gray, 51, with driving while intoxicated. Monroe Police also made an arrest on driving while intoxicated. Charged is Earmon Vernon Young, 35, General Delivery, Monroe.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 10 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher Friday.

Prices fluctuated in a narrow range with current crop months dipping temporarily on profit taking and hedging. The market later improved as mill and spot house buying found offerings light.

Nearby March was the only trading position to show a loss partly on switching operations by traders who sold that delivery againt covering orders in the December 1959 delivery.

Trade quarters expressed the view that the government's November cotton crop report, to be issued Monday, will be slightly under the month ago official forecast of 14,692,000 bbales. This was based on unfavorable weather in some parts of the cotton belt during the past month, notably rains in the southeast section of the main growing belt.

Futures closed 10 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher than the previous close.

Butcher Hog Price Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hog prices held steady Friday on a good shipper demand for the supply of 7,000 head which brought the week's total to 52,000 the largest in more than a year.

With buyers paying a $13.50 top for about 100 head of 200-210 lb sorted No. 1 grade, the market finished the week about where it started on Monday.

Mixed No. 1 and 2 and strictly No. 2 grades scaling 190-220 lbs cleared at $13.00-13.25 and the 190-230 lb weights of all grades at $12.65 - 13.10. Heavier weights ranged upward from $12.25 and sows $9.50-11.75.

Offerings of slaughter steers and heifers were too scarce for a test of the market. Vealers and bulls were steady. Vealers brought $25.00-31.00 for standard to good kinds and bulls $1900-21.00 for utility to commercial.

A few wooled slaughter lambs grading utility to low choice sold at $14.00-20.00 but the volume was too small to reflect a price test. Ewes moved at $3.00-4.50 and were unchanged.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

United Press International

COURT CONVENES MONDAY

No break in the 115-day-old steel strike was expected until the Supreme Court convenes in regular session Monday.

Federal Mediator Joseph Finnegan said the government has postponed indefinitely formal efforts to negotiate a settlement. The government, it was understood, is awaiting a high court ruling on the legality of the strike-halting Taft-Hartley injunction before taking further action.

EXPECT PRICE JUMPS

Price jumps in a variety of consumer goods are expected unless strike-idled steel mills resume production within the next few days, according to government economists. The walkout is now close to the point where it creates shortages that in turn cause prices to go up or remain firm instead of declining normally, they said.

CUTS AUTO PRODUCTION

The steel strike cut auto production this week to little more than half of the peak production since 1960 model cars began rolling off the assembly lines, Ward's Automotive Reports said. Plant shutdowns and short weeks caused by steel shortages limited output to 67,195 cars.

REPORTS HIGH SALES

Ford Motor Co. reported that combined October car and truck sales of its Ford Division were the best in history and edged out its chief rival, the Chevrolet Division of General Motors. Autos sales of the division total 133,968 up 58 per cent from the October 1958 figure.

SAYS OUTLOOK GOOD

Treasury Undersecretary Fred C. Schribner, Jr. told the American Finance Conference convention that the forces of a run-away inflation have been checked and that the outlook for the economy is "good." The government official also said world markets are expanding, opening up new channels for increased U.S. exports.

No Comment

By JAMES W. DOUTHAT
Ass't. Vice President Government Relations Division of the National Association of Manufacturers.

WASHINGTON — Even in a totalitarian state, it is apparently impossible to rely simply on ukase for production. Many Americans were amazed to read recently released comments by Premier Khrushchev that he finds production incentives essential in Russia.

What he appeared to be telling President Eisenhower at Camp David was that Soviet Russia is eliminating some of the roadblocks to production which exist in the United States.

Americans may read these remarks with tongue in cheek and may wonder how the average workman's incentives compare with those of the favored few... yet the Khrushchev statement is certain to be cited in congressional debates next winter.

QUOTED

Khrushchev was quoted as having said that even incentives from a tax standpoint are given in Russia.

This statement came as the House Ways and Means Committee is preparing for some elaborate panel discussions of the entire American tax system.

The NAM and others in industry have repeatedly pointed out to Congress that the United States individual and corporation income taxes and other levies have increased so that there is lack of proper incentive to production and raising the standard of living.

Presumably, too, Premier Khrushchev referred to other incentives to increase production—such as lack of "feather-bedding" and reward of individual workers for good jobs.

His observations came at a time when leaders in American industry, especially in railroading and steel, are seeking to reduce "featherbedding" which kills incentive and increases the cost of goods to consumers.

The question of "featherbedding" also is certain to arise during congressional consideration of legislation to deal with crippling national strikes.

President Eisenhowers exact statement at his press conference regarding his discussion with Khrushchev at Camp David is as follows:

CHANGES

"We were talking about some of the changes, not necessarily in the Marxist doctrine, but some of the changes that the Soviets had adopted in their—operating their economy. And we were talking also about some of the things that happened in our economy that were certainly a long ways from what we used to call laissez faire, and Mr. Khrushchev happened to make the point that actually they are using the incentive system to increase production far more than we are. And he pointed out some—and he is well read, I must tell you, about some of the things that happened here—and he pointed out about our taxes, tax system, and so on, and he says, "We give our incentives in things the people can feel and see and use. We give a better house, more rooms, another bath.' He went on to tell the things that they do when a man has shown an increased productivity, and he says, "in many ways," he says, "you people stifle it." And he said, "at least ours is more effective," or words to that effect."

While Mr. Khrushchev has repeatedly said that Soviet Russia would overtake the United States with communism, returning travelers have frequently commented on the capitalistic incentives which are used in that country to increase production.

Soybeans Adding To Friday Gains

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures, on their longest and strongest bullish trend in several months, added further substantial gains Friday after overcoming their first general setbacks of the week in early dealings.

The extreme advance ran to well over a cent a bushel on the distant contracts with prices closing at highs for the day in some deliveries.

Wheat was steady to form, oats and rye weak and corn mixed.

Buying by export interests was credited mainly with the support for wheat.

The declines in oats and rye were ascribed to profit taking. All oats contracts had hit new highs for the season during the week along with some soybean and corn months.

Influences bolstering corn and soybeans were described as the same ones that have had a bullish effect all week. For corn it was principally the relatively light movement of new crop grain into commercial channels.

The continued run up in soybeans showed no signs of meeting any strong resistance. The bullish movement, brokers say, is hinged directly to the prospect for tight commercial supplies well before the end of the crop year.

Wheat closed ⅛-1½ cent a bushel higher, December $1.99⅞-2.00; corn ½ higher to ¼ lower, December $1.13⅛-13; oats unchanged to ¾ lower, December 76⅜ - ½; rye ¼-¾ lower, December $1.34—½; soybean ½-1⅜ higher, November $2.23-23¼.

Red Romania Agrees To Talk About Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist Romania has agreed to discuss a U.S. claim of 60 million dollars for American property nationalized in 1947.

The State Department announced that a four-member Romanian government delegation will begin negotiations here Nov. 16 with a U.S. group.

The aim will be to determine a lump sum the Romanian regime will pay to meet the claims of some 500 American individuals and companies.

The biggest claimant is Standard Oil of New Jersey whose oil fields at Ploesti were seized.

Because of Romanias past refusal to consider compensation, the United States seized 21 million dollars in Romanian assets in this country. This sum, mostly gold, now is being distributed to meet part of the claim awards made by a U.S. claims commission.

W.C. Dowling To Succeed D.K. Bruce

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has decided to name career diplomat Walter C. Dowling to succeed David K. Bruce, as U.S. ambassador to West Germany, informed sources said Friday.

The White House neither confirmed nor denied the report. The 53-year-old Dowling until recently was U.S. envoy to Korea.

Dowling, fully experienced in European affairs, served as deputy U.S. high commissioner in Bonn in 1953-54 and then became American counselor when the United States established its embassy in the new German capital in 1955.

Prior to that he had served in Austria as deputy chief of mission with the personal rank of minister. Dowling was ambassador to Korea from 1956 until last week when he arrived here to become assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

The Bonn post is regarded as one of the most sensitive in the U.S. foreign service. It requires a high degree of tact in dealing with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who is constantly alert to any sign of a shift in U.S. policy that might affect his country.

The post originally was offered to Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy. But Murphy decided last week to retire from government service to become president of a glass company. He has postponed his retirement for a short period to accompany President Eisenhower on his tour of Asia, Africa and Europe next month.

Young Girl Tells About Beating

MEMPHIS (AP)—A 13-year-old white girl said today she was waylaid and beaten up by a group of Negro teen-agers while on her way home from school.

The girl, Lynn Rutland, was treated at a hospital for bruises and scratches of the face.

Lynn said she and three classmates were walking home when a dozen young Negroes blocked the sidewalk. Four Negro girls then roughed her up, she said, while others in the group held off her classmates with umbrellas.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 10 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher Friday.

Prices fluctuated in a narrow range with current crop months dipping temporarily on profit taking and hedging. The market later improved as mill and spot house buying found offerings light.

Nearby March was the only trading position to show a loss partly on switching operations by traders who sold that delivery againt covering orders in the December 1959 delivery.

Trade quarters expressed the view that the government's November cotton crop report, to be issued Monday, will be slightly under the month ago official forecast of 14,692,000 bbales. This was based on unfavorable weather in some parts of the cotton belt during the past month, notably rains in the southeast section of the main growing belt.

Futures closed 10 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher than the previous close.

Butcher Hog Price Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hog prices held steady Friday on a good shipper demand for the supply of 7,000 head which brought the week's total to 52,000 the largest in more than a year.

With buyers paying a $13.50 top for about 100 head of 200-210 lb sorted No. 1 grade, the market finished the week about where it started on Monday.

Mixed No. 1 and 2 and strictly No. 2 grades scaling 190-220 lbs cleared at $13.00-13.25 and the 190-230 lb weights of all grades at $12.65 - 13.10. Heavier weights ranged upward from $12.25 and sows $9.50-11.75.

Offerings of slaughter steers and heifers were too scarce for a test of the market. Vealers and bulls were steady. Vealers brought $25.00-31.00 for standard to good kinds and bulls $1900-21.00 for utility to commercial.

A few wooled slaughter lambs grading utility to low choice sold at $14.00-20.00 but the volume was too small to reflect a price test. Ewes moved at $3.00-4.50 and were unchanged.

COURT CONVENES MONDAY

No break in the 115-day-old steel strike was expected until the Supreme Court convenes in regular session Monday.

Federal Mediator Joseph Finnegan said the government has postponed indefinitely formal efforts to negotiate a settlement. The government, it was understood, is awaiting a high court ruling on the legality of the strike-halting Taft-Hartley injunction before taking further action.

EXPECT PRICE JUMPS

Price jumps in a variety of consumer goods are expected unless strike-idled steel mills resume production within the next few days, according to government economists. The walkout is now close to the point where it creates shortages that in turn cause prices to go up or remain firm instead of declining normally, they said.

CUTS AUTO PRODUCTION

The steel strike cut auto production this week to little more than half of the peak production since 1960 model cars began rolling off the assembly lines, Ward's Automotive Reports said. Plant shutdowns and short weeks caused by steel shortages limited output to 67,195 cars.

REPORTS HIGH SALES

Ford Motor Co. reported that combined October car and truck sales of its Ford Division were the best in history and edged out its chief rival, the Chevrolet Division of General Motors. Autos sales of the division total 133,968 up 58 per cent from the October 1958 figure.

SAYS OUTLOOK GOOD

Treasury Undersecretary Fred C. Schribner, Jr. told the American Finance Conference convention that the forces of a run-away inflation have been checked and that the outlook for the economy is "good." The government official also said world markets are expanding, opening up new channels for increased U.S. exports.

No Comment

By JAMES W. DOUTHAT

Ass't. Vice President Government Relations Division of the National Association of Manufacturers.

WASHINGTON — Even in a totalitarian state, it is apparently impossible to rely simply on ukase for production. Many Americans were amazed to read recently released comments by Premier Khrushchev that he finds production incentives essential in Russia.

What he appeared to be telling President Eisenhower at Camp David was that Soviet Russia is eliminating some of the roadblocks to production which exist in the United States.

Americans may read these remarks with tongue in cheek and may wonder how the average workman's incentives compare with those of the favored few... yet the Khrushchev statement is certain to be cited in congressional debates next winter.

QUOTED

Khrushchev was quoted as having said that even incentives from a tax standpoint are given in Russia.

This statement came as the House Ways and Means Committee is preparing for some elaborate panel discussions of the entire American tax system.

The NAM and others in industry have repeatedly pointed out to Congress that the United States individual and corporation income taxes and other levies have increased so that there is lack of proper incentive to production and raising the standard of living.

Presumably, too, Premier Khrushchev referred to other incentives to increase production—such as lack of "feather-bedding" and reward of individual workers for good jobs.

His observations came at a time when leaders in American industry, especially in railroading and steel, are seeking to reduce "featherbedding" which kills incentive and increases the cost of goods to consumers.

The question of "featherbedding" also is certain to arise during congressional consideration of legislation to deal with crippling national strikes.

President Eisenhowers exact statement at his press conference regarding his discussion with Khrushchev at Camp David is as follows:

CHANGES

"We were talking about some of the changes, not necessarily in the Marxist doctrine, but some of the changes that the Soviets had adopted in their—operating their economy. And we were talking also about some of the things that happened in our economy that were certainly a long ways from what we used to call laissez faire, and Mr. Khrushchev happened to make the point that actually they are using the incentive system to increase production far more than we are. And he pointed out some—and he is well read, I must tell you, about some of the things that happened here—and he pointed out about our taxes, tax system, and so on, and he says, "We give our incentives in things the people can feel and see and use. We give a better house, more rooms, another bath.' He went on to tell the things that they do when a man has shown an increased productivity, and he says, "in many ways," he says, "you people stifle it." And he said, "at least ours is more effective," or words to that effect."

While Mr. Khrushchev has repeatedly said that Soviet Russia would overtake the United States with communism, returning travelers have frequently commented on the capitalistic incentives which are used in that country to increase production.

Soybeans Adding To Friday Gains

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures, on their longest and strongest bullish trend in several months, added further substantial gains Friday after overcoming their first general setbacks of the week in early dealings.

The extreme advance ran to well over a cent a bushel on the distant contracts with prices closing at highs for the day in some deliveries.

Wheat was steady to form, oats and rye weak and corn mixed.

Buying by export interests was credited mainly with the support for wheat.

The declines in oats and rye were ascribed to profit taking. All oats contracts had hit new highs for the season during the week along with some soybean and corn months.

Influences bolstering corn and soybeans were described as the same ones that have had a bullish effect all week. For corn it was principally the relatively light movement of new crop grain into commercial channels.

The continued run up in soybeans showed no signs of meeting any strong resistance. The bullish movement, brokers say, is hinged directly to the prospect for tight commercial supplies well before the end of the crop year.

Wheat closed ⅛-1½ cent a bushel higher, December $1.99⅞-2.00; corn ½ higher to ¼ lower, December $1.13⅛-13; oats unchanged to ¾ lower, December 76⅜ - ½; rye ¼-¾ lower, December $1.34—½; soybean ½-1⅜ higher, November $2.23-23¼.

Red Romania Agrees To Talk About Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist Romania has agreed to discuss a U.S. claim of 60 million dollars for American property nationalized in 1947.

The State Department announced that a four-member Romanian government delegation will begin negotiations here Nov. 16 with a U.S. group.

The aim will be to determine a lump sum the Romanian regime will pay to meet the claims of some 500 American individuals and companies.

The biggest claimant is Standard Oil of New Jersey whose oil fields at Ploesti were seized.

Because of Romanias past refusal to consider compensation, the United States seized 21 million dollars in Romanian assets in this country. This sum, mostly gold, now is being distributed to meet part of the claim awards made by a U.S. claims commission.

W.C. Dowling To Succeed D.K. Bruce

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has decided to name career diplomat Walter C. Dowling to succeed David K. Bruce, as U.S. ambassador to West Germany, informed sources said Friday.

The White House neither confirmed nor denied the report. The 53-year-old Dowling until recently was U.S. envoy to Korea.

Dowling, fully experienced in European affairs, served as deputy U.S. high commissioner in Bonn in 1953-54 and then became American counselor when the United States established its embassy in the new German capital in 1955.

Prior to that he had served in Austria as deputy chief of mission with the personal rank of minister. Dowling was ambassador to Korea from 1956 until last week when he arrived here to become assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

The Bonn post is regarded as one of the most sensitive in the U.S. foreign service. It requires a high degree of tact in dealing with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who is constantly alert to any sign of a shift in U.S. policy that might affect his country.

The post originally was offered to Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy. But Murphy decided last week to retire from government service to become president of a glass company. He has postponed his retirement for a short period to accompany President Eisenhower on his tour of Asia, Africa and Europe next month.

Young Girl Tells About Beating

MEMPHIS (AP)—A 13-year-old white girl said today she was waylaid and beaten up by a group of Negro teen-agers while on her way home from school.

The girl, Lynn Rutland, was treated at a hospital for bruises and scratches of the face.

Lynn said she and three classmates were walking home when a dozen young Negroes blocked the sidewalk. Four Negro girls then roughed her up, she said, while others in the group held off her classmates with umbrellas.

Union Head Asks For Leave Of Absence

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP)—The president of a 1,600-member union asked for leave of absence from his post today because he said his conviction for attempted extortion four years ago disqualified him under the new labor law.

Edward R. Smagula, president of the Manhattan Rubber Workers Independent Union, said he would appeal next week in Washington for an exemption so he could resume his post.

The recently passed Landrum-Griffin labor bill forbids convicted criminals from holding union office for five years after their conviction.

Four years ago Smagula was convicted of attempted extortion of $3,000 while president of the Wallingford Board of Education.

Five other board members were convicted in the alleged plot to extort pay for appointing a principal. Smagula was put on probation four years and fined $1,000.

On taking leave, he said the labor law was designed "for hoodlums who have found a heaven in the labor movement, not for me."

The union represents workers at the Manhattan-Raybestos Corp. plant here.

Union Head Asks For Leave Of Absence

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP)—The president of a 1,600-member union asked for leave of absence from his post today because he said his conviction for attempted extortion four years ago disqualified him under the new labor law.

Edward R. Smagula, president of the Manhattan Rubber Workers Independent Union, said he would appeal next week in Washington for an exemption so he could resume his post.

The recently passed Landrum-Griffin labor bill forbids convicted criminals from holding union office for five years after their conviction.

Four years ago Smagula was convicted of attempted extortion of $3,000 while president of the Wallingford Board of Education.

Five other board members were convicted in the alleged plot to extort pay for appointing a principal. Smagula was put on probation four years and fined $1,000.

On taking leave, he said the labor law was designed "for hoodlums who have found a heaven in the labor movement, not for me."

The union represents workers at the Manhattan-Raybestos Corp. plant here.

REVOULTION ANNIVERSARY

Russia Celebrating But Still Watching

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia started celebrating the 42nd anniversary of its Bolshevik Revolution on a peace and friendship theme Friday but served notice it would keep developing its armies until the danger of war is ended.

Averky B. Aristov, a member of the secretariat of the Communist Party's central committee, kicked off the celebration with a speech to 20,000 Russians in the Lenin Sports Palace.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders were in the audience and the speech was carried on television and radio.

The big show comes Saturday when a million Russians will march through Moscow streets and tramp across Red Square on review.

Aristov said the world is ripe for peace but it may take a long time in coming and since the danger of war still exists the Soviet Union will continue to perfect its armed forces.

He praised Soviet advances under Khrushchev and said that anti-party activities would have harmed the country's development if they had not been stopped.

In the person of Khrushchev, he said, the Soviet people had "extended the hand of friendship to the American people and this found response among the overwhelming majority of the Americans."

"Hopes of peace which were kindled by (Khrushchev's) trip will not be easily extinguished and throughout the world messages of support are being sent to the Soviet Union for its policy of peace." Aristov said.

"The struggle for peace will continue. There are forces in the West which do not want peace, but the cause of peace will triumph."

Meanwhile, he said, the Soviet Party and government must "show solicitude for its armed forces which are standing guard over the creative and peaceful work of the Soviet people."

Throughout Moscow huge Red flags and giant replicas of Russia's Lunik III decorated buildings along with posters proclaiming "the ice of the cold war is breaking."

In past years the Russians have used the annual parade to trot out new weapons but nothing of the kind was expected Saturday. Observers who have watched the military rehearsals over the past two weeks have seen nothing that would indicate any surprises were coming up.

Quiz Winner Says Not Hero Of War

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—Michael O'Rourke, television quiz show winner who is in the process of resigning his Army officer commission, said today he was not a war hero.

He also said he was not quitting the Army under pressure.

O'Rourke was called a Korean War hero who had won the Distinguished Service Cross by Howard Felsher, director of the TV program "Tic-Tac-Dough" which congressional investigators said was rigged.

Felsher told the House subcommittee in Washington O'Rourke and salesman Martin Dowd had received help as contestants on the program. Felsher said he was reluctant in making the statement against O'Rourke because he was a Korean War hero and a winner of the Distinguished Service Cross.

O'Rourke, who denied getting assistance in winning $106,000 on the program, said he initiated his Army resignation himself.

"At my request (my superiors) made it effective immediately," the former captain asserted. "I have never been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. I am not a war hero. Such descriptions are generous and well-intended but they contribute to the general misinformation and should be corrected."

Oren Harris Dubs Scandals As 'Shocking'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight today described the quiz scandals as unfolded by his group "a shocking situation," and declared he had "heard enough."

"The hearings disclosed that millions of Americans were deceived and tricked by what was nothing more than a sordid, commercial scheme," Harris said.

In closing out the quiz show phase of the inquiry, Harris said he was convinced corrective legislation is necessary.

He stated he was pleased to see that the Federal Trade Commissior has begun corrective action. He added "I hope we will have similar action from the Federal Communications Commission."

The committee approved for inclusion in its record a letter from the American Guild of Authors and Composers charging that "commercial bribery has become a prime factor" in determining what music is played on many broadcast programs.

Gunman Stages Robbery As Police Decoy

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — A young gunman staged a robbery to decoy police late Thursday, then brazenly robbed four other business houses three blocks away collecting victims as he went.

An unwilling merchant became, at gun point, the robber's loot collector.

Muttering death threats, the bandit compelled half a dozen victims, one after another, to parade after him on the ensuing holdups.

All told, the 20-minute blitz took in $2,622 in loot, police said.

McElroy Set To Wrap Up Budget Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy begins Saturday the job of compressing money requests of the military services into a single package for submission as the 1961 military budget.

McElroy has scheduled an all-day meeting with Deputy Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr.; former Defense Comptroller W.J. McNeil; Deputy Asst. Secretary John M. Sprague; Research Director Herbert F. York; and Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Saturday session is to be held aboard the Navy yacht Sequoia on the Potomac River.

Next year's budget is expected to be about the same as the current year program—a 41-billion-dollar expenditure, with requests for new funds totaling approximately 40 billions.

Of this, the Air Force may ask for between 18 and 20 billion in new money, the Navy about 11 billion, and the Army about 9½ billion. The Defense Department's share, which includes money for such items as research and development, probably will run about 1½ billion.

Defense officials hope to have their requests assembled and ready for submission to Budget Bureau official by the middle of this month.

Further changes will come as the National Security Council and the Budget Bureau submit their views on the military budget. The deadline for sending the over-all federal budget to the printers preliminary to submission to Congress usually is about mid-December.

Solon Sees End To Manned Aircraft Days

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater (R - Ariz) said today that the day of the manned aircraft in the Air Force is coming to a close. Missiles are taking over.

We do not have a new fighter plane on order," he said in an interview. "And if we're not producing fighter planes we obviously don't need pilots for them."

He said three major bases in the country, and possibly more, are scheduled to be closed. He did not identify the bases.

"This is not an economy measure," he said. "We can't justify a fighter built on 1956 concepts for a 1962 Air Force."

CHURCHILL

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill has dined at the Hotel Savoy five times in the last 15 nights—because he likes the champagne there.

Sir Winston—who will be 85 this month—is regarded as one of Britain's connoisseurs of champagne. He's so fastidious about his bubbly that when he goes to stay with friends he takes his own brand.

McElroy Set To Wrap Up Budget Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy begins Saturday the job of compressing money requests of the military services into a single package for submission as the 1961 military budget.

McElroy has scheduled an all-day meeting with Deputy Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr.; former Defense Comptroller W.J. McNeil; Deputy Asst. Secretary John M. Sprague; Research Director Herbert F. York; and Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Saturday session is to be held aboard the Navy yacht Sequoia on the Potomac River.

Next year's budget is expected to be about the same as the current year program—a 41-billion-dollar expenditure, with requests for new funds totaling approximately 40 billions.

Of this, the Air Force may ask for between 18 and 20 billion in new money, the Navy about 11 billion, and the Army about 9½ billion. The Defense Department's share, which includes money for such items as research and development, probably will run about 1½ billion.

Defense officials hope to have their requests assembled and ready for submission to Budget Bureau official by the middle of this month.

Further changes will come as the National Security Council and the Budget Bureau submit their views on the military budget. The deadline for sending the over-all federal budget to the printers preliminary to submission to Congress usually is about mid-December.

Solon Sees End To Manned Aircraft Days

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) said today that the day of the manned aircraft in the Air Force is coming to a close. Missiles are taking over.

We do not have a new fighter plane on order," he said in an interview. "And if we're not producing fighter planes we obviously don't need pilots for them."

He said three major bases in the country, and possibly more, are scheduled to be closed. He did not identify the bases.

"This is not an economy measure," he said. "We can't justify a fighter built on 1956 concepts for a 1962 Air Force."

CHURCHILL

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill has dined at the Hotel Savoy five times in the last 15 nights—because he likes the champagne there.

Sir Winston—who will be 85 this month—is regarded as one of Britain's connoisseurs of champagne. He's so fastidious about his bubbly that when he goes to stay with friends he takes his own brand.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The United Nations and the Republic of Korea signed an agreement Friday normally establishing a U. N. memorial cemetery at Tang-Gok near Pusan, South Korea, where nearly 2,000 Korean War dead are buried.

OREN HARRIS DECLARES

Laws Needed To Assure TV Shows' Honesty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) turning off a House investigation of quiz show rigging, said Friday Congress should pass new laws to assure program honesty and take a hard look at other channels of television activity.

"Millions of Americans have been tricked, deceived and duped by what was nothing more than a sordid commercial scheme," Harris said in closing his House Commerce subcommittee's hearings on the quizzes.

He has heard enough about this type of rigging, Harris said, but recently developed leads indicate other video practices require investigation.

"And we intend to give them such scrutiny," Harris said.

RECESS

The subcommittee recessed until next month after hearing Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, say there is always the danger of connivance in high-stake quiz shows.

Stanton said CBS is ready to help formulate new legislation aimed at deceit. But he repeatedly opposed any action resembling censorship.

"We believe that legislation is no cure-all for these ills and that the primary responsibility lies with the broadcasting industry itself," he said.

"CBS is moving forward in that conviction," Stanton said after announcing his network will issue general rules to assure that its TV programs are exactly what they appear to be.

Stanton defended his course of action at the time rumors of quiz show fixing first became current last year, although he conceded that "with benefit of hindsight, it is now clear that I should have gone further."

"I was completely unaware until Aug. 8, 1958," he said, "of any irregularity in the quiz shows of our network." On that date, Stanton continued, explicit charges of fixing on one independently produced program were brought to his attention.

"Sufficient supporting evidence was found within a week," he continued, "and the program was thrown off the air. Within six months, we had moved against three other quiz shows."

Harris did not say just what other areas his investigators would explore. While watching the quiz scandals unfold, they have also

Roof Collapse Fatal To 3, 90 Workers Buried In Mass

20 Injured, One Missing In Mishap

MONTREAL (UPI) — The almost completed roof of a factory extension collapsed Friday burying some 90 construction workers in a tangle of steel girders and wet cement. At least three men were killed, one was missing and 20 others were injured, some seriously, police said.

The collapse took place in a one story extension of the plant owned by the surgical equipment manufacturing firm of Johnson and Johnson. Construction work on the 150 foot long addition was originally scheduled to be completed Friday night.

The majority of the workers scrambled or were dragged to safety but others had to be freed from the tangled steel girders, concrete and wooden forms by rescue workers using acetylene torches.

STORM

The collapse occurred during a windstorm that had gusts up to 45 miles per hour.

Witnesses said the collapse of the structure sounded like a "thundercloud" while others said it sounded like a "hurricane."

The twisted mass of steel girders, supporting rods and other construction equipment was strewn over a half block area.

Rescue workers used axes, shovels, torches and their bare hands to rescue the men wallowing in several feet of wet concrete.

The exact cause of the collapse could not be immediately determined and spokesman for the two construction firms involved in the project would not comment until a further check.

A company spokesman said an investigation would be launched immediately.

Every available policeman in the area rushed to the scene to

France's Idea Ups Pressure In UN Meet

French Firm On Bomb Test In Sahara

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Pressure mounted in the U. N. Friday against plans of France to test an atomic bomb in the Sahara. The French gave no sign of yielding to it.

Of the three atomic powers, the United States and the Soviet Union have remained uncommitted on the French plans; Britain supports France's technical claim that its blast would have only a negligible effect on Africans living near the test site. The three atomic powers now are bound by a loosely agreed ban on weapons testing, but France is not included.

India, Tunisia and Yugoslavia joined those who spoke earlier in the General Assembly's 82-nation Political Committee and assailed France's efforts to join the so-called Big Three nuclear club.

SMALL

"No matter how small the bomb is, it is a step backwards," said Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon. "It was only a small bomb (at Hiroshima) that started all this trouble—this chain leading to bigger bombs."

Ambassador Taieb Slim of Tunisia stressed the concern already voiced by other countries in Africa—they are afraid the test will dump radioactive fallout on their territory.

Slim told the committee that France might better enhance its drive for international prestige by concentrating on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Other arguments that have been directed at the French:

1. The test will damage the chances for success of the U.S.-British-Soviet atomic test ban negotiations at Geneva. The French insist that these talks are based on an artificial monopoly of the

Castro Clan Sets Seizure Of Big Ranch

Move Plotted Under Agrarian Reform Plans

HAVANA (UPI) Fidel Castro's government plans to seize almost all of the rich 35,000-acre King Ranch in Camaguey under its agrarian reform program, a spokesman for the American - operated cattle spread said Friday.

The spokesman for the ranch, which is affiliated with the vast King Ranch in Texas, said officials of the operating company were ordered to appear Saturday before the National Institute of Agrarian Reform which already has seized some 65,000 acres of choice cattle land and livestock. The spokesman said the owners would be allowed to keep 1,600 acres.

VALUE

The King Ranch, reputedly the largest in Cuba, is valued at $3,500,000, including a 7,000 - head herd of King-bred Santa Gertrudis cattle valued at $1,500,000. Some of the ranch stock is held by Cubans.

The ranch probably would be permitted to retain its 7,000-head herd. However, ranch officials said they faced a forced sale of the prize Santa Gertrudis breeding herd. They said it was impossible to maintain 7,000 head of cattle on the 1,600 acres the Cuban government said it "could keep" out of the ranch's total 35,000 acres.

King Ranch management said the whole herd would have to be "dumped" in Cuba.

They protested the re-payment for the seized land in the form of agrarian reform bonds maturing in 20 years.

It was estimated that by the

Gremillion Hits NAACP As 'Ghost'

VIDALIA, La. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion said Friday the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People operates a ghost organization to supersede state law.

Gremillion was asked for comment on a three-judge federal court's plans to hear arguments challenging the constitutionality of a Louisiana law requiring all organizations to register and file a list of members annually with the Secretary of State.

The federal court will hear argument in the case filed by the NAACP Nov. 13.

Gremillion said he will argue the state's case, assisted by first Asst. Atty. Gen. George Ponder and assistants M. E. Culivan and Bill Schuler.

LAW

The state law under question also provides that registering organizations must file affidavits that none of the members have been cited by the House Un-American Activities Committee or the Attorney General of the United States as Communists or members of Communist-front organizations.

"The NAACP holds itself greater than the law," Gremillion said. "It is not even chartered in this state and operates as a ghost organization.

"The NAACP pays no taxes, no fees and does not contribute one penny or any cooperative effort to the state government to finance the many benefits the people of

West Monroe's Drive Efforts Bring Praise

West Monroe was complimented Friday by James Moore, United Givers fund drive chairman, "for their efforts in the United Fund Drive."

Moore said he wanted to "compliment very highly the efforts and hard work being put forward by West Monroe campaign chairman A. T. "Buddy" Harrelson and his West Monroe workers, responsible for an increase today toward the goal. Some $3,500 was turned in by several West Monroe divisions."

The drive total was swelled to $184,727.37. Goal is $225,919.72.

The West Monroe Police Department was noted as being 100 per cent on the employee payroll deduction plan.

Moore said, "West Monroe has already exceeded the amount of money they raised last year and there are still many cards not yet turned in."

He pointed out that the Givers drive is still $40,000 away from the goal and said that it will "take concentrated effort on everybody's part," during the remainder of the drive to reach the hoped-for figure.

Moore said he is "not pessimistic but not optimistic." He added that an all-out effort is needed to end the drive next week.

Civil Service Group Calls For Probe

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The State Civil Service Commission Friday called for an investigation of the Orleans Parish Registrar of Voters' personnel practices after two former employes were accused of political activities.

The commission declined to penalize Mrs. Eledia C. Johnson and Joseph A. Monteverde and asked the director of personnel to report on their cases.

Mrs. Johnson and Monteverde were recorded as classified employes on leave of absence without pay from the registrar's office. They sought election as members of the Parish Democratic Executive Committee.

CHARGED

They were charged with violating the political activity restrictions of the civil service amendment. Both admitted under oath they were candidates but denied they were classified employes. They said they believed their employment was ended.

In another case, the commission warned Frank A. Ferrara, an airport ramp man for the Orleans Levee Board. He admitted he told an investigator for the civil service department that he made public statements that he was a precinct captain.

But under oath, Ferrara denied he was a member or officer of the political group and two officers and records of the organiza-

PARKER LYNCHING

Federal Jury May Hear Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robert Hauberg indicated Friday the government will speed the Mack Charles Parker lynch case to a federal grand jury.

Hauberg said he expected to begin a study of the FBI's report on the case at once and a decision may be made next week whether to reconvene the present grand jury, now in recess, or call another.

The government action came five hours after a state grand jury declined to act in the death of Parker, 23-year-old Lumberton Negro pulled from his Poplarville jail cell April 25 and shot to death by hooded night riders. He was being held for trial on charge of raping a white woman.

INVITED

Gov. J. P. Coleman, who invited the FBI into the investigation the day of the killing, declined comment on the Pearl River County Grand Jury decision, or on the federal re-entry into the case.

Gov.-elect Ross Barnett, who will take office Jan. 19, said he "understood federal agents had said no federal law had been violated" because the lynchers "never did cross the state line."

State officials have no power over the grand jury in Mississippi.

Hauberg told the Associated Press Friday he had never read the 378-page report of the FBI's month-long investigation into Parker's death.

Faubus Gives Answer To Board Member

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Friday piecemeal integration of Little Rock's public schools would wreck them just as much as sudden and total racial mixing.

It was his answer to a school board member, Russel Matson Jr. who said recently Little Rock could expect more classroom integration in meeting a federal court mandate.

Eight Negroes were integrated in once-white Central and Hall high schools this fall. Little Rock's four high schools were closed by Faubus last year to stop integration.

"Remember, I said you couldn't stop this integration once it started," Faubus said at a news conference. "We all know that if you could stop it with token integration the situation could be well handled."

PROBLEM

Faubus said the integration problem was just beginning, adding that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People won't let it stop.

"After the schools are totally integrated comes everything else—housing, private business," he added.

Faubus also referred to speeches

Adoption Try Withdrawn By N.J. Lawyer

SOMERVILLE, N. J. (AP) — Somerset County Court Judge Samuel Chiaravalli said Friday the petition of an 83-year-old widow to adopt a 45-year-old man has been withdrawn by her attorney.

Chiaravalli received a letter from the lawyer, Harry P. Beldon, last Wednesday which stated both parties have concluded it would be wise at this time to withdraw the petition.

The petition for adoption was filed by Beldon for Hannie S. Moore of Basking Ridge and John P. Szenirpunos Jr., a roomer at her home.

The judge said he would have denied the adoption for several reasons, but did not specify them.

Mrs. Moore said previously she wanted to adopt Szenirpunos because she is alone in the world and wants company. She said he had been "a son in every sense of the word."

WIFE IN BOTH PORTS

Steward Charged On Bigamy Count

LONDON (AP)—Ship's steward Joe Harden had all the comforts of home on both ends of the South American run—a wife in London, a wife in Buenos Aires.

When his ship docked in a London mist, the English wife, Rose, had his slippers waiting by the fire. When he went ashore in Buenos Aires, Rita Catalina Montiveros—Senora Harden to the neighbors—cooked him exotic local dishes such as he never tasted in an English kitchen.

Supporting two households and two wives was naturally expensive. But for a 48-year-old steward it was an idyllic situation turned sour only when a letter from the Argentinian wife was intercepted by the English wife.

Within the forbidding walls of the Old Bailey Courthouse Friday, the story of Joe's colorful romance was unfolded.

His breezy manner a little subdued, Joe stood in the dock on a bigamy charge.

"Harden was married in England in 1932," said the prosecutor, Mervyn Griffith-Jones. "In 1953, he met a Miss Rita Catalina Montiveros in Buenos Aires, courted her and told her he was single.

"He was never intimate with her on account of her religion. But in July 1958, he went through a form of marriage with her. From then on, they lived as man and wife when he was in South America and he continued to live

Snark Missile On Test Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Snark guided missile steering itself by the stars, was launched on an intercontinental range test flight today.

The 69-foot missile darted from its pad, successfully dropped its two booster rockets, and vanished in an overcast sky. It was aimed at a watery target off Ascension Island, 5,000 miles away.

The last Snark tested here, on Sept. 25, crashed in flames when one of the boosters failed. That ended a long string of Snark successes.

MAROONED IN BATON ROUGE

Public Gives Help To Stricken Crew

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The courts, medical officials and volunteer food donors Friday helped ease the distress of the marooned Green crew of the freighter Pacific Conqueror.

The crew of the 35 became marooned Oct. 15 tied up in the Mississippi River here. The ship's owners apparently ran into financial difficulties and left the crew without pay and short of food and water.

A newspaper story told of the crew's plight and a spontaneous "operation helpmate" was set off.

U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright signed an order authorizing Capt. Miliadis Kypiadis to buy up to $1,000 worth of food and supplies for the hungry crewmen through Nov. 18.

Two physicians — Dr. Chaille Stovall and Chester Williams — went aboard the ship and treated three ill men and attended others needing it.

Scores of citizens and organizations volunteered gifts of money, goods, cigarettes and other items although there was no official appeal.

Judge Wright ordered that funds for the crew's care be taken from proceeds from sale of the vessel if she is sold.

Several creditors have liens against the owners of the ship and were trying to seize it. They claimed the owners, World Tramp Agencies, Inc., owed them money.

Drs. Stovall and Williams are president and vice president of

Federal Jury May Hear Case

Washington ordered Hauberg into the case Thursday shortly after the Poplarville grand jury returned its final report, apparently with no indictments in the Parker case.

Hauberg said he was waiting for more detailed instructions from the Justice Department after receiving orders to pursue the case with the goal of bringing it before a federal grand jury.

He said U. S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize could either recall the present grand jury or empanel a special one to hear the lynch case.

"Judge Mize's docket is all set until December," Hauberg said. "But I get the impression he will know Wednesday or Thursday whether to recall the grand jury or empanel another. He will also have to decide whether to hold the grand jury in Jackson or in Biloxi."

Under federal law, the grand jury may be empaneled anywhere in the southern district of Mississippi, which is made up of the southern half of the state.

Parker was held in the Pearl River County jail at Poplarville on charges of raping the pregnant white mother. He was lynched two days before his scheduled appearance in court. His body was found later in Pearl River, the boundary between Mississippi and Louisiana.

The FBI said after its 60-man investigating force finished in the case that no federal kidnap laws were violated. The laws are effective only where state lines are crossed.

In the light of the Justice Department's earlier stand that no federal kidnap laws were violated, lawyers in Jackson and Washington speculated that the federal grand jury probably would look for a violation of civil rights laws.

Two sections were mentioned. One deals with depriving a person of his civil rights with the connivance of a law enforcement officer and the other deals with any conspiracy to "injure, oppress or intimidate" an individual in the exercise of federally-guaranteed civil rights.

Whether any federally-guaranteed rights were violated in the Parker case would be a matter for the court to decide.

with his lawful wife when he was in England."

The prosecutor explained this state of affairs might have gone on unchecked had not Joe arranged last September for Miss Montiveros to visit England.

"She wrote him a letter which was sent to his home address and was opened by his wife. Thus the matter came to light," said the lawyer.

Joe's predicament was put another way by his defense counsel.

"This is a case," said Colin Hart-Leverton, "of a man torn between his love and his duty.

"If he had allowed his love to flourish, he would have married her, as he did, and he would have been happy and the lady would have been happy and so would her parents.

"In fact, what he should have done, had he done his duty, was to tell her of the situation and return home."

The defense attorney said Miss Montiveros—now in England—was willing to stand by Joe.

Joe said very little except to plead guilty. He was convicted but allowed to go without penalty on condition that he mend his ways. One condition was that he avoid bigamous marriages in future.

The court was told he is now living with Rita in London—"although they occupy separate bedrooms." Joe's English wife has said she will seek a legal separation.

in Georgia by Everett Tucker, Jr., Little Rock School Board president and Boyd Ridgway, executive director of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce.

Tucker and Ridgway, at Athens and Atlanta this week, urged Georgians to retain local control of school affairs and to try to keep their schools open.

"They said complete integration coming now, would wreck the school system," Faubus said. "Well, all information we could get throughout the nation indicates they are right about that."

Rogers had copies of an exchange of letters, in one of which the FCC mentioned a complaint by Waldron Leonard of suburban Alexandria, Va., that viewers were being misled "as to the manner of selecting participants for the program."

The U. S. Marshal's office in New Orleans said the ship has been under seizure since Oct. 14.

The Pacific Conqueror is one of nine World Tramp Agencies freighters stranded between New England and Texas.

Another vessel was stranded in Haifa, Israel, after running out of fuel last month.

The Seafarers International Union in New York said the ships were operated by the World Tramping Agencies.

The Pacific Conqueror came here to pick up a cargo of grain, but was unable to do so until the legal difficllties were straightened out.

After the plight of the crew was published, local citizens and groups flooded the switchboard at the offices of the two newspapers here.

The situation was reported to Myron Falk, director of the local United Givers Fund.

Falk turned the job of coordinating the gift operation over to J. C. Chevallier of the Volunteers of America.

Within hours, a launch loaded with $1,000 worth of foodstufs from a marine supply house was delivered to the Pacific Conqueror.

The Baton Rouge Water Co. gave fresh water to fill the ships nearly-empty tanks and Chevallier arranged for its transportation.

The Red Cross contributed $100 as one of the first gifts.

In Albany, 40 miles away, a volunteer group of women solicited aid and planned to deliver it later in the day.

Gremillion Hits NAACP As 'Ghost'

Louisiana receive, yet it seeks to dictate to the people how to live and how to run its business. If this is justice, then it must be a new concept."

Gremillion said the law requiring non-profit organizations to file membership lists "was put on the statute books to protect minority groups from discrimination, and it has been held constitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in previous cases as a reasonable regulation of a corporation by a state.

"I certainly hope this power is not disturbed under the guise of alleged civil rights," he said. "I don't know of anyone hurt by this statute—even patriotic organizations like the American Legion and others comply."

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Negro attorney in the latest Louisiana school integration case said Friday he hopes public anger will be aimed at segregationists in the Democratic race for governor.

A. P. Tureaud said in an interview state Sen. William Rainach is agitating to a point where everybody is angry.

Tureaud said he hopes it will backfire "at the Rainach forces, not at the Negroes, thereby creating some consensus of public sympathy for the Negro."

Tureaud said Rainach is trying to make a political issue of the suit to force school boards in East Baton Rouge and St. Helena Parishes to integrate.

But, he said, "I just don't think of him as a serious candidate."

Rainach is one of the 11 Democratic candidates for governor. He is top segregation leader as chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation.

Tureaud said the integration suit, filed in federal court at Baton Rouge recently with the Democratic primary set for Dec. 5, had nothing to do with politics.

All governor candidates are declared supporters of seperation of the races.

Tureaud also denied the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is involved in the integration suit. He is attorney for the NAACP.

Tureaud said he was merely clearing up his work and said he did not specifically pick this time to file the motion.

He predicted Rainach will turn the state into a segregation cauldron.

The motion will give Rainach something to pin one of his issues on, Tureaud said, but Rainach cannot stop the fight for integration.

He doesn't regret filing the motion, he said.

"Sen. Rainach," Tureaud said, "probably wouldn't hesitate to take any action that would give him the feeling that he was Sir Galahad of Louisiana."

"If Sen. Rainach were elected governor," he said, "I don't believe he could do any more to thwart the rights of Negro citizens than if he were a private citizen."

Tureaud said the suit was just another regular procedure in the long fight for equal rights.

If original demands had been met, he said, there probably wouldn't be any now for school integration.

Tureaud declined to say whether separate but equal facilities, denied twenty years ago, would be acceptable now.

The Negro's ultimate aim, he said, is "full equality, not a second class citizen and not being denied his civil rights."

Investors Should Eye Principal

NEW YORK (AP) — Investors putting money into stocks and bonds for retirement years should look for security of principal and yield of income instead of growth, a Wall Street firm of analysts says.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute in some advice for this type of investor, cautioned that in planning for retirement he is more restricted in the selection of securities.

"The person buying stocks for the purpose of providing retirement income and security must be guided by rigid objectives," the institute says. "Special situations should, as a rule, be avoided. Speculations should only be made with risk capital.

"The retirement folio should consist of about 25 per cent of good grade investment stocks, common and preferred, and 75 per cent in good grade bonds.

"The past earnings of the company are important to consider. As a general rule, corporations should earn a minimum of at least twice the interest on all of its bonds. The more speculative the corporation or industry, the greater should be the number of times the interest earned.

"The minimum standard for a bond of investment quality to earn for public utilities is four times the interest; railroads, five times; industrials, seven times. That means the rate of earnings for all its bonds, junior and senior issues and any other outstanding notes.

"The retirement portfolio also should be diversified as to industries and should contain bonds in railroads, utilities, industrials, government and tax exempt issues."

"Tight money again is taking headlines away from the steel strike," says E. F. Hutton & Co. "Rising interest rates are putting a double squeeze on farmers because not only are their costs rising but their income is declining. Again the vulnerability of the farm equipment stocks is underscored."

Noting that the Dow Jones industrial average has been moving up almost daily in the last two weeks, Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. says, "the buying side of the market appears to be the most favored one and we see nothing in the current situation to warrant any change in this trend."

Amott, Baker & Co. says it feels that the stock market may be inconclusive for the rest of this year because of the steel strike and the pressure of tax loss selling. The analysts say, "We repeat our opinion that stock prices may set new highs sometime early in 1960 and that periods of interim market weakness should be used to accumulate good quality stocks with basic fundamental value."

POSES AS BOY — Barbara Malpass, 20, who has been masquerading as a homeless boy and was unmasked in Golden, Colo., is shown during high school days in Glenmont, Albany, N.Y., suburb. (AP Wirephoto)

Girl Glad Masquerade Is Finished

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Barbara Ann Malpass, who is 20 and has a wide, toothy smile, Friday (1) sampled some home-baked bread; (2) kept a scarf knotted around her crew-cut head; (3) refused to put on blue jeans and (4) said she's glad to be found out as a girl.

"I don't want to think about that boy part anymore," she said.

Through some 25 states and at least four jails since leaving home at Glenmont, N. Y., near Albanh Barbara Ann masqueraded as a boy with a ducktail haircut.

As Charles Williams, aged 16, she spent 37 days in this foothills town west of Denver, then five weeks more in the home of a deputy sheriff and his wife before the suspicious officer got her to admit her identity.

The deputy, Sam Teague, before learning she was a girl, had a barber cut her hair short. Barbara says she won't be seen in public without the scarf or a hat until it grows out.

She said her secret nearly was discovered the day she was arrested here, Aug. 2.

"They were going to put a boy in my cell, but I started a fight right away and they separated us," she said.

A desire to see the West made her leave home last April after yelling to her mother, Mrs. Albert Malpass, "Mom, I'm going. I've just got to go."

"I decided to dress as a boy," Barbara said. "I felt it would solve lots of problems and keep me out of trouble because I didn't have much money and I knew I would be doing some hitchhiking."

She spent some time in jail at Fremont, Ohio; Anderson, Ind., and Omaha, Neb., she said, before being picked up here for hitchhiking and for questioning about a burglary. Sheriff Art Wemuth said she had been cleared of any connection with the burglary.

When she was told she might be given psychiatric help, the girl said she doesn't need it.

"I have no desire to be a boy," she said. "Now that it's behind me I want to get a job—a woman's job—and show all of these people that they have not misplaced their faith in believing in me."

Teague and his wife said Barbara seems to have talent as an artist.

Profits On Express

"Can the costly deficits of the Railway Express Agency be turned into profits?"

Modern Railroading magazine poses that question and then proceeds to express the view that there is a good chance of success in a new approach to the express agency's financial problem.

The agency will continue as a railroad-owned enterprise, but on a reorganized basis.

"The essence of the new approach," says Modern Railroading, "is to allow R.E.A. more autonomy; give it freedom to operate its small-package service as a business, and let the operation succeed or fail on its own merits.

"The new agreement that is a key part of the plan allows the agency (with some limitations) to route its traffic and choose its mode of transport with an eye to meeting competition and operating the service more efficiently—instead of following the historic traffic pattern."

Some needed rate revisions have been approved by the interstate commerce commission, which also approved the new agreement. The agency is studying its entire rate structure, in order to work out future revisions, up or down, based on elements of cost, service and competition.

This development is highly desirable. The nation needs its privately owned national express service and that service needs to be put on a profitable footing. It is to the credit of the management that it has gone ahead in spite of financial troubles and that some $60 million has been spent on new and improved plants and equipment since 1954.

Modern Railroading says: "We believe there is still a place for an efficient, privately-run package business — and we're confident that Mr. Johnson (R.E.A.'s president) and his able associates can operate the new R.E.A. successfully.

"The railroads are turning their express agency loose so that it can operate like a business. Now, if the government would only do the same for the railroads."

If the railroads had the power to turn the express agency loose, so it could operate like a business, it is a wonder it did not do so long ago. Heretofore the huge deficits incurred by the express agency have had to be absorbed by the railroads, which themselves were operating under deficits.

Announcement that the express agency will operate as a separate entity brings at least four points sharply into focus. They include:

1. There is a tremendous demand for a small-package business.

2. A competent private business institution should be able to make good profits on such an enterprise.

3. No private business would grow and prosper if it were operated in the way in which the express agency has been operated heretofore.

4. Capably operated, the express agency would provide lively and stimulating competition for the federal parcel post service and improved services by both these agencies should greatly benefit the public.

The Railway Express Agency and the parcel post service are the only generally recognized agencies dealing exclusively in the handling and transportation of small packages, although the number of such packages each year surely runs into many millions, if not billions. A large proportion of this is interstate transport and therefore interstate agencies are required.

Bus companies do a small amount of package transportation service but the amount they handle is practically nothing compared to what could be developed.

Now that the Railway Express Agency plans to operate on a business-like basis and if the bus companies would develop both interstate and intrastate package transportation services the new life that it is possible to inject into the small package transportation business would be something marvelous to see.

Teen-Age Starvation

While many corners of the land are hammering away at juvenile delinquency and the high crime rate, there seems to be little written which shows a genuine concern for the millions of teen-agers who happen to fall into the "good behavior" pattern.

This pitiful turn of events on the part of adults leads the most sensitive segment of the population to believe there is no attention for them unless they misbehave. Now a report has been issued which may put an end to America's most slighted class — the good teen-agers.

They don't eat right. Perhaps it is based on the "hunger strike" principle in that they are fasting until someone puts in a kind word for their age bracket. But a dietician from Washington State, Inez Eckblad, said a recent survey indicates teen-agers' diets are only slightly better than those in the world's starvation areas in terms of actual food value.

Miss Eckblad is a member of the national 4-H committee on improving nutrition for U. S. youngsters. The committee analyzed research data collected across the nation. Conclusions were that the youngsters were filling up on foods which supplied very little in the way of calories and body builders in a land where every electric refrigerator holds a plentiful supply.

"Empty calorie foods — sweets, potato chips or soft drinks—do not have the essential food elements that growing teen-agers need," Miss Eckblad summarized.

The report pointed to diets lacking in calcium, iron, and vitamin C. Up to six out of ten girls in the age bracket do not get enough protein, calcium, iron, vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin and vitamin C, the report said.

Though the girls have no monopoly on the diet shortages, the traditional woman-worry — overweight—is at the bottom of much of the self-inflicted short rations. And the ever-popular candy, popcorn and pop routine enjoyed by both sexes just doesn't make a well balanced meal.

On the positive side, the report urged using the "big four" food groups as a daily guide—the milk, meat, vegetable-fruit and the breads-cereal categories.

As to amounts, the report suggested teen-agers drink four glasses of milk a day and have at least two servings of meat. Dark green or deep yellow vegetables should be included in meals at least every other day.

Though the report showed a genuine concern for the younger set, it did not put all the technicalities in terms the teen-agers could readily absorb; namely, there is nothing "square" about a square meal.

Taken For A Ride Again

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Nehru's Big Difficulties

Man Who Rules India Through Congress Party Brings Troubles By Attempting To Be All Things To Everybody

Nehru, who rules modern India through the Congress Party, is the father of his own difficulties. His country, after it was given its independence by Great Britain, sought a technique for being all things to all sides. To avoid war or being involved in diplomatic difficulties, Nehru adopted the remoteness of philosophy. He remained within the Commonwealth, although he abhorred the Empire. He accepted American aid but also sought and got Russian aid. He was opposed to all forms of imperialism but attempted to build an Indian Ocean hegemony. He denied the overlordship of any nation but established one in Kashmir. He worked out a co-existence with Red China in collaboration with Chou En-lai but was forced to give refuge to Red China's enemy, the Dalai Lama of Tibet. Everlastingly prattling about peace, he is now on the verge of war with Red China.

Nehru's problem is that he cannot control the course of history. It works its way through channels which he cannot master. for instance, the establishment of the Communist state in Kerala might have been averted if Nehru had found jobs for thousands of intellectuals who are out of work. Perhaps he might have achieved that by establishing a system of general compulsory education from the kindergarten to the university. That would have given B.A.'s and M.A.'s jobs.

In India, this would not only require a huge outlay of funds, as it does anywhere, but it would come in conflict with local customs and local languages and dialects and amazing varieties of religious practices. At any rate, he had to put down the Communists in Kerala and thus deny himself the glory of complete and perfect toleration of evil as well as good. His life has been a constant compromise with what he says he believes to be true.

Perhaps Nehru will learn that the Platonic life that he leads, far from the madding crowd and the realism of immediate problems, is a luxury which the upper middle class of India could enjoy when Great Britain manned the boundaries and kept other conquerors out.

India has had a long history of being conquered and of being held by aliens who ultimately became Indians of one sort or another. The British sealed the borders and for two centuries kept out other invaders, particularly the Russians and the Chinese. The great luxury of the upper and middle classes in India was protected by British arms and diplomacy.

The Russians had no claims on India but held that what Clive could do by sea, some Russian could do by land. Russia was like a snowball, blown in all directions by the winds of circumstance and growing ever larger as it rolled on. The Khyber Pass was an invitation to take India but Russia, under the Czars, did not seek a war with England. The Czars, like the present Communists, believed in the inevitability of Russia's conquest of the world, and when they looked at the map, there was ample reason for their conclusions.

* * *

Although China was a dismembered country much of this century, suffering from spheres of influence, territorial possessions by foreign countries, concessions, settlements, extraterritoriality, etc., etc., nevertheless in every Chinese memory were the great days of the Middle Kingdom when Peking was the center of the Universe and when nations from distart places sent tribute to the Manchu court.

Although the Chinese overthrew the Manchus and became a Republic, controlled by Warlords, they were very proud of Manchu operations, particularly of such a regime as that of the Emperor Chien Lung when China was most expanded.

This is a problem that faces Nehru, because Communist China is using nationalistic expansion as an off-set to the hard times which the Commune plans imposed on an otherwise gay people. The Chinese like war, despite what has been writtenabou t their pacifism. I once calculated that there has not been a century of peace in all of Chinese history, their greatest historical novel, the "San Kuo," really a vast collection of folk history, deals with wars and carnage. Confucius wrote so lovingly of peace because he lived in the midst of war. The Revolution of 1912 let loose the militarism of the nation and not the Constitutionalists took over but the Warlords.

It is this Chinese militarism that Nehru is now encountering and he does not know what to do about it.

SYLVIA PORTER

Cash Waits Many

Thousands Unknowingly Entitled To Pensions In Deperate Needs

Right now there are hundreds of thousands of Americans in agonizing, desperate need in this country who could legally be getting incomes running to more than $250 a month — but who aren't getting those incomes because they simply aren't aware they are entitled to them.

This group includes disabled workers over 50 years of age who don't know that an amendment to the social security law last year greatly eased the "work" requirements for their eligibility.

It includes dependents of disabled workers who don't know that under the 1958 law they are eligible for benefits for the first time.

It includes dependent parents of deceased workers who don't know that they now can draw benefits even if the deceased worker's widow or child has been drawing benefits for years.

It includes disabled children of a retired or deceased worker who don't know that they can draw benefits at any age if their disability began before the age of 18.

It includes countless thousands whose applications for benefits were turned down before the law was last amended and who don't know that if they apply again, their claims may be allowed and they may collect a big chunk of benefits retroactive to November 1958.

"The number forfeiting benefits today could be tremendous, for we estimate 400,000 were made eligible under the 1958 amendments and we know that the number of applicants hasn't been anywhere near that," said a spokesman for the New York Social Security Office yesterday.

"It's so terribly important to let these needy people know the benefits to which they're entitled. And every month that they wait they lose money because as of September, payments are now retroactive for no more than 12 months. Every month's delay means a loss of another month in back payments."

Just as an indication of what this could mean, disability benefits are the same as benefits for retirement — can run to $119 a month for an individual, $254.10 a month for a family.

The reason I called at the Social Security Office was my own realization of how little I knew about the 1958 changes in the law. Here, then, are facts that well might be of vital meaning to you:

(1) There now is only one work requirement that must be met by a disabled worker to qualify for disability benefits at age 50: He must have worked on jobs covered by social security in at least five out of the last 10 years before his disability started.

The old requirement that a worker must also have worked during 1½ out of three years before the disability has been wiped out.

* * *

"The change may be of key importance not only to those who become disabled in the future, but also to those who may have been denied benefits in the past," said the official. "If your claim was denied before August 1958, reapply now."

(2) Dependents of disabled beneficiaries can now qualify for benefits for the first time. The amended law provides for payments to: a wife aged 62 or over or a husband 65 or over; a wife under 62 if she has in her care a child under 18 or an eligible disabled child 18 or over; children under 18; a disabled child of any age if the disability began before his or her birthday.

A family of a disabled beneficiary aged 50 to 65 can get the same protection as the family members of an old-age beneficiary.

Memories Good

MEMORIES are wonderful . . . As they can make us glad . . . And even those that now and then . . . May cause us to be sad . . . Memories are clouds of white . . . And rainbows in the sky . . . Dreams of day and years ago . . . With laughter or a sigh . . . Often they remind us of . . . Mistakes that we have made . . . And nudge us in a quiet way . . . To earn a better grade . . . And that is surely logical . . . For we could not recall . . . Anything if humans had no memory at all . . . All memories in some way have . . . A purpose in this life . . . Especially to help us face . . . Our struggle and our strife.

Castro Vitriolics

U.S. Convinced Nothing Is Going To Stop Fidel's Attacks

This country is quite clearly convinced that nothing it can do is going to stop the vitriolic attacks of Fidel Castro on the United States. The United States statement delivered to the Cuban government by Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal in late October spelled out plainly that this government thinks Castro intends to continue his efforts to create hostility and distrust of the United States.

* * *

But we intend to show our good faith by such acts as that taken this week of sending a force with planes and other equipment to Florida to prevent unauthorized flights from the United States to Cuba by persons who might stir up further trouble.

There have been predictions that Castro will not last two years. No one in this government is making any predictions of any sort. Certainly there is no present possibility of any one rising in Cuba who could achieve popular support to the extent necessary to re-establish stable government.

But suppose Castro, the bungling Marxist, stays in power for several years? What effect will his campaign of hate against the Yankees have in Latin America? Nothing is more important to this country than solidarity with Central and South America. We expressed that feeling by the Monroe Doctrine in 1823. It is even more important now when some twenty countries in Latin America though still under - populated have one hundred eighty three million people and vast undeveloped resources.

* * *

There is no doubt that Moscow is looking at Cuba and through it to all Latin America with just about as deep interest as Washington is. Until a few years ago there was little to encourage Russia in that area but things have been going better for the Soviet recently. Communist infiltration has been considerable, but not enough to cause us to lose faith in our neighbors to the south.

On the investment front there has been apprehension by some American circles over increasing sentiment for nationalization of private United States and other foreign enterprise in Latin America.

The Bridges - Johnston amendment to the mutual security act this year took note of that and provided that where the president is convinced of nationalization, expropriation, confiscation or other taking without adequate compensation of property owned by the United States or any national thereof, he shall suspend assistance to such country.

It is estimated that $500,000,000 of American investment is being put into Latin America this year. Within the last six months an estimated $150,000,000 of American capital has been invested in Argentina alone. Oil companies, meat packers, automobile manufacturers are among those willing to express their faith in the Frondizi government.

* * *

In the 25 years of its existence the Export - Import bank has made 40 per cent of all its loans to Latin America. The bank's total loans to Mexico, Central and South America have aggregated $3,800,000,000, being used principally for such development purposes as financing machinery and equipment, utilities and transportation facilities.

This country has learned a number of lessons in its dealings with Latin America and the Caribbean area in recent years. There was a time when we greeted with glee the fall of a dictator there. But the fall of the dictators have paid no dividends in friendship to us.

One of the Communist aims was to break the voting bloc which supported the United States position in the United Nations. Cuba, under Dictator Batista, was a vigorous supporter of American policy in the United Nations. Time after time Batista's Cuban representative helped block Soviet maneuvers. He backed the protest of the Soviet attack on the Hungarian patriots.

* * *

The question is often asked if there are any circumstances under which the United States would intervene in Cuba. Under the Platt amendment (authored by Senator Orville H. Platt of Connecticut) Cuba in its constitution provided for intervention by the United States if public security and credit were threatened.

Cuban President Palma requested our intervention in 1906. We landed Marines in the race war, which followed the Negro uprising in Oriente Province in 1912. We sent General Enoch H. Crowder of the United States Army to draw up new Cuban election laws after the 1916 election violence, but that was at Cuba's insistence.

The Platt amendment was repealed in 1934 as part of the Roosevelt good neighbor policy. At the Special Inter-American Conference in Buenos Aires in December, 1936, a protocol was accepted, the first paragraph of which read: "The High Contracting Parties declare inadmissable the intervention of any one of them, directly or indirectly, for whatever reason, in the internal or external affairs of any other of the parties."

But the Monroe Doctrine is still unilateral United States policy. This country could not stand by and see any Latin American country go Communist.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Big Pain In Face

Trigeminal Neuralgia Can Bring Almost Unbearable Discomforts

IS THIS MARRIAGE?

In a recent column I wrote that occasionally "aloneness" is as important as "togetherness." However, sometimes "aloneness" can be overdone to the detriment of others. As in this letter from Mrs. X. of Washington, D. C. D. C.

"Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Your column 'Too Much Togetherness,' has caused a good deal of controversy and nervousness in our family.

"We have been married 15 years and have two girls (13 and 11) and a boy (14 months old). My husband is an officer in the navy, which means he is away a good deal. The girls adore their father and look forward to week ends when we can all be together for trips, picnics, etc. I look forward to a gala time when we can entertain, go dancing, play golf and bridge together.

* * *

"However, my husband's love is hunting, fishing, mountain climbing — out in the open roughing it.

"Half the week ends in the year he's off — every week end from October through January (hunting season) — and two week ends out of four since will be spent in the mountains or on the water with his closest friend, a widower with no children or responsibilities.

"As a result, the children and I sit alone. Saturdays and Sundays are the same as Tuesdays and Wednesdays for me. I wash, iron, and sew. This can be frustrating.

"My husband pointed out your last paragraph about "respecting the other fellow's wishes." He said I should be glad he has a hobby. Well, I am. But when a hobby becomes a disease, then something has to give.

"I married for companionship, not to be only a maid, cook and nurse. Is this marriage?"

* * *

COMMENT: Your husband has done some pointing, now you can do some of the same. Let him read this: I think he is overdoing "aloneness." He is reneging on his marriage contract. His outdoor hobby has turned into an obsession.

The years fly by. When the children (and you) have grown older he will long for (and never be able to recapture) the young years of being together with wife and the kids.

Wake up Admiral!

Daily Devotional

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches. — Revelation 2:7.

Many thoughts and ideas can be found in this Scripture. One is that we will be helped and blessed by a reading and study of the Bible. Another, which also seems appropriate, is the suggestion that those who would know the truth and "be free" will find church attendance both helpful and inspiring — with ministers and teachers representing the true Spirit, which is Christ. Surely, it is appropriate for the Christian to be "in the spirit" on the Lord's Day — and in His presence in a place of worship.

Gracious God, help us to an understanding of Thy Word through personal study and by hearing Thy teachers. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

CLOTHES Make Your Man

By Harry Juster

DEAR MR. JUSTER: My 15-year-old daughter was invited to a dancing party at the home of a school friend. I bought her a new dress and she looked like a doll. Her date came to pick her up in jeans and a tee shirt. My husband barely resisted the impulse to throw him out by the seat of his jeans and refused to let her go with him. Why do parents allow boys to go out like that?..

Disgusted Mother

It's too bad parents don't act on the impulse your husband barely resisted. It might get across the idea that a boy dresses up for a date. A youngster's clothes consciousness starts with the parents. Wearing a suit or neatly pressed slacks and sport jacket should be automatic.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: Why do men resent criticism? When I make some comment to my husband about his clothes, he shuts up like a clam. All I'm trying to do is be helpful. I just can't understand his feeling that I'm trying to tear apart the way he's dressed.

Mrs. W.

Is it what you say or how you say it? Here are a few don'ts. Don't compare him with other men. Don't say, "You may not like this, but . . .", or "why don't you ever listen to me?" Mix in a little praise and flattery. Most men are open to suggestion, if put tactfully. Just be sure, whatever your comment, that you're right.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: Why is it that when some men get a new hat, it will look good for months and months. Two weeks after my husband buys one, it's so out of shape, you'd think he had resurrected it from the attic. Just how can he keep his hat looking new?

How does he put it on? That's the key. Grabbing a hat by the crown or at the sides of the brim and forcing it into place will ruin its shape in a hurry. Have him hold the brim at front and back while adjusting to the head and see if it doesn't stay looking new longer. Of course, care in "parking" it and occasional brushing help, too.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: The sales manager of our company is a bug on appearance. In his opinion anyone who doesn't wear his breast pocket handkerchief neatly folded is violating a basic rule of proper dress. I happen to like mine with the points out. Am I out of step?

Art

Step out with your handkerchief folded, points out, or natural puff style, whichever you like, and don't worry about being out of step. There's no one right or wrong way of wearing it. It's strictly a matter of personal preference. I like it worn casually, looking ready to use and always fresh.

Is your coat collar allergic to you? If it's standoffish and refuses to associate with your neck, it can make your entire suit look ill - fitting. One, be sure your collar is fitted to hug your neck. Two, take a moment to adjust it into place when putting on your coat.

Should a 16-year-old be allowed to pick his own clothes? Read the answer next week.

Mr. Juster will be glad to answer your questions. He also has a booklet, "Guide to Better Dress" which includes a color chart, physical proportions chart, and many tips for improving appearance. The booklet is available free. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to Harry Juster in care of this paper.

How To Keep Well

HEALTH IN THE GOLD RUSH DAYS

My hat is off to the brave men and women who participated in the conquest of the west during the gold rush years. Indians were a minor hazard; illness was more serious because physicians were few and far between and medical science was almost in its infancy.

The west is dotted with cemeteries like those in Central City, Black Hawk, and Nevadaville, in Colorado. Many of the graves are unmarked whereas others have marble headstones that are crumbling with age. Dr. Theodore E. Beyer of Denver has written about the tragedies associated with these desolate and decaying cemeteries. A mother and child rest in one grave and three children in another. The markers bear the same date, showing that all died on the same day, probably from diphtheria.

The early settlers suffered from the usual diseases of the day, including pneumonia, sore throat, and croup. Epidemics of typhoid, diphtheria, and tuberculosis were common. The hardrock miners had to contend with the deadly effects of quartz dust. Most of the mines were crude shafts with no filters or methods of control.

I often wonder how many men found gold, only to die a year or two later from miner's consumption. This may explain why so many prospectors sold rich veins for a pittance and returned east to live in a more comfortable environment. Legal control of conditions in the hard rock mining industry was not enacted in Colorado until 1899.

Dr. Beyer hopes a memorial will be erected to the thousands of unlettered men who gave their lives to insure the success of the west. Their sacrifices should be recognized in the form of a monument patterned after that of the Unknown Soldier in Washington or the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

BURPING BROTHER

H. L. writes: Since my brother had a stroke several years ago he has to belch quite a bit. His diet is simple — no fried, spicy or gas forming foods. Do you think his inactivity is responsible?

REPLY

Yes, but there are other more common causes such as indigestion, air swallowing, nervousness and medicines. There is no reason why a person who has had a stroke cannot suffer also from gall bladder disease or peptic ulcer. The family physician is in a better position to answer your specific question.

POOR POSTURE

M. V. writes: Can swayback cause enlargement of the abdomen?

REPLY

Something's got to give when the posture is poor and the abdomen usually protrudes when the spine bends in this way. The opposite also may occur, in that an enlarged abdomen may cause swayback in an attempt to redistribute the body's weight. This is observed frequently in pregnancy.

FAINTS AT HOSPITAL

T. C. writes: Whenever I visit anyone at the hospital, I faint. What would you advise?

REPLY

Stay away. Hospitals have all they can do with the patients at .. hand and should not be asked to treat people who are so emotional they are bowled over by an unpleasant smell or the sight of a sick person.

SPOTS BEFORE EYES

Mrs. E. writes: What is done for eye floaters?

REPLY

These are clumps of cells, or strands of fibrin floating in the fluid within the eyeball. They are noticeable when they pass through the line of vision. Send a stamped addressed envelope for leaflet on spots before the eyes.

BRING ON THE POPCORN —Six-year-old Gail Williams can afford that revealing laugh—she's goa a mouthful of grown-up teeth to flash. The British miss lost her baby teeth prematurely and it was estimated that it will be 18 months before new ones start to grow. Her dentist thought dentures would have a good psychological effect. In any event, Gail's choppers are the envy of her school chums near Doncaster, Yorkshire. (AP Wirephoto)

Father Won't Discuss Actions Of Daughter

GLENMONT, N.Y. (UPI) —The father of Barbara Ann Malpass, 20, refused Friday to talk about his daughter's escapades in three western states where she masqueraded for six months as a 16-year-old boy.

Albert Malpass, a carpet layer. hung up his telephone receiver quickly when questioned about plans for returning the girl to her home here.

"I absolutely am not answering questions," he said.

Goldfine Set For Chance To Answer Query

WASHINGTON (AP) — Boston Industrialist Bernard Goldfine will get a new chance Dec. 9 to answer the questions involved in his conviction for contempt of Congress.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee announced this today in recessing his subcommittee's inquiry into television quiz show scandals.

Goldfine was cited for contempt last year after refusing to answer 18 questions before the Harris subcommittee in its investigation of federal regulatory agencies.

Those hearings and disclosures of expensive gifts from Goldfine to his friend Sherman Adams led to Adams' resignation as chief aide to President Eisenhower. Adams denied he had applied any influence on behalf of Goldfine, but said his usefulness had been impaired.

Speeding Car Slams Bridge, Four Killed

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (UPI)— A speeding car slammed into a bridge near here early Friday, and four of the five occupants were killed.

The only survivor was two-year old Stanley Morris, Jr. He was reported in fair condition at Maury County Hospital. His parents, a brother and another occupant of the car died instantly.

"The car was going too fast, and the driver apparently was too tired to be driving," highway patrol Sgt. Laten Mullins said.

Mullins identified the dead as Stanley Morris, 36, of Tallassee, Ala., his wife, 32, and a son Dale 7. William Rhea 35, Tuskegee, Ala., also died.

Morris had a job as an iron foundry worker at Muncie Ind., and Sgt. Mullins said the group apparently was on its way to Muncie when the accident occurred before dawn.

Reclaim Effort Thrown Out Of Federal Court

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal referee today threw out of court a Dominican Republic effort to reclaim $750,000 allegedly paid former top officials of the Mutual Broadcasting System to air propaganda on the network.

Referee Asa Herzog, in his written decision, said "I am convinced that claimant conspired with Guterma and Roach to spread foreign propaganda in the United States without publicizing the nature and source thereof" in violation of the law.

The reference was to Alexander L. Guterma, former MBS president; and Hal Roach Jr., former network board chairman.

Both Guterma and Roach have been indicted in Washington and are awaiting trial.

Drive Starts To Draft Nixon

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)—A campaign to draft Vice President Richard Nixon to run for the Republican presidential nomination was launched Friday in New Hampshire.

Members of the "Nixon - for-President" planning board include Sens. Styles Bridges and Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) and former Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

This is the first official public drive to draft Nixon for the presidency. A "draft Rockefeller" movement has been in operation throughout New Hampshire for more than a month.

New Hampshire holds the first-in-the-nation presidential primary March 8th. Nixon is expected to enter this primary. Rockefeller may enter it.

Brigitte Bardot Alone; Husband Goes In Army

PARIS (UPI)—Sex kitten Brigitte Bardot sat alone in her Paris apartment Friday with her movie career in mothballs and her handsome husband miles away as a recruit in the army.

Her husband, actor Jacques Charrier, was spending his 23rd birthday at an army barracks at the start of a two-year tour of duty required of all healthy, male Frenchmen. His life was not made easier by the fact that his barracks mates had pin-up pictures of his wife tacked over their bunks.

Brigitte, also 23, apparently planned to live alone and quietly until their baby arrives in February.

Driver Pulls Sports Car

MIAMI (UPI)—It had to happen sooner or later.

A woman motorist drove off with a tiny foreign sports car locked in the rear bumper of her big American car.

Miss Coral De Angelus, 29, insisted she didn't know she had a hitchhiker. After all, she explained, she couldn't even see the little Kharman-Ghia in her rear view mirror.

The policeman said she was drunk. She had to be, he said, if she didn't notice the banging and screeching tires.

Later, Miss De Angelus changed her story. She knew the little car was there all right. She was just trying to shake it loose when stopped.

Miss De Angelus, who said the cars apparently became entangled as she drove away from a bar, was booked for drunken driving.

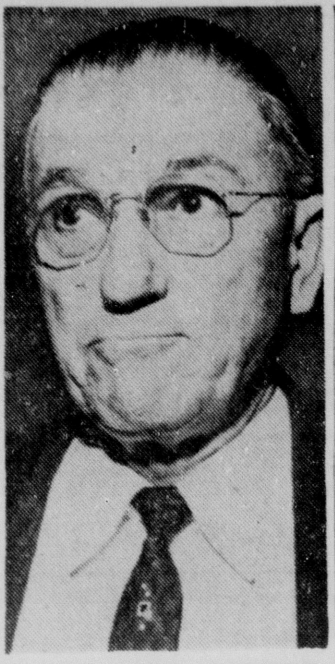
Miss. Man Killed When Car Stalls

EUPORA, Miss. (AP)—William E. Medders, 24-year-old native of Choctaw County, received fatal injuries last night when hit by a car while trying to start his stalled automobile.

Highway Patrolman L. W. Gammel of Europa said Medders' car had gone onto the wrong side of the road as he pushed it. Gammel said a car driven by William Sission of Eupora, approaching from the other direction, dodged the Meders car, but hit Medders as he stepped from behind the car.

Gammel said Sissons was unable to avoid him.

Medders is survived by his widow.



GOT LYNCH REPORT —Mississippi Judge Sebe Dale, in whose court a county grand jury made its report on the lynching of Negro Mack Charles Parker, says he doesn't think the U. S. justice department has a chance to get an indictment. The department will seek action against the lynchers of Parker, dragged from his cell last April. The body was found later in a river. College Head Refuses To Heed Pleas

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Grayson Kirk took just six minutes Friday to give a "no" answer to Columbia University students urging reinstatement of TV quiz hoaxer Charles Van Doren to his teaching job.

Senior Lloyd Moglen, one of the leaders in getting up a petition of 650 students, mostly undergraduates, charged that Van Doren had been made the scapegoat of the quiz investigation because of his prominent literary name.

Moglen said he favored rehiring Van Doren despite the fact that he lied when he told a congressional committee by telegram and a grand jury in person that he had never received help in winning $129,000 on "21." Van Doren later confessed before the House committee.

"I'm a big enough boy to realize we all do a lot of lying," said Moglen. "It's too bad he (Van Doren) had to do it in front of 100 million people."

The university's Board of Trustees accepted Van Doren's resignation offer "immediately" last Monday shortly after he confessed the hoax to House investigators.

Two undergraduate students presented the petition to Kirk. They declined later to disclose what he had told them.

However, the university announced: "Dr. Kirk told the students that the matter of the resignation had received careful and deliberate consideration, that the case is now closed, and that there would be no further comment."

Van Doren had been an assistant professor of English since receiving his Ph.D. last spring.

Man Offering Money If Show Proved Fixed

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (UPI) — A former Buffalo, N.Y., taxicab driver who won $100,000 on two televised quiz shows offered $1,000 Friday to anyone who could prove he was on any "fixed" program.

The man, Tom Kane, won his money in 1957 and 1958 on "the $64,000 Question" and "The $64,000 Challenge."

Irish-born Kane, 52-year-old English language expert, said it bothered him that area residents who don't know him personally "believe I was part of this deceit."

He said it would be timely now if the television producers "who were in on the fixes came out with a list of the genuine winners, the people who didn't need the answers."

Rebs Eliminated By Bossier, 21-0

BOSSIER CITY, La. (Special) — Bossier High eliminated West Monroe from the district one triple-A title race, 21-0, here Friday night, and the result set up a district championship game between Bossier and Ouachita Parish High of Monroe next Friday night at Monroe.

Bossier's Bearcats have a 3-1 league record to shoot at Ouachita, unbeaten in four but tied by West Monroe. The loss last night was the second in league play for the Rebels.

A homecoming audience of some 2,000 fans braved near-freezing weather to watch the Bearcats completely dominate a game in which they led 14-0 at the half which ended with Bossier six inches away from the West Monroe goal.

Bossier's sudden show of power ran up 12 first downs to one for the Rebs in the first half, and rolled up 215 yards against 37 for the Rebs in the same time.

Rodney Hucklebridge, a 230-pound tackle-turned-fullback, pulverized the Rebel line, rushing for 121 yards in 15 carries, but he failed to score.

Halfback Bill McClung scored on runs of one and six yards. and picked up 106 yards in 17 carries.

Quarterback Dennis Kile, who scooted 23 yards on a bootleg play for Bossier's first touchdown, gathered 60 yards in ten tries with the ball, and halfback Bill Alley went 41 in five carries.

Bossier dominance of the game was stalled in the third quarter when quarterback Ronnie Farmer sparked late Rebel drives to Bossier's 12 and 24, but the invaders couldn't manage the needed yardage to score.

Farmer, who faked the ball well and bravely ran the option, gained 52 yards in eight carries. Buck Fox picked up 25 in five, and John Covington had 16 in five for the Rebs.

Roscoe Holcomb and Leon Miletello were outstanding on defense, making the heavy percentage of Reb tackles in the secondary as the Bearcats battered through the West Monroe line.

TERREBORNE, 27-16

HOUMA, La. (AP) — Terrebonne went on a first half scoring spree Friday night for a 27-16 Triple-A victory over Southeast District foe Baton Rouge.

The victory was Terrebonne's second against no losses in district play. It was Baton Rouge's first district loss.

PAYNE GAINS FOUR — Neville fullback Devone Payne (40) moves for four yards to the Baker 11 in the first quarter here last night. The play came in the Tigers' initial touchdown drive. PAYNE SCORES TWICE

Tigers Plaster Baker, 21-0, For Homecoming Triumph

By JIM CALHOUN
Staff Sports Writer

Neville's power-studded Bengals, racing toward the state Class AA football championship, bombed Baker for two quick touchdowns then toyed around with field goal practice for almost three quarters to thrash the Buffs, 21-0, before a chilled homecoming crowd here Friday night.

If final scores were ever misleading, this was the case. The Tigers built up a 14-0 lead in the first period then tossed scoring opportunities out the window with five field goal attempts, each coming on first down in potential touchdown position.

The victory was triumph No. 8 for Coach Bill Ruple's undefeated Tigers. Baker, evidently outclassed and outmanned after the first few minutes of play, dropped its seventh game in nine contests.

Fleet 125-pound Dooley Haddad, probably the best second string halfback in the state, turned in the big play of an otherwise dull game on the opening kickoff. Little Dooley, who carried the Tigers's season opening kickoff back 94 yards against West Monroe, almost battered himself this time, streaking 99 yards to apparent paydirt but a holding penalty wiped it off the boards.

Fullback Devone Payne carried five yards for the first Neville touchdown and Haddad broke away on a 34-yard scamper and another six points near the end of the initial period.

After Baker had moved 52 yards to the Neville 15 on the second half kickoff, the Tigers decied to add six more points and Payne climaxed a drive to the goal on a 14-yard burst.

Joe Cage, seeing very limited duty, upped his season scoring total to 83 points with 3 conversions.

Tackle Mickey Cox, a 226-pound rock in the Neville defense, attempted field goals of 10, 26 and 12 yards but missed each time. Cage took his turn from the 17 and 22 but couldn't find the mark.

Neville took the kickoff to start the game and Haddad took charge. Ralph Robert bobbled the kick on his 10 and Haddad picked it up on the 1. He swung wide to the left, reversed his field and romped 99 yards down the right sideline. The Tigers were guilty of holding and took over with a first down on their own 19.

With Cage, Payne and Neal Gunn eating up the yardage, it took the Bengals 12 plays to move to the Buff 5. Payne crashed over tackle for the remaining distance.

Ed Herren got off a 20 - yard punt after the Buffs couldn't go and Neville stormed back again.

STATISTICS

Yards passing	18	31
Passes Int. by	0	2

Gunn picked up five yards to the 40, Cage got 3 and Payne added 3 down to the 34.

Then Haddad twiste off tackle, reversed his field and galloped 34 yards for the second score. Cage made it 14-0 with his conversion with 2:35 to go in the opening stanza.

Baker efforts were almost nil in the first half. The Buffs managed one first down and advanced only 40 yards on the ground. The nearest look the invaders got of the Tiger end zone was from the 46 after Cox' kickoff went out of bounds on their 40.

Obviously under orders from Ruple to keep the score respectable, Neville began its field goal game midway in the second period. After Bill Becton reeled off 14 yards for a first down on the Buff 3, Cox startled the crowd with a field goal attempt from the 10. It was no good.

Baker took possession on the 20 and fumbled immediately and Cox followed with a 26-yard try that failed.

Baker, which lost 6 fumbles during the game, booted the ball again just before the half ended.

Sub quarterback Beverly Franks tossed to end Sperry Brown for a first down on the 11 and Cage missed another first down field goal try from the 17.

With fullback Johnny Sewell the big gainer, Baker put togeher its one strong gasp in the third quarter.

Starting a drive from their own 33, the Buffs moved to the Tiger 15 in 12 plays where they were stopped on fourth down. Sewell gained 46 yards in the march.

The Tigers then started another drive. With Gunn's 38-yard thrust leading the way, Payne ended it with a 14-yard touchdown jaunt.

Cage and Cox tried unsuccessful field goals in the fourth period but the Baker wall blocked both.

Sperry Brown, a second string end. was the defensive standout of the game. He broke through to drop quarterback Francis Stacey for 10 and 11 yard losses and defended against end sweeps well.

Haddad wound up the Tigers' top rusher with 70 yards in 7 cracks at the white-skirted line. The rest of the Neville gains went something like this: Cage, 40 yards in 7 tries; Gunn, 68 yards in 6 attempts; Payne, 56 yards in 9 rushes; Becton, 29 yards in 6 thrusts and Ralph Roberts, 24 yards in 6 carries.

Sewell was the game's leading runner with 93 yards in 21 workhorse rushes.

Neville moved for 317 yards on the ground, getting 204 of them in the first half.

WINNFIELD FALLS

WINNFIELD, La. (Special) — The undefeated Natchitoches Red Devils spotted Winnfield the game's first touchdown before blazing back to take a 34-14 victory here last night before a shivering homecoming crowd.

All-state quarterback Don Beasley kept the homestanding Tigers guessing and grabbing all through the game with fancy ball handling, passing for three touchdowns and stopped a Winnfield drive on the three with a fourth-down tackle.

Beasley started out as the game's goat, fumbling the opening kickoff on his 25. Winnfield quarterback Mike Tinnerello four plays later passed to end Tommy Wyatt, outstanding on offense and defense for the winners, for 15 yards and a touchdown. Rusty Melton ran the PAT.

Beasley redeemed himself minutes later with an eight-yard pass to end Kerney Williams for a TD.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Detroit Pistons handed Minneapolis a fifth straight defeat Friday night, whipping the Lakers 118-113 in a wild, two-overtime National Basketball Assn. game.

Rookie Bailey Howell and veterans Dick McGuire and Earl Lloyd proved too much for the Lakers in the second overtime as the Pistons evened their record at 3-3.

The steadier Pistons, with six men in double figures, were almost out of it in the first overtime, but Shellie McMillon hit a jump shot with five seconds left for a 106-106 deadlock.

Elgin Baylor, who lead the Lakers with 33 points, had sent the game into overtime on a hook shot with five seconds remaining in regular time for a 95-95 knot.

Two minutes later, Mack Garrett took a pitchout and passed 12 yards to Jimmy Lawrence for a touchdown. The pass capped a 55-yard drive which included a 28-yard pass from Park to Trout.

Bastrop scored in the second period on an eight-play, 54-yard drive. Don Hardy scored from the one-foot line.

In the third period, Leon Martin blocked a punt and 11 plays later, fullback Douglas Goyne swept right end for 14 yards and a touchdown. Charles Burks missed the try for point again.

Bastrop made a last ditch effort with seven seconds left when Burks missed a 24-yard line field goal try that missed by inches.

FERRIDAY, 7-6

RAYVILLE, La. (Special) — Ferriday scored in the final three minutes and Freddy Marks bucked the line for the extra point to give Ferriday a 7-6 district 2-A victory over Rayville here last night.

Rayville scored in the third period on an 14-yard end sweep by Smokey Ellis.

In the fourth, Alfred Hamby took a 45-yard pass to the two-yard line from where Joe Webber plunged over for the Ferriday touchdown. Marks ran for the PAT to win the game.

Ferriday had 11 first downs to Rayville's eight.

MANGHAM 19-6

CROWVILLE, La. (Special) — Mangham held Crowville without a first down on the way to a 19-6 victory over the visitors in a battle of class B teams here last night.

Fullback Sylvester Johns, back in action after a long layoff because of injuries, scored one TD for the winners on a 15-yard dash up the middle. Quarterback Donald Adams scored the other two TDs, going three yards for one and 10 yards for the other. Adams added the other only extra point.

Burnette Savage scored Crowville's touchdown on a 60-yard run.

MENARD, 25-6

ALEXANDRIA, La. (Special)—Bobby Boisvert put on a near one-man show here last night as Menard celebrated homecoming with a 25-6 district 3-AA win over winless Jena.

Boisvert scored on runs of 23 and 4 yards in the first period and added a one - yard plunge in the second.

In the fourth period he set up the final touchdown with an intercepted pass and later scored from the four.

Boisvert converted the lone extra point.

David Tarver accounted for the Jena score when intercepted a Menard pass in the flat and ran 30 yards for a touchdown.

Menard ground out 337 yards while holding Jena to 122.

NATCHEZ 34-0

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Quarterback Perry Lee Dunn scored four touchdowns and passed for the fifth Friday night in sparking top-ranked Natchez to a 34-0 Big Eight victory over Pascagoula.

Dunn capped an 80-yard march in the second period with a 20-yard scoring run and Billy Tew got the first of four conversions.

After a scoreless third period, Natchez broke the game open with Dunn passing to halfback Walter Beesley for 20 yards and a score, then running 9, 6 and 11 yards for the final tallies.

Dunn ran for 117 yards and completed 9 of 18 passes for 164 in leading Natchez to its seventh victory against one tie.

DAVIDSON WINS, 26-21

ST. JOSEPH, La. (Special) — Davidson pleased a cold homecoming crowd with its first district 3-B victory of the season, a 26-21 triumph over winless Newellton, here last night.

Jack Grace stole the ball from a Newellton ball carrier in the final three minutes and ran five yards for the winning touchdown to give Davidson its first victory over Newellton in six years.

Newellton scored first on a two-yard plunge by Buddy Tatum. Mike Cannon ran the PAT. Davidson came back with Grace going over from the two and Ellis Fowler tied it up with a run for the PAT.

Grace made his first of two steals later and ran 25 yards for a touchdown. Newellton scored again before the halftime intermission on a pass from Robinson to Cannon for 30 yards and Carrol ran the PAT.

In the third period, Cannon scored from 30 yards out and Robinson running the PAT. Grace scored from the two for Davidson and Mitchel Ratliff passed to O. L. Evans for the extra point. Grace then stole the ball again and scored the winning touchdown.

Fowler was injured in the first half for Davidson and didn't play during the final two periods.

Pat McMurtry Gets Suspension

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Heavyweight fighter Pat McMurtry was suspended indefinitely Friday by the Washington State Athletic Commission "in Pat's best interests," physically.

Knocked out by Eddie Machen in the first round of their bout last week in Portland, Ore., the Tacoman drew the automatic 30-day suspension given any kayoed fighter.

Dr. Charles P. Larson, local member of the commission, said the suspension was extended to "indefinite" because of concern "growing out of a letter from the Portland Boxing Commission."

He did not disclose the contents of the letter.

Morehouse Wins

BASTROP, La. (Special) —The Morehouse High School Tigers delighted a large homecoming crowd here last night with a 72-6 trouncing of the Eastside Demons from Farmerville.

Scoring touchdowns for Morehouse were Robert Brown, 3; Arthur Hamlin, 3, Dalton Haynen, 1 and Robert Walker 4. Hamlin scored eight points by running the PAT.

Morehouse had three first downs and the Demons had none. The game was dedicated to the old grads and school officials.

Indians Invade NSC; Tennessee Tests LSU

Tribe Seeks Second GSC Win Today

By JIM CALHOUN
Staff Sports Writer

Climbing from fifth to third place in the Gulf States Conference standings is a king-sized jump for one afternoon's work, but that's just what revitalized Northeast can do with a victory over Northwestern's aerial-conscious Demons at Natchitoches this afternoon.

Holding down third place in GSC play with a record of one win and one loss, Northwestern hosts the fifth place Redskins in a 2:30 homecoming encounter at Demon Stadium.

Northeast has had its share of problems, winning only two of seven meetings, but on the strength of last week's showing against Southwestern, Coach Jack Rowan's Tribesmen could provide the Demons with an interesting afternoon of combat.

In beating SLI, 34-20, Northeast put its highest point total of the season on the boards and showed indications of developing into the well-oiled precision eleven that finished third in the conference last year.

Jack Clayton's NSC bruisers like to throw the ball around in a wide-open brand of football and they have the personnel to do it.

All-GSC quarterback Dale Hoffpauir, who keeps his right arm in shape during the off-season by throwing the javelin, leads the club in passing with 29 bullseyes in 63 attempts for 431 yards and 2 touchdowns. Last season the 190-pound senior completed 61 per cent of his tosses for 867 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Clayton has installed a new gimmick in the Demon offensive, borrowing the "lonesome end" idea originated by Earl Blaik of Army last year.

The lonely terminals are Billy Jack Booth, two-time all-GSC selection, and George Smith, a West Monroe lad of considerable pass catching talent.

Booth heads conference pass receivers with 12 receptions and Smith, a three-year letterman, has 5 to his credit.

Halfback Ralph Conrad, another all-conference gridder, paces the ground offensive with 264 yards gained and a 4.9 average while running mate Troy Burch, seeking his initial letter, has 135 yards in 31 tries. Either Chuck DeSadier, a limited participant this campaign, or freshman Raymond Eddy will open at fullback.

But the Demon power doesn't stop with moving the ball. The line, buckled down by all-GSC tackle Bert Heckle, last week limited Colorado Mines to 70 yards rushing and 44 through the air. Colorado star Vince Tesone, the nation's total offense performer, was held to 100 yards under his per-game average.

Rowan, who served as assistant under Clayton before taking over the Tribe reins, says scouting reports indicate the Demons are the strongest team offensively on the schedule.

"It should be a wide-open game," observed Rowan, adding "The cold weather that has finally reached the state will improve the brand of play of every team."

The Indians have been drilling extensively under the lights this week in preparation for the Demons.'

Expected to lead the Tribe assault are halfback Levy Redden, GSC back of the week, and fullback Stewart Stover. Stover tops the team in rushing and Redden scored 14 points last weekend to take over the club leadership in that department.

Completing the invading backfield are halfback Jim Laudadio, a shifty breakaway runner, and quarterback Bob Randel, a better than average passer.

Curtis Cook, recently switched from signal caller to halfback, has looked well in practice and may get the call. In his only ball carrying role last week he scampered 61 yards for a touchdown.

Quarterback John O'Conner, halfback Joe Thrailkill and fullback Dave Barnes should see a big share of action.

The Indians boast what is probably the best end combination in the conference in 205-pound Pete Covington and 225-pound Charley Barnes. Both are outstanding pass receivers and Barnes is one of the best in breaking up end sweeps.

Covington has a 43.5 average on 12 punts.

In the center of the line Northeast has tackles Delmas Thorne and Billy Broom, guards Wally Cox and Alfred Feeney and center Perry Beavers. Thorne was nominated for lineman of the week honors for his agressive play against Southwestern.

Northeast has beaten SLI and Arlington, 26-21, and tumbled before Arkansas State, 15-0, Delta State, 14-13, East Texas, 20-0, McNeese, 21-6, and Southeastern, 27-6.

Evened up at 3-3-1, NSC topped McNeese, 19-6, Pensacola Navy, 17-10 and Colorado Mines, 37-0, lost to Lamar Tech, 19-0, Louisiana College, 8-0, and Louisana Tech 27-14, and tied Stephen F. Austin, 14-14, in the season opener.

After today's contest the Redskins travel to Jacksonville, Ala., for a meeting with Jacksonville State and close out the season Nov. 21 against Louisiana Tech at Ruston.

GREEN FOR NIEMAN

Orioles, Cards Agree On Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles and St. Louis Cardinals have agreed to swap outfielders but the deal will not be announced as official until the new inter - league three - week trading period begins Nov. 21.

The deal sends veteran Bob Nieman to the Cardinals in exchange for Gene Green, a 26-year-old flychaser who also has seen service as a catcher. Nieman, 32, batted .292 last season, hitting 21 home runs in 118 games, a number of them as a pinch hitter.

Green showed promise as a slugger in his rookie year, hitting .281 with 13 homer runs in 1958. But he was hit by the sophmore jinx last season and was optioned to Rochester where he spent most of the year. As a Cardinal, he appeared in only 31 games and batted only .189.

Nieman is a strong right-handed batter who dotes on left-handed pitching. He broke into the majors in sensational fashion on Sept. 4, 1951. In his first two times at bat with the St. Louis Browns, he smashed successive home runs off southpaw Maury McDermott of the Boston Red Sox. He has hit 118 home runs in eight big league seasons.

The Associated Press also learned Friday that the Milwaukee Braves have rejected a New York Yankee offer of veteran infielder Gil McDougald for right-handed pitcher Bob Buhl. The Braves, who have been mulling over this proposal since the World Series, have decided to retain the 11-year-old fire-baller on the advice of their new Manager Charlie Dressen.

Dressen has been an admirer of Buhl ever since Bob joined the Braves in 1953. He should be. Buhl owns a 20-9 lifetime mark against the Dodgers with whom he served as a manager and coach until he succeeded Fred Haney as Milwaukee manager last month.

The Braves, recognizing their need for an experienced second baseman should Red Schoendienst be unable to stage a comeback, are listening to an offer by Cleveland's Frank Lane for Billy Martin. The Indians reportedly are asking for a young outfielder in return. McDougald, who can play shortstop and third as well as second, is still Milwaukee's No. 1 target, however.

McDougald and Martin are the same age, 31. Mac batted .251 in 127 games last year. Martin hit .257 but appeared in only 73 games. Buhl was the Braves' third leading winner last season, winning 15 while losing 9. His 2.86 earned run average placed him third in that department among the regular pitchers.

The San Francisco Giants and Chicago Cubs reportedly are close to a deal that would bring Don Elston, right - handed relief pitcher to the California club in exchange for an outfielder. The Giants, according to the report, have offered the Cubs the choice of Felipe Alou or Leon Wagner.

Elston, 30, had a 10-8 record, all in relief. Alou, 24, batted .275 in 96 games and Wagner hit .225 in 87 games. The 25-year-old Wagner enjoyed a fine rookie year in 1958, hitting .317 with 13 home runs in 74 games.

Hogs Try To Break Jinx Against Rice

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas brings its title and bowl game hopes to Houston Saturday to meet a Rice Owl jinx that has been broken only once in 40 years.

The Razorbacks have defeated Rice in Houston only once since the Southwest Conference series began in 1919.

A victory is a must for the Razorbacks if they are to retain more than a mathematical chance of at least a share of the conference title. A defeat also would drop the nation's No. 16 team to a 5-3 record and virtually remove any bowl game hopes.

Rice has rescued nothing more than a pair of 13-13 ties in six games but still clings to slim mathematical possibilities in the title chase. The only conference losses so far by both teams were to undefeated Texas.

The Owls have been plagued all season by injuries and nationally ranked teams. The Owls still are seeking their first victory and Arkansas will be the sixth opponent in seven games to be ranked among the nation's top 20 teams. Three of them—Louisiana State, Texas and Clemson—still are in the top 10 and hold a combined 19-1 season record.

Arkansas is a five-point favorite and holds a wide margin in practically every department except pass defense and punting. The porkers bowed to Texas by a narrow 12-13 margin, while Rice lost to the Longhorns, 6-28.

Bates Undergoes Face Surgery

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — California's injured halfback Steve Bates underwent a two-hour operation Friday for fractured cheekbone and nose suffered last Saturday when he was injured by Southern California guard Mike McKeever. The surgery was termed successful.

The incident resulted in a bitter controversy as California officials charged McKeever with deliberate fouling.

Tigers Face Last Major Test Today

KNOXVILLE, Tenn, (AP) — Louisiana State meets upset-minded Tennessee here Saturday in the Tigers' last major hurdle en route to their second straight national football championship.

Top-ranked LSU is rated a Tennessee, No. 13 in the nation, its 20th consecutive victim. The Tigers haven't lost a game since late in 1957 when Mississippi State edged them, 14-7.

All 47,000 seats for the game have been sold for weeks.

Tennessee will be seeking to pull off its second big upset of stunned mighty Auburn 3-0 in the season opener, snapping at 24 Auburn's string of unbeaten games.

Tennessee is a fast aggressive outfit, and one that is especially adept in capitalizing on an opponent's errors.

Both teams boast dangerous offenses, but the game stacks up as a defensive battle with each playing for the breaks.

The big question: Can the Vols stop All-American Billy Cannon? The 210-pound senior halfback has been the heartbeat of LSU's winged T attack for three years.

To offset Cannon and the passing of quarterback Warren Rabb, Tennessee will rely on the running and passing of three wine tailbacks—Gene Etter, Billy Majors and Glenn Glass.

LSU hasn't yielded a touchdown this fall in compiling its 7-0 record. Rice, Miami and Mississippi each kicked a field goal against the Bayou Bengals.

Tennessee has a 4-1-1 mark. The Vols lost to Georgia Tech 14-7 and battled to a 7-7 deadlock with Alabama.

A victory would project Tennessee into the post-season bowl picture. LSU, which winds up its season against Mississippi State and Tulane, is expected to play the host role in the Sugar Bowl.

Tte Weather Bureau forecast fair skies and temperatures in the mid-40s by kickoff at 2 p.m., EST.

Curci Leads Miami Over Heels, 14-7

MIAMI (AP)—Fran Curci, Miami's tough and smart, 152-pound quarterback, scored one touchdown and broke up two North Carolina drives Friday night, sparking the Hurricanes in a 14-7 football victory over the Tar Heels.

The amazing little Curci got the first Miami touchdown on a one-yard sneak in the first period. His passes set up the other in the third period.

In between the scoring forays, Curci stopped one North Carolina threat by knocking down a pass at the goal line, checked another by intercepting a pass and rounded out a brilliant night by putting the Tar Heels in a hole at one stage with a 41-yard punt dead to the 7.

Curci broke away for a 24-yard run to the North Carolina 30 on a keeper in the first quarter. And when he then faked a field goal on fourth down at the 27, a pass interference call moved the Hurricanes to the one. Curci then sneaked over.

North Carolina's offense came alive in the second period as Joe Davies and Moyer Smith probed a weak spot in the left side of the Miami line. The Tar Heels moved 45 yards to the Miami 12, but Curci knocked down Ray Rarris' fourth down pass at the goal line.

The Tar Heels scored in the third after Jack Cummings passed 38 yards to Al Goldstein at the Miami 13. Cummings then threw 12 to Goldstein for the touchdown, capping a 70-yard drive.

Curci brought Miami right back to regain the lead at 14-7 just before the third quarter ended. His passes ate up the yardage to the 11, where he pitched out to Jim Vollenweider on an 11-yard touchdown play.

A fine defensive stand saved it for Miami in the fourth period. Power running by Don Klochak and Wade Smith and Cummings' passes to Goldstein carried North Carolina to a first down on the Hurricane nine. Four plays later, the Tar Heels were back at the 10.

Curci completed 11 of 18 passes for all of Miami's 99 aerial yards, and also led the Hurricanes in rushing with 53 yards in nine carries.

North Carolina, with both Cummings and Farris throwing, gained 142 in the air. Davies gained 44 yards to lead the Tar Heel rushing game, which netted 133 yards.

Tom Hinton On Canadian All-Star Team

WINNIPEG (AP) — A five-year guard with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who almost quit football this season because the pressure of business, was the only Canadian named Friday to the offensive team in the 1959 Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star selections.

Ed Kotowich was one of five members of the pennant-winning Bombers to be selected to the offensive squad, picked by coaches, sports writers and football broadcasters in the league cities. The Bombers also placed four players on the defensive team.

OFFENSIVE TEAM

DEFENSIVE TEAM

Safety—Harvey Wylie, Catgary; half—Kenny Ploen, Winnpeg, Bill Jessup, British Columbia; corner linebackers — Rollie Miles, Edmonton; Norm Fieldgate, British Columbia; inside linebackers—Garland Warren, Winnipeg; Al Ecuyer, Edmonton; middle guard—Steve Patrick, Winnipeg; tackles—Art Walker, Edmonton; Urban Henry, British Columbia; ends — Herb Gray, Winnipeg; Ed Gray, Edmonton.

Rival Dallas Pro Sponsors Set For Fight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Vying Dallas pro football sponsors, fresh from a harmony talk crack-up, bowed their necks Friday and vowed they will not back down in favor of the other.

The city which failed to support the old Dallas Texans thus faces the prospect of possessing two teams, one in the veteran National Football League and the other in the fledgling American.

But Lamar Hunt, who founded the American, Friday predicted he will operate the only pro team in Dallas.

Not so, said Bedford Wynne, who with Clint Merchison Jr. plans to develop a National League team here under expansion plans.

Hunt said. "Despite all the talk, I seriously doubt the National League will have a team here next year. There are a lot of almost insurmountable problems that don't appear on the surface."

He added that one problem "is a stadium. We the American have first call on the Cotton Bowl and when we finish filling our schedule, there won't be much left for another team. That's just one of the things I'm talking about." He didn't state the other problems.

Wynne demurred, declaring, "I certainly feel we'll operate here. There are plenty of dates left after Lamar picks his schedule."

The Cotton Bowl seats 75,504. Wynne added, "Dallas will unquestionably have two teams if the American goes ahead with its plans."

The opposing forces came out of a Chicago meeting last Monday without any solution. George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, suggested that Dallas and Houston be heard to the National next year and Minneapolis and Buffalo in 1961.

That would wipe out the American, since only Los Angeles, New York and Denver would be left.

Hunt and others in the American said the National must merge with all American League cities or the American would go its way alone.

ISTROUMA 39-0

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Mighty Istrouma pushed four touchdowns across in the first half Friday night and squelched Bogalusa 39-0 for its seventh victory in eight games.

Fullback Donnie Cotton and halfback Gene Achord each scored twice for Istrouma, Louisiana's second-ranked Triple-A team.

Two Important Contests Head Today's Grid Slate

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is Syracuse's "Sizeable Seven" really as big as it's touted? And will that exciting Northwestern team get its biggest push toward representing the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl? Stick around Saturday and you'll find the answers to these, and a few other pertinent football problems.

Unbeaten Syracuse (6-0) plays unbeaten Penn State (7-0) in the East's biggest game of the year, with the winner having a choice of four major bowls, and the loser not being forgotten either.

In the midwest Northwestern, unbeaten in six games and the nation's second - ranked team in the latest Associated Press poll, meets Wisconsin (5-1), ninth - ranked and having a severe case of "rose" fever.

These are Saturday's two big games. But top-ranked Louisiana State, after consolidating its position last week by beating Mississippi, can't rest against tough Tennessee. Texas also tries to take a step closer to the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl's host spot against Baylor.

Syracuse, ranked fourth, is the nation's top team in offense and defense, with credentials that show it to be third in rushing offense and tops in scoring with a 36.2 per game average. Most of this success is pinned to its starting line, appropriately named the "Sizeable Seven" (they're 6'3", 216 lbs. avg.).

Against this Penn State (No. 7) sends quarterback Richie Lucas, an offensive dynamo who has accounted for 673 passing with a 51.7 completion average, and 246 rushing with his deceiving roll - out pplays.

He also has an anonymous, though impressive cast of characters fronting him.

Northwestern has ace halfbacks Ron Burton and Ray Purdin in good shape for one of the few times this year. They will team with fullback Mike Stock and quarterback John Talley, the Wildcats latest two heroes. Wisconsin, with a loss to Purdue in conference play, must win or drop out of the Rose Bowl picture.

LSU will have a battle on its hands against Tennessee (4-1-1), which belted Auburn's 24 - game unbeaten string at the beginning of the season. The Vols could catch the Tigers (7-0) down a bit after its exciting 7-3 victory over Mississippi.

Texas, ranked third with a 7-0 mark, will have all operatives, except fullback Bernie Allen, to go against a Baylor team that has split six games, winning its last two.

Other major Saturday games include: EAST: Villanova at Army, Bucknell at Colgate, Dartmouth at Columbia, Brown at Cornell, Boston U. at Holy Cross, Rutgers at Lafayette, VMI at Lehigh, Maryland at Navy.

MIDWEST: Detroit at Dayton, Michigan at Illinois, Nebraska at Iowa State, Minnesota at Iowa, North Dakota State at Marquette, Purdue at Michigan State, Georgia Tech at Notre Dame, Indiana at Ohio State, Denver at Oklahoma State, Cincinnati at Tulsa, Houston at Wichita.

SOUTHWEST: Arkansas at Rice, SMU at Texas A&M, Virginia Tech at West Texas.

FAR WEST: Texas Tech at Arizona, Utah State at Colorado State U, Utah vs. Idaho at Boise, Montana at Montana State, Brigham Young at New Mexico, UCLA at Stanford.

SNEAD SINKS VITAL PUTT

Yanks Gain Lead In Ryder Action

By HAL WOOD
United Press International

PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI)—Capt. Sam Snead sank a pressure-packed 8-foot putt on the final hole to gain a tie for his team and give the United States a 2½-1½ lead over the British in the opening matches Friday of the Ryder Cup competition.

The British had a tie cinched for the day's Scotch foursome action by playing conservative golf on the last hole. But they elected to gamble and it cost them the match.

The team of Harry Weetman and Dave Thomas were 1-up going into the 36th hole and victory would have given the Britons a 2-2 break with the U. S. for the day.

Snead drove the second shot into the water by the green. All the British team had to do then was play it safe and pitch short for a half. But Weetman went for the green and also hit the water on the right side.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, playing with Snead, then approached eight feet from the pin and Thomas, approaching for the British, put his about nine feet away.

Weetman putted first and missed by a fraction of an inch, while the gallery of 3,000 watched breathlessly, Snead surveyed and then sank the putt for the half.

The other matches went like this.

Peter Alliss and Christy O'Connor, Britain, defeated Art Wall and Doug Ford, United States, 3-2.

Julius Boros and Dow Finsterwald, U.S., defeated Capt. Dai Rees and Ken Bousfield, Britain, 2-up.

Bob Rosburg and Mike Souchak, U.S., defeated Bernard Hunt and Eric Brown, 5-4.

Saturday the eight players on each team will meet in head-and-head matches to decide the winner of the cup now held by the British.

Wall and Ford ran into a buzz saw with the hot putting of Alliss and O'Connor.

Boros and Finsterwald had a rugged battle with Rees and Bousfield before the Britons gave up. It was all even after 33 holes.

The United States went 1-up on the 34th and closed out the match on the 36th when Bousfield hit into the water.

Rosburg and Souchak made a near-perfect team and after the first 20 holes were 8-up.

The match was closed out on the 32nd hole with pars.

Urges Firing Of Coach Teaching Dirty Football

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Bown called Friday for the firing of any coach who is teaching dirty football.

His statement grew out of a press conference discussion of the charges by the University of California of deliberate roughness by Mike McKeever, University of Southern California lineman.

Brown hastened to emphasize he was not making any charges himself. He said he didn't know enough about the case, involving injury to California halfback Steve Bates in the recent game with Southern California.

However, speaking generally, the governor said the question of dirty football is a very serious thing.

"If a coach teaches young men to play dirty," he said, "it's another step in the direction of cheating."

Brown said he would like to see the movies of the McKeever - Bates incident shown to the public to let the people make up their own mind. Southern Cal Coach Don Clark and McKeever have denied that the big lineman deliberately struck Bates.

Director Blasts Faculty Control Of Sports Policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indiana Athletic Director Frank E. Allen leveled a blast Friday at what he called the "creeping encroachment of faculty groups into the assigned duties" of Western Conference athletic directors.

Allen, a nationally known school administrator before coming to Indiana, addressed a football luncheon here a day before the Indiana-Ohio State football game.

Asked about a rumor that Big Ten athletic directors have been secretly seeking ways of securing more power in determining conference policy on such issues as participation in the Rose Bowl game, Allen replied:

"We've had separate and joint meetings, but they haven't been secret. We're merely seeking a more clearcut understanding of what athletic directors can do."

The athletic head said, "There can be no question but that the academic life of athletes should be under faculty supervision, but the fringe things should be under control of the athletic director."

Tulane Frosh Down 'Bama By 13-0 Count

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tulane frosh put together a scoring march in the second half and went on to a 13-0 victory over the Alabama freshman team Friday night.

Fumbles kept the Tulane attack under control the first half. But the New Orleans school took the opening kickoff and drove 70 yards in 14 plays for the first touchdown. Darrell Wright went the last four yards and Mike Matoian added the conversion.

The Tulane yearlings, making their first start, got their second touchdown midway in the fourth quarter. Tulane guard William Meyer set it up by recovering a fumble by Alabama's Gary Martin.

Martin dropped a punt after signalling for a fair catch. Meyer fell on the ball on the Alabama 25, Four plays later Sammp Camp bulled into the end zone from four yards out.

Camp was the leading carrier, picking up 76 yards on 13 carries. Richardson Williamson led Alabama with 26 yards on nine carries.

Something To Give In Lake Charles Game

LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) — Something is going to have to give here Saturday night when the McNeese State College Cowboys return to their home grounds for a football date with the Florence (Ala.) State Lions.

The rapidly-improving young Cowboys will be pinning their hopes for victory on a rugged defense, while Florence banks on a high-geared single wing offense that has produced two or more touchdowns in each of its seven games this season.

McNeese will be risking a three-game winning streak and a 4-2 season's record against the Lions. Florence has an almost identical record of four victories, two defeats and a tie. Their game Saturday will get underway at 8 p.m. in Lake Charles High School's stadium.

Florence's losses have been to two of the strongest small college teams in the South. Last weekend the Lions bowed 34-26 to Middle Tennessee State, the nation's fifth-ranked team. The other defeat was suffered at the hands of Southeastern Louisiana College, 28-21. Southeastern is a title contender in the Gulf States Conference, of which McNeese is a member.

The Lions are led by tailback Max Burleson, a 185-pound junior, who is among the nation's total offense leaders. Burleson has been gaining yardage at a better than 150-yards per game clip.

Against Middle Tennessee, he completed eight of 10 passes for 125 yards including one touchdown, ran for one score and had a 45-yard run from scrimmage.

Homecoming Slated Today At Grambling

GRAMBLING, La. (Special) — Back in their natural habitat after four weeks on the road, the Grambling Tigers are re-arranging forces for Saturday's homecoming game with Texas Southern University.

Saturday's skirmish is expected to attract a crowd of 14,000.

It shapes up as an unpleasant experience for the home forces who have not given a reassuring demonstration of poise under game conditions since the 42-20 victory over Wiley three weeks ago.

Texas Southern will arrive here under a full head of steam.

Coach Alex Durley's stalwarts worked their wing and spread formations for a 21-0 victory over Wiley last week and have looked downright impressive in their last four games.

The game will be preceeded by a colorful parade depicting a nursery rhyme theme. Twenty-five floats from alumni and campus organizations have been built for the parade. The parade will start in Ruston and culminate in Grambling.

Carroll Bulldogs In Homecoming Victory, 27 To 6

The Carroll High Bulldogs of Monroe climaxed homecoming activities by defeating Peabody of Alexandria, 27-6, last night before an estimated 4,000 fans at Carroll Stadium.

Joseph Long scores two Carroll touchdowns, and Minister Williams added one.

Peabody's touchdown was tallied by Earl Grinsted.

Carroll meets Morehouse of Bastrop next Friday in Bastrop.

BROUSSARD

Olympic Trainer Cares For LSU

By JACK OWENS

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — It's nice to think about going to Rome next August as an Olympic trainer.

But for now Marty Broussard is enjoying his job taking care of the physical problems of Billy Cannon, the Chinese Bandits and the rest of Louisiana State's top-ranked football team.

When an LSU player has a physical problem, chances are Marty will see it first and take care of it.

But along with the cuts and bruises, Marty gets other problems: studies, girl friends, families, and some imagined woes. Marty is something of a chaplain and father confessor, pop away from home, domestic counselor and team friend rolled into one.

A great big lineman will come in with a little problem," Marty said. "And some of the boys have real tough ones.

"Their frame of mind is important. You listen to them, and help them out all you can.

"If their problem is a little one, you make it sound big. If it's a big one, you make it seem little," Marty said.

One of the players Marty didn't wish to name, he said, "The girls just drive him crazy — he sure has his problems."

Marty, a youthful, dark-haired Louisiana Acadian, is quietly serious about his national champion football players. His fame has spread throughout the area. He has given good-will advice to an estimated 250 high school and junior high school athletes.

He served as trainer for the U.S. team in the Pan-American Games at Mexico City in 1954. He missed the last Olympics in Australia because it fell during football season. But he has an appointment as one of a dozen or more trainers for the Rome Olympics next fall.

"You can't compare national championship football with international competition," Marty said. "You don't get to know the Olympic boys like here. It's more impersonal.

"Nothing can compare really to the Olympics. If one of our (LSU) boys has something wrong, he just doesn't play that week. But if one of the U.S. team boys has something wrong, that's very serious. He gives everything he's got for his country. It's like going to war."

"It's like Billy Cannon, he never quits," Marty said, referring to the all-America fullback's outstanding punt return that won a 7-3 victory over Ole Miss.

You get to know your college boys over the years, Marty said, and you take a special, personal interest in them.

Marty is Godfather to Max Fugler, the LSU center who made all-America last year.

Financial obstacles kept Marty from becoming a physician. Now he has resolved to be the best athletic trainer possible — and he's found it a satisfying pursuit.

Reese recently resigned to accept a TV sportscasting job.

AT HAMMOND

Tech, SLC Fight For League Lead

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech and Southeastern Louisiana will take the field at Hammond Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in a battle for the Gulf States Conference football leadership.

Both teams are undefeated in conference competition and are strong contenders for the league crown. Tech's Bulldogs will lay a 3-0 GSC record on the line while the SLC Lions will go into the fray without a setback in two loop tilts.

A win for the Tech eleven Saturday will assure the Canines, who were co-champions of the GSC in 1958, of at least a tie for the coveted Gulf States title again this fall.

If the Techmen are able to turn back the rugged Southeasterners this week they will then have an opportunity to nail down the championship outright with a win over fast-improving Northeast State in a game at Ruston on Nov. 21. However, taking both these final conference contests is a big order and is easier said than done.

To add to the troubles of the Techsters, Saturday will be Southeastern's annual homecoming day and the Lions are always a tough crew to handle when they play before the old grads.

The SLC team looked good last week as it trounced Tampa University by a 33-8 score for the Lions fourth win of the season. Coach Stan Galloway has some fast runners who got away for some long TD dashes against Tampa of 73, 34 and 31 yards.

Tech and Southwestern boast three of the top five scorers in the GSS. SLC's halfback C. J. Alexander currently tops the league scoring with a total of 36 points. J. W. Slack, Tech halfback, is now the fourth best point maker in the loop with 25 and Bulldog halfback Paul Hynes is fifth with 24.

In all games played the Techmen have scored more points and have had less scored against them than any other GSC eleven. In six tilts the Bulldogs have rolled up a total of 124 points and have had only 40 marked up by the opposition. Southeastern's offense is right on the heels of the Canines, however, with 122 scored by the Lions. SLC's defense has allowed 95 points by six foes.

Tech and Southeastern have met only one common opponent this fall. The Lions took an 18-13 tussle from Southwestern Louisiana while the Bulldogs turned back the same Southwestern eleven by a 21-13 score.

Southeastern's C. J. Alexander is certainly a fellow the Techsters will have to watch if they expect to stop the SLC running attack. The "Black Knight" is currently averaging 7.7 yards per carry in rushing and is one of the top ground gainers in the GSC. Two other Lion halfbacks who are averaging more than five per run are Bill Ladner and Jerry Schwab.

Tech will try to counter the fast Lion backfield with its own attack led by halfbacks Slack and Hynes and fullback Max Rudd. In the first five frays this fall the two Bulldog halfbacks have gone for six yards each time they have toted the ball while Rudd has run for 5.0 per attempt.

Both teams have gone for good yardage through the air this season. SLC's leading passer is quarterback Elbert Harris who has completed 11 of 28 thrown for 289 yards and three TDs. Tech's best passing yardage has been racked up by quarterback Johnny Hudson who in five games has connected on 15 of 28 tosses good for 196 yards and three scores.

Last fall the Techmen came out on the long end of a 10-6 score over the Lions in a game played at Ruston.

Offer $44,500 Pot For Golfers

The previous high was $40,000 last January. The tournament will be played again at the Rancho Municipal Course in West Los Angeles.

Northeast In Cross Country Meet In Texas

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UPI) — Seven college and nine high school teams will take the field here Saturday in the annual Howard Payne college Invitational cross-country meet.

The favorites in the college division are the host Howard Payne and last year's NAIA Champ Emporia (Kan.) State. The field will also include such strong contenders as Northeast Louisiana, Abilene Christian college, University of Texas, Oklahoma Baptist and the Brooke Army Medics.

LAFAYETTE 27-0

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Quarterback Ed Red threw for two touchdowns and ran for another as unbeaten but once-tied Lafayette thumped winless Catholic 27-0 Friday night.

Lafayette has now won seven and only a 19-19 deadlock with Bolton mars its record.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Use Kindness To Win Over Husband's Sister

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I went steady with a boy two years. He was of a different religion and three years older.

On my 17th birthday my father promised me a college education if I would break up with Wally. I agreed.

To be honest, I'm happy I'm not going steady because I had been missing a lot of good times. I used to think I'd die if I didn't see Wally every night. Now I know I can live without him.

The trouble is my mother is so happy I'm not going steady that she's fixing me up with anyone and everyone. She has arranged blind dates with guys she has never ever seen. I've drawn some real spooks. I never know what will appear at the door and I'm sick of it.

She says it's good for a girl's personality to go with all sorts of fellows. I am fed up. Please help me. — VICTIM

Dear Victim: Tell your mother you appreciate what she's trying to do BUT no future commitments, please.

Nothing is so unattractive (and damaging) as a mother who is pushing her daughter socially. I hope Mom will lay off.

* * *

Dear Ann: Although we had to get married four years ago because I was pregnant, we made a good start and are happy. His parents are wonderful to me and his brother is a peach. The trouble is his sister Amy who is 30 and unmarried.

When I told him we had to marr in a hurry his major concern was "How will I tell Amy." (He never even mentioned his folks.)

Whenever we plan a party he automatically includes Amy. On Sunday when we go to his folks for dinner he sits with his arm around Amy and doesn't know I'm alive. When I complain he says I'm insecure and don't understand sister-brother devotion because I never had any brothers. Please tell me how to handle this. I feel as if I'm on thin ice. —DISTURBED.

Dear Disturbed: When you can't beat EM, YOU JOIN 'EM. You'll never break up this combination without doing irreparable damage to yourself. So be sweet to Amy, build her up, include her willingly, and tell your husband he has a great sister.

The friendly approach will build bridges instead of fences. You'll probably wind up genuinely liking Amy when she reacts favorably to your kindness.

* * *

Dear Ann: I feel stupid asking this question because I should probably know the answer, but I don't.

My wife passed away two months ago. She was only 33. I took off my wedding band a few days after the funeral and it is still in my drawer.

A few days ago my wife's sister took me to the side after church and said, "You could have waited at least until Mary's body was cold before you started to shop around for a new wife." I was shocked and asked her what she meant by that. She said I should still be wearing my wedding band, and she was hurt to see that I had taken it off so soon.

Is she right? Please tell me. I am ——VERY DISTURBED

Dear Disturbed: She was wrong and it was cruel of her to attack you in such a manner.

A widower is not married. You were right to put your wedding ring in the drawer.

Are you going steady: Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Respect For Authority Begins In The Home

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When parents have themselves been reared by rough, uncouth and unmannerly parents, they tend to carry these patterns of behavior over into their daily lives. It is as natural for them to act this way as it is for better bred persons to be soft-voiced; to treat their children as beloved persons, not as nuisances, and to avoid harsh punishment not because it is the "thing to do," but because it represents the way they feel toward their children. dren.

One of my readers writes, "Dear Mrs. Eldred: Why not devote a column to the loud-mouthed fathers and mothers who yell and scream and get tantrums and act like children instead of adults?

"How can they ever expect that their children will learn to be polite and mannerly? Or, is this the way they themselves were brought up? No doubt their children will act the same unless they come to hate such behavior and discover that children do not need to be reared that way."

MRS. ELDRED'S COMMENTS

If the two parents both come from such homes the chance sare great that they will repeat these patterns of conduct in their own home.

But better ways of acting are not advised merely to teach a child better manners, though this is certainly a by-product of growing up in a family which provides an example of good manners. The aftermath of treating children as if they were reasonable beings, of offering the same respect for their personalities as the parents expect of them; is that they grow up with a respect for all authorities which make them law-abiding, moral, happy individuals. If they grow accustomed to discount the yelling and screaming of their parents, they also learn to slough off the advice of teachers, the church, employers, etc. The respect for authority begins in the home.

ARE IMMATURE

Yes, these persons are immature, for one of the attributes of the grown-up person is the capacity to act like an adult. This means reasonable control of his emotions. If he still throws tantrums, he is at the two to three-year level of behavior, no matter what his age.

The unhappy part of such a discussion is that the persons who need it most will seldom read or listen to any advice which runs counter to what they feel like doing. The only persons over whom they have any real control are small children, and like petty tyrants everywhere they want to throw their weight around. They don't want this privilege taken from them.

Barnes Slated For Government Postal Slot

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Bert B. Barnes of Holladay, Tenn., was appointed Friday to be acting Assistant Postmaster General of the United States.

Barnes, a veteran career post office employe, will head the department's Bureau of Operations.

After a career in the postal service in Tennessee dating back to 1920 when he became a clerk at the Memphis Post Office, Barnes came to Washington in 1953 to serve as director of post office services.

DIVORCE

LONDON (AP)—A wife whose husband spanked her because she didn't cook supper for him 90 minutes before midnight has been given a divorce.

Judge John Flowers said of the case brought by Jean Wood, 27, against John Wood, 35: "No reasonable man would expect his wife to get supper for him at that time of night. And if he did expect it —he wouldn't get it."

Scientist Says U.S. TV Empty

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the nation's top scientists says Americans are getting "an over-dose of soap operas, shoot 'em-up westerns and glib-tongued emcees of empty entertainment" on television and radio.

Dr. Alan Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, made the remark today in asking for more programs that appeal to the mind as distinguished from those that appeal to the emotions. He said there are notable—though all too infrequent — examples of such.

His appeal was part of a broader plea for the press, radio and television to arouse in the public a sense of urgency and determination to improve education generally and to increase its support of scientific research and development in the face of Soviet advances.

He spoke at a luncheon meeting of a symposium on "The mass media and the image of science," sponsored by the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation.

Asserting that all the mass media "have underestimated the desire of our citizens to learn and know," Waterman appealed for the press, radio and TV to help scientists and educators "in fashioning the kind of climate that will help to produce creative activity and solid intellectual achievement" not alone in science but in art, literature, music and other pursuits.

"We will not create a true climate for excellence in an atmosphere in which dishpan hands, yellow teeth, and an unpleasant breath are regarded as disasters," Waterman said.

"Nor are we likely to harvest a healthy crop of excellence in a land where athletes and night club entertainers are held in higher esteem than scholars, professional men and women, and the teachers of our children."

FLOODS

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Reports from the North Sumartran capital, Medan, said recent floods in the area destroyed hundreds of acres of rice fields and left 345,000 persons homeless.

Two civil lawsuits, one for $35,-000 and the other asking $61,000, are due for trial here next week in U. S. District Court, Western District of Louisiana, Monroe Division.

The federal trials will be heard in the second - floor courtroom of the Monroe Post Office.

Judge Ben C. Dawkins will preside over the jury trial.

In the other case, which does not request a jury, Aaron W. Kirkland is suing the Missouri -Pacific Railway on behalf of his mother, Mrs. Lavenie M. Kirkland.

The case, due for trial on Friday. Nov. 13, asks $61,000 for injuries Mrs. Kirkland said were received when she was struck by a train. The suit states that she was walking along the track, four miles south of Kelly.

Wednesday's trial will get underway at 9:30 a.m., with selection of a jury from the federal venire list.

Trials also are slated for the weeks of November 16 and 23.

Farm Bureau Membership Drive Starts

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Parish Farm Bureau has kicked off its annual membership drive here. The group, at a Thursday meeting, heard Paul Ransom of Monroe, second vice president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau.

Sixteen young parish farmers pledged their full support toward building a stronger organization by joining the membership committee and putting on a special drive.

The Bureau organization will be divided into teams and points will be awarded for new members and renewal of old memberships.

Team winners will be awarded a new Stetson hat. The drive starts today and will continue through Nov. 14.

TEAMS

Team members are for ward 1. Jimmy Ben Rowland and Howard Cooper; from ward two are Jack Cox and San Quan Tarver; Bill Hart and Kline Ledbetter; Pete Lowery and Billy Long; for wards two and four are Leland McKinny and Dan Greer; for wards three and four are Wilbur Hilstead and Chester Ray Ellis; for ward 4, Grady Dale Warner and Huey Gregory; for ward seven, Morrelle McGuffee and H. M. McKee; and for ward 8, Jimmy Poole, Audrey Tullos, Roy Clark, Joe Maxwell and Douglas Maxwell.

The regular membership committee is composed of chairman W. D. McSween, Rt. 1, Columbia; Jack McClanahan, Columbia; Uriah Youngblood, Rt. 1, Columbia; E. C. McGhee, Rt. 1. Columbia; and J. B. Fluitt, Rt. 1, Columbia.

In his talk, Ransom stressed the importance of the united efforts of farmers. He pointed out that farmers think alike regardless of the size of his farm, the area or the region in which he lives.

Farmers are striving for progress, better living conditions for everyone, better schools and churches, and higher production. According to Ransom, farmers in both the north and south think alike on state's rights.

Interesting to the members was the fact that a century ago 9 young men out of every 10 became engaged in farming, while today only one young man out of ten chooses farming as a profession.

Grand Opera Appearance Set In Area

RUSTON (Special) — A new concept in opera presentation will be unfolded to the members of the Louisiana Tech Concert Association November 9, when the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater presents a performance of Verdi's "Rigoletto" at Howard Auditorium. The Goldovsky organization, now on its fifth cross-country tour, has been demonstrating with spectacular success for the past thirteen seasons that the lyric masterpieces of Verdi and Puccini can be enjoyably presented as absorbing drama or sparkling comedy rather than boring displays of vocal fireworks, concert officials said. Their texts, intelligently translated into English and beautifully performed by young American artists who have been thoroughly trained in acting as well as singing, now make grand opera enjoyable and understandable entertainment for a vast new audience.

MASTERPIECE

Verdi's "Rigoletto," one of the most universally loved of all grand opera masterpieces, is the Goldovsky Company's largest-scale and most successful production to date — "A concerted performance that had all opera souls marveling," as the Boston American's critic put it.

With a company of fifty, full orchestra and chorus, this fresh, young, but seasoned group of artists will present two performances in Howard Auditorium, Monday, November 9; the student performance at 2:15 p.m. and the public membership performance at 8:00 p.m. Doors will open one-half hour before curtain time. The Tech Music Department Opera Workshop will handle admissions at the matinee with Mary Elaine Wallace in charge. Theta Upsilon Sorority will officiate at the evening performance with Sandra Kelly in charge.

Six Teen-Agers Held After Grave-Robbing

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Six boys 17 and 18 years old, were under arrest Friday, accused of desecrating a grave for "kicks."

Detective Lt. Earl Potts said two boys admitted opening a grave after a night of drinking beer.

Bones of a 7-year-old girl, buried in 1920 in a cemetery since abandoned, and part of a casket were strewn about.

"You adults just don't understand our juvenile problems," said one of the boys.

Investigators Take Note Of Alleged Bribes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House investigators took official note Friday of a songwriters' complaint that certain radio disc jockeys were being bribed with "payola" for plugging music on the air.

The charge, a possible basis for investigation by the subcommittee which looked into quiz show rigging, was made in an Oct. 29, 1959, letter from tunesmith Burton Lane, president of the American Guild of Authors and Composers.

"Commercial bribery has become a prime factor in determining what music is played on many broadcast programs and what musical records the public is surreptitiously induced to buy," Lane said.

He enclosed a lengthy supporting memorandum based largely on quotes from Variety, Billboard, Cashbox and other trade publications.

Lane said the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and Federal Trade Commission (FTC) both had been aware of the charges for a long time but had failed to do anything about them.

Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) placed the material in the hearing record after announcing a broad new investigation of broadcasting practices.

The memo included reports charging that "deejays" for various stations around the country were given money, commissions on record sales and even a Cadillac for playing certain songs on their shows and boosting record sales. One report said "there are millions of dollars of payola every year."

Turkish Police Detain Officer After Wreck

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—Turkish police Friday temporarily detained an American Army officer who ran his car into an honor guard of Turkish troops Thursday night, injuring 21 soldiers, at least nine seriously.

Lt. Col. Allen Morrison, 44, of Mattoon, Ill., was turned over to U.S. military authorities after Turkish officials finished a preliminary interrogation.

Morrison was quoted as saying he was unable to see the Turkish detachment because of the glare of headlights from an oncoming vehicle.

Members of the honor guard did not confirm the claim of another car passing.

CHARGED

Monroe police last night charged Bennie Roberts, 26, of New Orleans, with concealed weapon, draw and display and vagrancy.

Roberts, whose address was listed as New Orleans, was arrested at 710 Wood St.

Man Thought Doomed Is Much Better

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — Seven months ago Joseph W. Mayerle, 37, was sent home from the hospital believed doomed by lung cancer. "We figured he would die within a few weeks," one physician aid.

Friday, all trace of the cancer has disappeared, the doctor reported.

The same physician said "we got real excited" when Mayerle, given up as a hopeless case, walked into the U.S. Veterans Administration hospital in Seattle "looking like a new man."

The doctors do not say that Joe might not have a recurrence of cancer. "It takes at least five years to be reasonably sure," the physician said.

Mayerle thought he had a bad cold last winter, went to his doctor "for a shot of something that would help," and wound up on the operating table at the Veterans Hospital. He was a Navy Man in World War II.

"They operated in March and the lung was so bad they could not take it out," said Mayerle. "They sewed me up and gave me X-ray treatments for four weeks. The doctors had told me it looked hopeless and said the X-rays couldn't begin to clear it up—just make me feel better."

"When I walked into the Veterans Hospital a few weeks ago the doctors acted like they'd seen a ghost."

The first thought at the hospital, th› physician said, was "the possibility of a fault diagnosis." Joe's X-rays were compared carefully, even to checking of bone structure.

"An outside chance existed that the samples might have been mixed," another doctor said. "We checked each slide made from samples taken weeks before and after the operation. There were none which could have been confused with Mayerle's case."

Joe, whose family has increased by the arrival of Joe Jr., three weeks ago, has no idea why he got well.

"Except," he says, "that I wanted to. I ate good, got lots of fresh air and sun.

"And some real help from the Great Boy Upstairs."

$102,226 Suit Is Filed Here

A $102,226.31 lawsuit was filed with the Ouachita Parish Clerk of OF Court yesterday against Herman W. Wadley, 1709 Forsythe Ave., and the Progressive Fire Insurance Co. of Atlanta, Ga., for injuries which two women said they received in a collision.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Neighbors asked a total of $60,174.91 and Mr. and Mrs. Parker Boggan asked $42,051.40 for extensive injuries which the women said they received. Both women were in an auto driven by Mrs. Boggan, halted at a stop sign at the intersection of S. Fifth Street and Layton Avenue on March 3, 1959. They charge Wadley with ramming the rear of the vehicle, knocking it into the intersection and injuring them.

Cuban Papers Quote Writer Hemingway

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban newspapers quote writer Ernest Hemingway as saying he has "never believed any information published abroad against Cuba."

Hemingway came back to Cuba Thursday after spending several months in Europe. He has a country home about eight miles southeast of Havana at the village of San Francisco de Paulo.

Repeated efforts by American reporters to reach him there Thursday night and Friday for comment were unsuccessful. Havana newspapers quoted him as saying in an airport interview: "I sympathize with the Cuban government and all our difficulties. I never want to be considered a Yankee."

Many Readers Without Papers

BOSTON (UPI)—More than one million readers in the nation's sixth largest metropolitan area were without newspapers Friday because of a printers' strike.

Typographers walked out Thursday night against nine Boston newspapers which ceased publication. It was the second newspaper strike here in 27 months.

Members of Local 13 of the International Typographical Union (ITU) walked off the job, after voting 561-511 to strike at a noisy meeting in a Boston hotel.

State and federal officials scheduled no new talks, but Gov. Foster Furcolo met late Friday with state Commissioner of Labor and Industry John A. Callahan and Chairman William F. Fallon of the state Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, to seek means of reopening negotiations.

HOME, HAPPY AND HEALTHY — Joseph W. Mayerle, Bremerton, plays with his 3-week-old son, Joe, Jr., whom doctors had predicted Mayerle would never live to see. Doctors discovered Mayerle had lung cancer last April. It was so bad they gave him less than a months to live. Now, to the amazement of physicians, Mayerle has gained 30 pounds and doctors can't find a trace of the cancer. Judge Barham Speaker For Teacher Meet

Judge Mack E. Barham of Bastrop was featured speaker at the meeting of the Fifth District Visiting Teachers in the Ouachita Parish School Board office, it was announced yesterday. Introducing Judge Barham was Darrell Foreman of Morehouse Parish.

Judge Barham advanced ideas on solving the problem of youth.

He described the Bastrop Student Court, pointing out that a court official is elected from each grade, seven through twelve. The student court rules on traffic violations and hands out stiff sentences, according to the judge.

URGED VIGIL

Judge Barham urged the teachers to watch or early signs of delinquency and work toward its prevention. He called attention to the fact that the court not only hands out punishment, but also serves as a resource for other agencies.

The speaker cited the Guidance Program which is being incorporated into some school systems as the best means of preventing juvenile delinquency, since a guidance counselor may help spot and prevent problems by working with Visiting Teachers and Probation Officers.

Following Judge Barham's talk was a question and answer period.

During the business session, Kermit Walters, program chairman, read an invitation from Dean Holtzclaw of Northeast State College for the group to hold one meeting as guests of the College. The association voted to accept.

Ocie Allen and Mandy Williams were each fined $37.50 or 37½ days on a charge of illegal use of weapons.

Joy E. Taylor was fined $25 or 25 days on a charge of reckless driving.

President Asks Americans To Voice Thanks

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower asked his fellow Americans Friday to voice thanks on Thanksgiving Day for their bounties and to pray for divine guidance in "the great unfinished task of achieving peace among men and nations."

In the usual proclamation setting aside the last Thursday of this month, Nov. 26, as Thanksgiving Day, Eisenhower said the present eyar has been one of "progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people, and the government of the United States of America, are dedicated."

"We rejoice," he said. "in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among men and among nations. We earnestly hope that forbearance, understanding, and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere."

Since this is the 150th year of Abraham Lincoln's birth, Eisenhower said it was fitting to use Lincoln's words—in the historic proclamation of 1863 which established the annual observance of Thanksgiving — to express again gratitude for "fruitful fields," for "national strength and vigor" and for "singular deliverances and blessings."

Attorney Sues NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman attorney sued NBC for $1,200,000 the "Twenty-One" television quiz Friday, claiming her defeat on show was by fraud—and it had damaged her reputation and deprived her of prize money.

Ethel A. Davidson, formerly an assisstant U.S. district attorney and defeated by Herbert Stempel, a big-money winner who originated public charges the show was rigged.

Miss Davidson received a $100 consolation prize.

Charging she had been "fraudulently eliminated," Miss Davidson said in her suit that if the contest had been fair, her ability would have enabled her to "win at least $100,000."

She also said she had been "unfairly subjected to intense humiliation and disgrace," subpoenaed before a New York grand jury probing quiz show rigging, and her reputation and income damaged.

In addition to NBC, she also named as defendants Jack Barry and Daniel Enright, producers of the show; Barry Enright Productions, Inc., Pharmaceutical, Inc., and Stempel.

Now a practicing attorney on Wall Street, Miss Davidson claimed she has "amassed a tremendous fund of knowledge extending far beyond the law."

"Had plaintiff been permitted to engage in honest competition on the program, her ability would have enabled her to win a cash prize of at least $100,000," she added.

She was defeated, and wrongly deprived of that money, she said, because Stempel "received answers to the questions" in advance.

She said she also had been "fraudulently induced to spend considerable time, effort and energy in submitting to tests and interviews in appearing as a contestant."

Noe Says He Is For Nurse School Here

Gubernatorial candidate James A. Noe stumped throught the Monroe area Friday, telling the people, if elected, one of his first projects would be a school of nursing at Northeast State College.

Noe said, "Our great state and city hospitals sorely need trained nurses to care for the increasing number of patients. But, because these young ladies have to travel so far for proper training, many of them decide against the nursing profession as a career."

At the same time, Noe pledged to do everything possible to better the facilities and curriculum at Northeast's school of agriculture.

WILDLIFE

Turning to the subject of wildlife, Noe pointed to his past records in office. He said that he was one of the first champions of hunting, fishing and outdoor recreation and that this alone attracted many tourists to the state.

He said that through his efforts the first federal fish hatchery came to the state in 1938. The fish hatchery is located at Natchitoches.

Gov. Earl K. Long, candidate for lieutenant governor on Noe's ticket, backed up Noe's words on education, stating that he personally raised more than $500,000 for LSU from an earlier tax levied on the race tracks.

HOPE

"We'd like to make it possible for everyone that wants a college education to get one without paying a penny. But that takes money and somebody's got to put it up."

Then Long lashed out at his opposition, saying "there are some candidates in this race who are self - centered and selfish.

"They think the only people who are entitled to a college education are the blue - bloods, and the rest of the poor people shouldn't even have a right to breathe."

Former Leader In France Tells About Visits

PARIS (AP) — Andre le Troquer, ex-president of the French National Assembly, testified Friday that a teen-aged girl had twice been in his apartment in the Assembly building, but he denied anything irregular occurred.

The girl testified she had been in the 75-year-old Le Troquer's apartment numerous times and that dreadful things had happened.

Le Troquer and the girl, unidentified, appeared before an examining magistrate investigating what has come to be known as l'Affaire Roses Ballets.

Earlier this year Le Troquer and several other prominent men were charged with what was termed attacks on the public morals for allegedly throwing wild parties with teen-aged girls in Paris apartments or lavish villas outside town.

To Frenchmen a rose ballet means nontheatrical dancing or erotic behavior. The reason for the rose connection is obscure.

Investigation of Le Troquer's role in the case has been held up because he has been ill.

Le Troquer has said he was indicted at his own request so that he could clear his name by having full access to the facts.

LITTLE JOE CAPSULE RECOVERED — A model of the Mercury capsule being developed to carry man into orbit around the earth is recovered by crewmen of the Navy salvage ship Preserver five miles out in the Atlantic off Wallops Island, Va., 45 minutes after launch of a Little Joe rocket on Wednesday. The capsule was carried to an altitude of 35,000 feet and separated from the rocket in a test of blastoff gear that would throw the capsule free of the missile to save the astronaut's life in case of mal-function. LINKED WITH STEEL

Economists See Hike Of Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Goverment economists predicted Friday that prices may jump on a variety of consumer items unless the idle steel mills get back into production in a few days.

They said the 115-day old strike is reaching the point where it will create shortages that will force prices up—or at least cause them to remain firm—instead of declining seasonally.

These experts ssid they have not been able to pinpoint any inflationary movements as yet in prices of steel or steel products. They also have found no evidence of a steel "gray market."

However, they said the time is ripe for such movements to start showing up in the economy if the law of supply and demand works as it has during past shortages of basic commodities.

Officials emphasized they see no danger of run-away inflation. One said there has been no panic buying, indicating most consumers believe the strikers soon will be ordered back to work for 80 days under the Taft-Hartley law.

Some of the expected price rises also may be only temporary until steel output hits pre-strike levels.

One economist cited new automobiles prices. He said they may not rise because of the marathon steel walkout. But dealers can be expected to reduce their discounts on cash sales or give smaller trade-ins if they have no trouble selling cars.

However, Harold E. Churchill, president of Studebaker - Packard Corp., said the strike already had led to a gray market in steel. He said some steel users were paying suppliers premium prices.

Churchill did not say whether he meant auto firms. But he said Studebaker - Packard has bought no steel in the gray market. He said his firm had enough steel to maintain its regular production schedule until Dec. 18 or longer.

The strike also puts pressure on the buyer. He may not shop as carefully or bargain as hard when he realizes that auto output has been cutback because of shortages of steel.

Economists said the same psychology applies to other consumer goods such as stoves, refrigerators and home appliances.

They also said there may be hidden price increases. For example, a bobby pin manufacturer could put 25 pins in a package instead of 30 without reducing the price.

Using substitutes or imported steel is no answer to the manufacturer who is hard up for supplies. Either course almost inevitably pushes up the cost which then is passed on to the consumer.

A local iron works, for example, is substituting corrugated steel for hard to get flat steel in making heating ducts. The corrugated metal costs more and must be flattened before using. But the firm said contractors are willing to pay a premium to keep operating.

The economists also predicted a cutback in extra services to consumers if the strike continues much longer. Merchants could eliminate free delivery of appliances to reduce the dent in their profit margins.

Panama Leader Says Police Spurred Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. Arturo Morgan Morales, charge d'affaires of Panama, insisted Friday that Canal Zone police precipitated attacks on the U.S. Embassy by tearing down his country's flag.

The State Department Thursday denied U.S. responsibility for the attacks. Department spokesman Lincoln White said the United States had done nothing to touch off the attacks.

Morgan Morales said the Panamanian charges were supported by eyewitness accounts of U.S. newsmen, who reported that Canal Zone police, employed by the United States, tore down a Panamanian flag tied to a lamp post by students who entered the zone.

The diplomat also told a reporter that the demonstrations were the result of long-standing differences between Panama and the United States over interpretation of the 1955 treaty governing canal zone relations.

Red Germans Bowing To Flag Order

BERLIN (UPI)—The East German Communists bowed to a "get tough" western stand Friday and kept their hammer and compass flags out of West Berlin.

The Communists, beginning a three-day celebration of the 42nd anniversary of Russia's Bolshevik Revolution, raised their flags at noon in the Soviet sector of this divided city.

But faced with the prospect of concerted action by 30,000 West Berlin police and allied troops, the Communists made no attempt to use the flagpoles on the 74 elevated railway stations they operate in West Berlin.

To make sure they would not sneak the flags up under cover of darkness, West Berlin police placed two men on all-night duty at each of the stations.

The Communists hoisted their flags over West Berlin's stations on Oct. 7. the 10th anniversary of the East German Regime, and caught West Berliners by surprise.

A few police tried to pull them down but they were fought off by Communist railway workers. Several policemen were injured.

This time the West was prepared and let the Communists know it.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett went personally to the Soviet commandant in East Berlin and told him that West Berlin police would take down any Communist flags that were raised.

He warned that if there were violence and the peace and security of the city were jeopardized, the 11,000 French, British and U.S. troops stationed here would go to the support of the 19,000 West Berlin policemen.

California Solon Eyes Appointment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif) said Friday his House Government Operations Committee staff is studying a possible conflict of interest in appointment of a Convair scientist to a high Pentagon administrative post.

Charles Louis Critchfield, head of Convair's research program, was named Thursday to head the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

"My staff is looking into the picture to find out what all the facts are," said Holifield, who is visiting constituents here.

The announcement by Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy said Critchfield will serve as ARPA chief without compensation, but will remain on Convair's payroll under an arrangement by which he will have nothing to do with Convair contracts.

Holifield said this arrangement is based on a 1951 law enacted to allow the government to obtain consultants who wouldn't be required to sever connections with industry, as required by conflict-of-interest statutes.

"Critchfield's appointment puts in question the wisdom of obtaining a man who is in one of the defense industries—Convair—and placing him in the administration of an agency which allocates contracts running into hundreds of millions of dollars, while still drawing a substantial salary from the industry, which is working on government contracts," Holifield said.

Holifield said that as far as he knows Critchfield is the first administrator obtained under the 1951 law. "It was enacted as an emergency measure to secure consultants— not administrators," he said.

As for Critchfield's appointment "It is legal." said Holifield; "There is no charge of illegality. And there is no disparaging charge against Dr. Critchfield, who is very honorable and honest. I certainly don't mean that he would necessarily throw contracts to Convair. He can't deal in such contracts."

Blind Lovers On Trial In Murder Case

AIX-EN - PROVENCE, France (AP)—Anna Barbini and Maximilien Levesque, blind lovers went on trial Friday for the murder of Anna's blind husband, Albert, 50.

As the blind pair was led by gendarmes into the prisoner's booth, a spectator in the packed courtroom cried out "To death." There was a murmur from the crowd and the man who had cried out was led away by police.

Many of the spectators themselves were blind. They sat holding white canes between their knees, listening eagerly as friends described the scene in the gloomy courtroom.

A functionary read the facts of the case as determined by a pretrial investigation. This statement said Anna, 45, and her 24-year-old lover carried out premeditated murder of the husband on the night of Aug. 13, 1957, with Anna doing the plotting and Levesque the murder.

Levesque has already admitted he shot and bludgeoned Anna's huband but claims he did it to protect her. His story is that Anna and Albert had quarreled after an attempted reconcliation and Levesque thought Albert was trying to stangle her.

Under questioning by the presiding judge Levesque said he had been blind from birth.

"I'm an embittered man," Levesque cried out at one point. "for I have suffered much."

He smiled only once during the questioning. That was when he said, "I entered a school for the blind in 1955. I had the pleasure of meeting Anna there and she became my friend."

When Anna's turn came, she told the court her husband had mistreated her for years but that because she was blind she had been afraid to leave him.

Date Set For Ike To Visit Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican announced Friday that Dec. 6 has been set as the date for President Eisenhower's audience with Pope John XXIII, a meeting duplicated only once before in U.S. history.

The announcement meant the audience would be one of the first major events of the President's unprecedented tour of nine European, Asian, and Middle Eastern nations. Rome is his first stop.

Vatican sources said stiff protocol would be dispensed with to give the two men a chance to devote their time together to talking. However, there will be a ceremony on the President's arrival in the tiny state and Swiss guards will turn out as a guard of honor.

High Vatican sources said Eisenhower's visit would take the form of a private call by a chief of state and it was believed that the visit would not be termed "official."

Eisenhower will be the first U. S. President to be received by a Roman Catholic Pontiff while in office since Jan. 4, 1919, when the late Woodrow Wilson met with Pope Benedict XV.

Former President Truman had an audience with Pope John's predecessor, Pope Pius XII, but only in the capacity of a private citizen after he had left the White House.

Eisenhower met the late Pope Pius when he was in Rome as commander of allied forces at the end of World War II.

He and the present Pope are no strangers. They several times met at official functions in Paris where the U.S. commander had his wartime headquarters and the pontiff, as Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, served as papal nuncio to France.

Their meeting here in December was looked upon as an important chapter in the long history of friendly informal relations between the United States and this tiny city-state Washington does not maintain formal diplomatic relations with the Vatican in accordance with its traditions of separation of church and state.

Pope John, in a quiet and almost unprecedented ceremony Friday, visited St. Peter's Basilica to impart absolution on the body of the late Frederico Cardinal Tedeschini, archpriest of St. Peter's, who died in Rome last Monday at the age of 86.

Republicans Have Club To Match Demos'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans now have a 1,000-club to match the Democrats' 750-club as a plan to get $1,000 individual donations for the party war chest.

The Republican National Committee said Friday National Finance Chairman Spencer T. Olin sent letters several weeks ago to 1,000 persons asking contributions of $1,000 each. The aim is to raise one million dollars by Jan. 1. Half of it already has been subscribed.

Less than $1,000 will be accepted of course, but those contributing the full amount become charter members of National Republican Associates and receive a glass elephant desk ornament.

Democrats started their 750-club about nine months ago to help pay off a $750,000 deficit hanging over from previous campaigns. Club Chairman Edward Foley said $380,000 has been pledged or paid in, and 37½ per cent of the debt paid off.

Democratic donors receive two tickets each to the Democratic National Convention and admission to a special club room at the convention.

'Taddy' Aycock Gives Backing To Civil Service

Aycock headed the Davis-Aycock ticket Friday through the fifth congressional district while former Gov. Jimmie H. Davis tended to important organizational work in Shreveport.

Accompanying Aycock were the following candidates Roy R. Theriot, state comptroller; Dave L. Pearce, commissioner of agriculture; Ellen Bryan Moore, register of state lands; Rufus D. Hayes, commissioner of insurance; Jack P. F. Gremillion, attorney general Jimmy Fontenot. independent candidate for custodian of voting machines.

BY AIRLINES

Supersonic Planes In Planning Stage

DENVER (UPI) — Jet passenger travel is an accomplished fact over much of the globe today, but the nation's airline executives have no intention of leaving it at that.

Robert Six, president of Continental Airlines since 1938, when he was only 31, is a case in point.

Six is the 52-year-old dynamo who has guided his small mountain states line into a place as one of the nation's largest. He is also the husband of Broadway star Ethel Merman and has as much showmanship in his business as she does in hers.

Six recently installed jet passenger planes on Continental's major routes — from Chicago to the West Coast through Kansas City and Denver.

But before they were in operation a month he petitioned the Civil Aeronautics Board for route extensions to Hawaii. And not only that — he wants to cut fares to the islands by a third.

In the same petition to the CAB, Six let it be known that reduced fares on longer routes aren't all he has in mind. The burly executive, who practices fast draws with a six-gun as a hobby, also outlined a plan for supersonic passenger planes.

Six assured the CAB that Continental will have planes capable of flying 1,930 miles an hour by 1967 — sooner if possible.

He told the board the only thing stopping the airline industry from putting SSTs' (supersonic transports) into service in the next two or three years is cost. The planes will retail at about $8,500,000 each, without engines, Power plants will add another $4,500,000-$5,000,000 to their cost.

"U.S. manufacturers have the know-how to build the planes right now," Six said. "The only thing lacking is the $50,000,000-$75,000,000 needed for the prototype.

"Made of steel and titanium the SST's will weigh no more than present Boeing 707's and they will be able to use any fields that can handle the 707's. Operational costs will be directly comparable to those of the present jets.

Warning Issued On Checks Here

The Monroe Police Department Friday warned merchants that worthless checks will probably become numerous as the holiday season approaches.

To combat the rise, care should be taken to require identification before cashing or accepting from unknown persons, Capt. S. G. Martin. head of the department's check division said.

"The best identification a person can carry is the state driver's license," Maring Martin pointed out, adding that this document "has the signature of the person, description, address and the serial number, which is registered in Baton Rouge." Then, should the check be returned, the captain said, identity can be obtained readily.

"The signature on the check and on the driver's license should be the same," Martin said.

State-Wide Alert Given For Suspect

A state - wide alert was beamed Friday for a man who a liquor store worker said held him at gunpoint and made away with $146 from a cash register in the establishment.

David Dukes told police that a man about 20 to 22 years of age entered the A and A Liquor Store, 405 Sterlington Road, Thursday night, brandished a .38 - calibre blue steel pistol, demanded and got the money from a register and left on foot.

The man appeared to be about five feet eight or nine inches tall, Dukes told police. Dukes said he was alone in the establishment at the time.

Dukes told officers that when last seen, the man had not gotten into an automobile. Police late Friday said they were investigating the case.

OTHER ACTIVITY

In other law enforcement activity, the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department reported it is returning a man from Fort Smith, Ark., who is wanted here on four counts of forgery and one of burglary.

The man was identified as Darrell A. Connell, no permanent address. He was indicted by the Ouachita Parish Grand Jury Oct. 15 and was recently given a five-year suspended sentence on a forgery charge in Fort Smith.

He will face a charge here of burglary of the Monroe Electric Service, 2705 DeSiard St. on Sept. 24. Taken in the burglary, according to the department, was a check protector machine which officials charge was used in issuing four checks totaling $73.80.

Troop "F" of the Louisiana State Police charged a Pineville man, William H. Gray, 51, with driving while intoxicated. Monroe Police also made an arrest on driving while intoxicated. Charged is Earmon Vernon Young, 35, General Delivery, Monroe.

Bonds Sales Pick Up Fast During October

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government savings bonds sales picked up sharply in October thanks to the new 3¾ per cent interest rate, the Treasury Department reported Friday.

The Treasury also said the public and the Federal Reserve System snapped up nearly all of a new $8,894,000,000 batch of securities and notes offered at 4⅞ per cent interest.

Sales of E and H savings bonds totaled 358 million dollars compared with 300 million dollars in September. President Eisenhower on Sept. 22 signed legislation authorizing a half-point increase in the interest rate, retroactive to June 1.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 10 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher Friday.

Prices fluctuated in a narrow range with current crop months dipping temporarily on profit taking and hedging. The market later improved as mill and spot house buying found offerings light.

Nearby March was the only trading position to show a loss partly on switching operations by traders who sold that delivery againt covering orders in the December 1959 delivery.

Trade quarters expressed the view that the government's November cotton crop report, to be issued Monday, will be slightly under the month ago official forecast of 14,692,000 bbales. This was based on unfavorable weather in some parts of the cotton belt during the past month, notably rains in the southeast section of the main growing belt.

Futures closed 10 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher than the previous close.

Butcher Hog Price Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hog prices held steady Friday on a good shipper demand for the supply of 7,000 head which brought the week's total to 52,000 the largest in more than a year.

With buyers paying a $13.50 top for about 100 head of 200-210 lb sorted No. 1 grade, the market finished the week about where it started on Monday.

Mixed No. 1 and 2 and strictly No. 2 grades scaling 190-220 lbs cleared at $13.00-13.25 and the 190-230 lb weights of all grades at $12.65 - 13.10. Heavier weights ranged upward from $12.25 and sows $9.50-11.75.

Offerings of slaughter steers and heifers were too scarce for a test of the market. Vealers and bulls were steady. Vealers brought $25.00-31.00 for standard to good kinds and bulls $1900-21.00 for utility to commercial.

A few wooled slaughter lambs grading utility to low choice sold at $14.00-20.00 but the volume was too small to reflect a price test. Ewes moved at $3.00-4.50 and were unchanged.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

United Press International

COURT CONVENES MONDAY

No break in the 115-day-old steel strike was expected until the Supreme Court convenes in regular session Monday.

Federal Mediator Joseph Finnegan said the government has postponed indefinitely formal efforts to negotiate a settlement. The government, it was understood, is awaiting a high court ruling on the legality of the strike-halting Taft-Hartley injunction before taking further action.

EXPECT PRICE JUMPS

Price jumps in a variety of consumer goods are expected unless strike-idled steel mills resume production within the next few days, according to government economists. The walkout is now close to the point where it creates shortages that in turn cause prices to go up or remain firm instead of declining normally, they said.

CUTS AUTO PRODUCTION

The steel strike cut auto production this week to little more than half of the peak production since 1960 model cars began rolling off the assembly lines, Ward's Automotive Reports said. Plant shutdowns and short weeks caused by steel shortages limited output to 67,195 cars.

REPORTS HIGH SALES

Ford Motor Co. reported that combined October car and truck sales of its Ford Division were the best in history and edged out its chief rival, the Chevrolet Division of General Motors. Autos sales of the division total 133,968 up 58 per cent from the October 1958 figure.

SAYS OUTLOOK GOOD

Treasury Undersecretary Fred C. Schribner, Jr. told the American Finance Conference convention that the forces of a run-away inflation have been checked and that the outlook for the economy is "good." The government official also said world markets are expanding, opening up new channels for increased U.S. exports.

No Comment

By JAMES W. DOUTHAT

Ass't. Vice President Government Relations Division of the National Association of Manufacturers.

WASHINGTON — Even in a totalitarian state, it is apparently impossible to rely simply on ukase for production. Many Americans were amazed to read recently released comments by Premier Khrushchev that he finds production incentives essential in Russia.

What he appeared to be telling President Eisenhower at Camp David was that Soviet Russia is eliminating some of the roadblocks to production which exist in the United States.

Americans may read these remarks with tongue in cheek and may wonder how the average workman's incentives compare with those of the favored few... yet the Khrushchev statement is certain to be cited in congressional debates next winter.

QUOTED

Khrushchev was quoted as having said that even incentives from a tax standpoint are given in Russia.

This statement came as the House Ways and Means Committee is preparing for some elaborate panel discussions of the entire American tax system.

The NAM and others in industry have repeatedly pointed out to Congress that the United States individual and corporation income taxes and other levies have increased so that there is lack of proper incentive to production and raising the standard of living.

Presumably, too, Premier Khrushchev referred to other incentives to increase production—such as lack of "feather-bedding" and reward of individual workers for good jobs.

His observations came at a time when leaders in American industry, especially in railroading and steel, are seeking to reduce "featherbedding" which kills incentive and increases the cost of goods to consumers.

The question of "featherbedding" also is certain to arise during congressional consideration of legislation to deal with crippling national strikes.

President Eisenhowers exact statement at his press conference regarding his discussion with Khrushchev at Camp David is as follows:

CHANGES

"We were talking about some of the changes, not necessarily in the Marxist doctrine, but some of the changes that the Soviets had adopted in their—operating their economy. And we were talking also about some of the things that happened in our economy that were certainly a long ways from what we used to call laissez faire, and Mr. Khrushchev happened to make the point that actually they are using the incentive system to increase production far more than we are. And he pointed out some—and he is well read, I must tell you, about some of the things that happened here—and he pointed out about our taxes, tax system, and so on, and he says, "We give our incentives in things the people can feel and see and use. We give a better house, more rooms, another bath.' He went on to tell the things that they do when a man has shown an increased productivity, and he says, "in many ways," he says, "you people stifle it." And he said, "at least ours is more effective," or words to that effect."

While Mr. Khrushchev has repeatedly said that Soviet Russia would overtake the United States with communism, returning travelers have frequently commented on the capitalistic incentives which are used in that country to increase production.

Soybeans Adding To Friday Gains

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures, on their longest and strongest bullish trend in several months, added further substantial gains Friday after overcoming their first general setbacks of the week in early dealings.

The extreme advance ran to well over a cent a bushel on the distant contracts with prices closing at highs for the day in some deliveries.

Wheat was steady to form, oats and rye weak and corn mixed.

Buying by export interests was credited mainly with the support for wheat.

The declines in oats and rye were ascribed to profit taking. All oats contracts had hit new highs for the season during the week along with some soybean and corn months.

Influences bolstering corn and soybeans were described as the same ones that have had a bullish effect all week. For corn it was principally the relatively light movement of new crop grain into commercial channels.

The continued run up in soybeans showed no signs of meeting any strong resistance. The bullish movement, brokers say, is hinged directly to the prospect for tight commercial supplies well before the end of the crop year.

Wheat closed ⅛-1½ cent a bushel higher, December $1.99⅞-2.00; corn ½ higher to ¼ lower, December $1.13⅛-13; oats unchanged to ¾ lower, December 76⅜ - ½; rye ¼-¾ lower, December $1.34—½; soybean ½-1⅜ higher, November $2.23-23¼.

Red Romania Agrees To Talk About Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist Romania has agreed to discuss a U.S. claim of 60 million dollars for American property nationalized in 1947.

The State Department announced that a four-member Romanian government delegation will begin negotiations here Nov. 16 with a U.S. group.

The aim will be to determine a lump sum the Romanian regime will pay to meet the claims of some 500 American individuals and companies.

The biggest claimant is Standard Oil of New Jersey whose oil fields at Ploesti were seized.

Because of Romanias past refusal to consider compensation, the United States seized 21 million dollars in Romanian assets in this country. This sum, mostly gold, now is being distributed to meet part of the claim awards made by a U.S. claims commission.

W.C. Dowling To Succeed D.K. Bruce

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has decided to name career diplomat Walter C. Dowling to succeed David K. Bruce, as U.S. ambassador to West Germany, informed sources said Friday.

The White House neither confirmed nor denied the report. The 53-year-old Dowling until recently was U.S. envoy to Korea.

Dowling, fully experienced in European affairs, served as deputy U.S. high commissioner in Bonn in 1953-54 and then became American counselor when the United States established its embassy in the new German capital in 1955.

Prior to that he had served in Austria as deputy chief of mission with the personal rank of minister. Dowling was ambassador to Korea from 1956 until last week when he arrived here to become assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

The Bonn post is regarded as one of the most sensitive in the U.S. foreign service. It requires a high degree of tact in dealing with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who is constantly alert to any sign of a shift in U.S. policy that might affect his country.

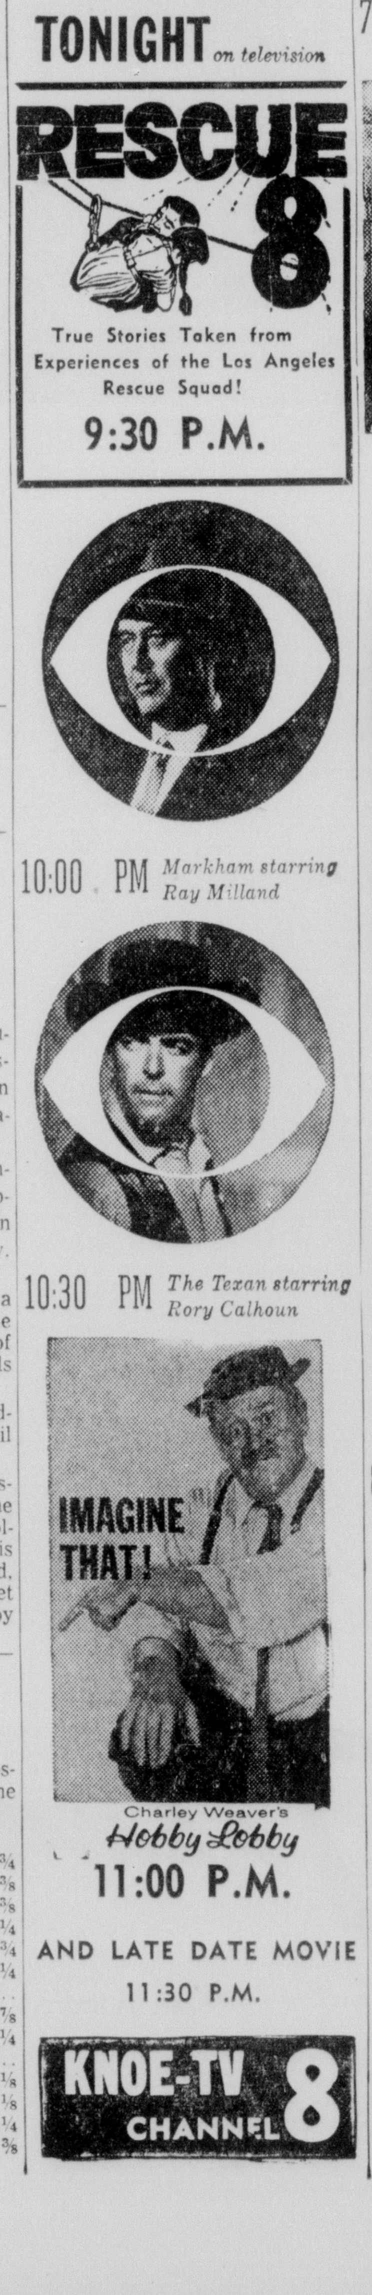
The post originally was offered to Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy. But Murphy decided last week to retire from government service to become president of a glass company. He has postponed his retirement for a short period to accompany President Eisenhower on his tour of Asia, Africa and Europe next month.

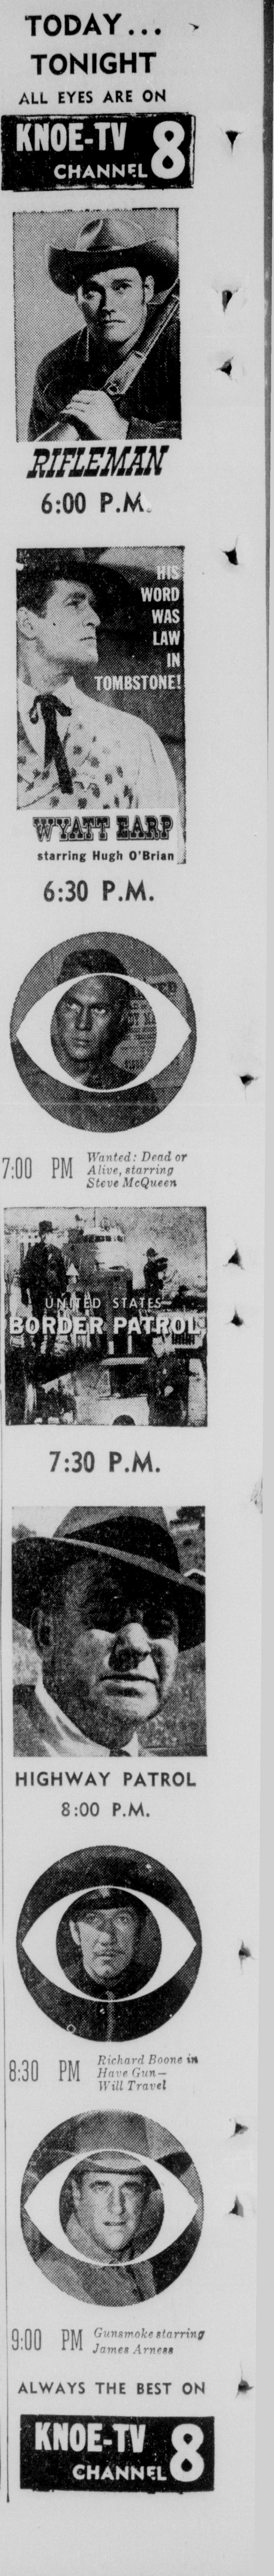
Young Girl Tells About Beating

MEMPHIS (AP)—A 13-year-old white girl said today she was waylaid and beaten up by a group of Negro teen-agers while on her way home from school.

The girl, Lynn Rutland, was treated at a hospital for bruises and scratches of the face.

Lynn said she and three classmates were walking home when a dozen young Negroes blocked the sidewalk. Four Negro girls then roughed her up, she said, while others in the group held off her classmates with umbrellas.





Union Head Asks For Leave Of Absence

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP)—The president of a 1,600-member union asked for leave of absence from his post today because he said his conviction for attempted extortion four years ago disqualified him under the new labor law.

Edward R. Smagula, president of the Manhattan Rubber Workers Independent Union, said he would appeal next week in Washington for an exemption so he could resume his post.

The recently passed Landrum-Griffin labor bill forbids convicted criminals from holding union office for five years after their conviction.

Four years ago Smagula was convicted of attempted extortion of $3,000 while president of the Wallingford Board of Education.

Five other board members were convicted in the alleged plot to extort pay for appointing a principal. Smagula was put on probation four years and fined $1,000.

On taking leave, he said the labor law was designed "for hoodlums who have found a heaven in the labor movement, not for me."

The union represents workers at the Manhattan-Raybestos Corp. plant here.

Russia Celebrating But Still Watching

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia started celebrating the 42nd anniversary of its Bolshevik Revolution on a peace and friendship theme Friday but served notice it would keep developing its armies until the danger of war is ended.

Averky B. Aristov, a member of the secretariat of the Communist Party's central committee, kicked off the celebration with a speech to 20,000 Russians in the Lenin Sports Palace.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders were in the audience and the speech was carried on television and radio.

The big show comes Saturday when a million Russians will march through Moscow streets and tramp across Red Square on review.

Aristov said the world is ripe for peace but it may take a long time in coming and since the danger of war still exists the Soviet Union will continue to perfect its armed forces.

He praised Soviet advances under Khrushchev and said that anti-party activities would have harmed the country's development if they had not been stopped.

In the person of Khrushchev, he said, the Soviet people had "extended the hand of friendship to the American people and this found response among the overwhelming majority of the Americans."

"Hopes of peace which were kindled by (Khrushchev's) trip will not be easily extinguished and throughout the world messages of support are being sent to the Soviet Union for its policy of peace," Aristov said.

"The struggle for peace will continue. There are forces in the West which do not want peace, but the cause of peace will triumph."

Meanwhile, he said, the Soviet Party and government must "show solicitude for its armed forces which are standing guard over the creative and peaceful work of the Soviet people."

Throughout Moscow huge Red flags and giant replicas of Russia's Lunik III decorated buildings along with posters proclaiming "the ice of the cold war is breaking."

In past years the Russians have used the annual parade to trot out new weapons but nothing of the kind was expected Saturday. Observers who have watched the military rehearsals over the past two weeks have seen nothing that would indicate any surprises were coming up.

Quiz Winner Says Not Hero Of War

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—Michael O'Rourke, television quiz show winner who is in the process of resigning his Army officer commission, said today he was not a war hero.

He also said he was not quitting the Army under pressure.

O'Rourke was called a Korean War hero who had won the Distinguished Service Cross by Howard Felsher, director of the TV program "Tic-Tac-Dough" which congressional investigators said was rigged.

Felsher told the House subcommittee in Washington O'Rourke and salesman Martin Dowd had received help as contestants on the program. Felsher said he was reluctant in making the statement against O'Rourke because he was a Korean War hero and a winner of the Distinguished Service Cross.

O'Rourke, who denied getting assistance in winning $106,000 on the program, said he initiated his Army resignation himself.

"At my request (my superiors) made it effective immediately," the former captain asserted. "I have never been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. I am not a war hero. Such descriptions are generous and well-intended but they contribute to the general misinformation and should be corrected."

Oren Harris Dubs Scandals As 'Shocking'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight today described the quiz scandals as unfolded by his group "a shocking situation," and declared he had "heard enough."

"The hearings disclosed that millions of Americans were deceived and tricked by what was nothing more than a sordid, commercial scheme," Harris said.

In closing out the quiz show phase of the inquiry, Harris said he was convinced corrective legislation is necessary.

He stated he was pleased to see that the Federal Trade Commission has begun corrective action. He added "I hope we will have similar action from the Federal Communications Commission."

The committee approved for inclusion in its record a letter from the American Guild of Authors and Composers charging that "commercial bribery has become a prime factor" in determining what music is played on many broadcast programs.

Gunman Stages Robbery As Police Decoy

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — A young gunman staged a robbery to decoy police late Thursday, then brazenly robbed four other business houses three blocks away collecting victims as he went.

An unwilling merchant became, at gun point, the robber's loot collector.

Muttering death threats, the bandit compelled half a dozen victims, one after another, to parade after him on the ensuing holdups.

All told, the 20-minute blitz took in $2,622 in loot, police said.

McElroy Set To Wrap Up Budget Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy begins Saturday the job of compressing money requests of the military services into a single package for submission as the 1961 military budget.

McElroy has scheduled an all-day meeting with Deputy Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr.; former Defense Comptroller W.J. McNeil; Deputy Asst. Secretary John M. Sprague; Research Director Herbert F. York; and Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Saturday session is to be held aboard the Navy yacht Sequoia on the Potomac River.

Next year's budget is expected to be about the same as the current year program—a 41-billion-dollar expenditure, with requests for new funds totaling approximately 40 billions.

Of this, the Air Force may ask for between 18 and 20 billion in new money, the Navy about 11 billion, and the Army about 9½ billion. The Defense Department's share, which includes money for such items as research and development, probably will run about 1½ billion.

Defense officials hope to have their requests assembled and ready for submission to Budget Bureau official by the middle of this month.

Further changes will come as the National Security Council and the Budget Bureau submit their views on the military budget. The deadline for sending the over-all federal budget to the printers preliminary to submission to Congress usually is about mid-December.

Solon Sees End To Manned Aircraft Days

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) said today that the day of the manned aircraft in the Air Force is coming to a close. Missiles are taking over.

We do not have a new fighter plane on order," he said in an interview. "And if we're not producing fighter planes we obviously don't need pilots for them."

He said three major bases in the country, and possibly more, are scheduled to be closed. He did not identify the bases.

"This is not an economy measure," he said. "We can't justify a fighter built on 1956 concepts for a 1962 Air Force."

CHURCHILL

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill has dined at the Hotel Savoy five times in the last 15 nights—because he likes the champagne there.

Sir Winston—who will be 85 this month—is regarded as one of Britain's connoisseurs of champagne. He's so fastidious about his bubbly that when he goes to stay with friends he takes his own brand.

ACCORD

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The United Nations and the Republic of Korea signed an agreement Friday normally establishing a U. N. memorial cemetery at Tang-Gok near Pusan, South Korea, where nearly 2,000 Korean War dead are buried.
